Heavy Vote Seen As Defeating Metco

The Candidates

Hankins In, Recount Asked

Finance Committee Chairman Barbara S. Hankins was elected the town's first selectwoman Monday when she edged out Clara M. Hewis.

Michael R. Scotti trailed in that race with 1,512 votes. Hankins had 2,547 and Hewis, 2,336.

Hewis announced on Tuesday that she has taken recount papers from the town clerk's office and completed the necessary procedures to have a recount in the selectmen's contest.

Ms. Hewis said there is a discrepancy between the town clerk's figures and her own and another unofficial tally.

The town clerk's office originally showed Hewis's total vote as 1,964. An apparent addition error later changed the figure to 2,317, which means that Ms. Hankins led Ms. Hewis by 230 votes.

But Hewis maintains the difference is less than that due to other possible errors. She said the discrepancy indicates other possible discrepancies and she has filed for a recount to see if they exist.

There is one open seat on the selectmen board. It is for three years. Both Hankins and Hewis were hoping to be the town's first selectperson. Though other women have run

Nelson st. came very close. Another newcomer, Eric Weiss of 156 Swanton st., pulled a surprising 1,194-vote total considering he did no campaigning.

Many feel had Arcari put on more of an effort she could have unseated one of the incumbents. Her campaign was not visible for the most part. Then too some observers commented that Weiss and Arcari were drawing from the same potential voting reservoir and knocked each other off.

In the assessors race, appointed incumbent John R. Wiseman Jr. with 3,326 votes easily outdistanced challenger Werner A. Carlson with 1,978.

A third candidate, Charles S. Margosian, announced he was not a candidate after it was too late to withdraw. He received 497 votes.

For Planning Board, William S. Cummings with 3,293 votes won easily over Waiman Chan with 2,013.

In the treasurer's contest, temporary appointed incumbent Carol Thomas with 2,678 votes won in a landslide. The treasurer-collector's contest was hard fought, more so than either the Board of Selectmen or School Committee races.

Second in that race was William L. Morton with 1,668 votes. Third was James E. Kimball 2d with 1,550 votes.

The Water & Sewer Board race also produced a contest this year for the first time in many years. Michael M. Connolly was far out in front with 2,082 votes. Second was John Blanchard with 1,598. Third was Charles F. Choate with 1,538.

Even the constable race this year had a contest. Incumbent William T. Ryerson with 3,400 votes successfully fought off a challenge from newcomer J. Sandra Leonard with 2,231, a strong vote for someone running for the first time.

There were no contests in the races for Board of Health, Bruce N. Hanes, 4,610 votes; Cemetery Comm., Wade M. Welch, 4,504; Trust Fund, James R. Willing, 4,444; Library (3 years), Edward F. O'Connell, 3,909; Robert W. Bailey (3 years), 3,128; and Library (2 years), Loretta C. Redding, 4,304.

Mary E. Murphy with 4,556 votes won reelection to the Winchester Housing Authority. She had no challenger.

Those candidates elected to the following boards, along with those now serving on those boards, will have one year left of public elected service. The new charter dissolves their boards soon.

Cemetery Commission, Trust Fund Commission, Water & Sewer Board, Park Commission. Also, town clerk, treasurer-collector, constable become appointed under the new charter.

The Questions

New Charter, Beano Pass

Winchester voters resoundingly rejected the concept of educating 45 black Boston children in its schools when they voted against Metco 3,482 to 2,260 at the polls Monday.

The voters went on to pass the other two ballot questions, however: A new charter for the town for the first time in history and also granting the selectmen the authority to license the playing of beano in Winchester.

The charter question passed 3,210 to 2,209. The beano question passed 3,573 to 1,980.

The decisive rejection of Metco was seen as a clearcut rebuke of the School Committee, which has twice voted in favor of inviting the Metropolitan Council for Educational Opportunity to Winchester.

The voters' rejection of Metco, however, is only advisory to the School Committee, which has the final say on educational matters. The board has indicated it may reconsider Metco.

Many persons familiar with the Winchester political scene feel Monday's unusually heavy vote was the major factor in the defeat of Metco.

More than 50 percent of the town's registered voters showed up at the polls. Though that means 50 percent of the voters didn't bother to pull their levers, it also shows the greatest voting in a town annual election within modern times.

Anti-Metco forces were thought to have pulled out the heavy vote and thus defeat the advisory question.

Metco failed in all but one precinct, Prec. 2 (the south end of town). The anti Metco vote piled up huge pluralities in Precincts 1 and 6, the north end of town.

The vote in Prec. 6, in fact, read 652-no to only 166-yes—almost a 500-vote difference.

Prec. 6 also was the only voting district in town rejecting the new charter—462-no to 310-yes. Prec. 6 is the area of town of the greatest concentration of blue collar workers, including a majority of the town's own employees.

Town employees generally feared implementation of a new charter because of uncertainty of their jobs. The victory of the charter in all the other precincts except Prec. 1 was large.

In Prec. 1, the voting district of the second greatest concentration of town workers, the vote in favor of the charter was only 301-yes to 455-no.

Though the new charter is in effect immediately, there will be no visible signs of its presence until next election when the ballot will be smaller.

To the average Winchester citizen there will probably never be any visible sign of the new charter. The changes produced by the document are principally behind the scenes.

The major feature of the charter is creation of a town manager to replace the executive secretary in the selectmen's office.

The Aftermath

School Board May Reconsider

Stephen R. Parkhurst, School Committee chairman, announced Tuesday morning to The Star that he expects the board to reconsider its Metco vote when the members meet Monday.

"With 61 percent of the people voting against, we would at least have to consider reconsidering."

School Chairman Parkhurst noted that Town Meeting Member Arthur J. Hewis Jr. of Prec. 1, who initiated the referendum on Metco threatens a budget fight.

Parkhurst told The Star (as did Hewis) that Hewis vows town meeting action against the committee if there isn't a notice in this week's Star stating that the committee will reconsider its earlier vote in support of Metco.

The school chairman indicated that he was speaking only as an individual in his comments but said he would be surprised if the full committee didn't vote again on Metco at its next meeting.

The board initially voted 5-1 to support the Metco concept for educating 45 Boston children in Winchester. Later, after many debates involving the public, the committee went on to invite Metco to begin a program in the town.

A later town meeting supported the School Committee action. Anti-Metco forces then appealed the town meeting endorsement to the electorate through a referendum.

The voters on Monday failed to support Metco. The ballot question lost by more than 1,200 votes. But neither the town meeting action nor the referendum vote are binding on the School Committee.

Thus the anti-Metco persons are now urging the School Committee to take an aboutface and withdraw its plan sent to the Metropolitan Council for Educational Opportunity.

Monday's election of a Metco foe to the School Committee will have no effect on next week's reconsideration since John Noble doesn't take office until after the conclusion of town meeting.

School Chairman Parkhurst commented: "It's unfortunate those opposed to Metco are not going to give us a chance to reconsider before threatening us."

Parkhurst noted that the anti-Metco people are going to make an effort to cut the school budget at town meeting as well as "overlooking our every move."

Hewis confirmed that he will attempt to cut the school budget at the town meeting which begins later this month. He said his reason is that he doesn't like multiple-year contracts. The school board signed one two years ago with the Winchester teachers.

Hewis also noted that the success of his anti-Metco referendum on Monday brings to 29 the number of referenda he has initiated and were subsequently passed at the polls. He has lost only two referenda over the many years of his battling Winchester's establishment. Most have dealt in some way with schools, Hewis said.

Pre-Election Meeting

Last Friday morning the School Committee met to discuss whether or not to take any form of action following a townwide mailing of a card by the Finance Committee noting the latter's rejection of the Metco proposal.

According to some of the School Committee members, since the mailing their phones "were ringing off the hooks."

Residents, "mostly Metco proponents," said committee member Robert Pritchard, were upset because the cards did not clearly state the reason for Finance's disapproval of the Metco proposal.

Committee chairman Parkhurst noted Finance's earlier announced negative recommendation was due "to social or philosophical considerations" rather than "financial ones."

Because the card did not clearly give the reason for rejection by Finance, Pritchard and Catherine Fallon said, callers wanted the School Committee to "clarify" the matter.

Parkhurst said he talked with the Finance Committee chairman and Finance "would be delighted for clarification."

After about an hour's discussion, which was interrupted throughout by Metco opponents, the School Committee voted to do nothing.

This action was on the suggestion of member Richard Pharo, who felt clarification should come from the Finance Committee. "If we clarify, we are trying to speak for them," Pharo said.

Holding a copy of the General Laws and occasionally reading from the text, Margaret Galvin was fearful the School Committee would issue a statement to townspunks which would be distributed via town funds, which she said would be illegal.

She warned the committee not to "coerce the Finance Committee" nor to "mislead the audience."

Last Friday

Two Alarms Struck For Fairmount Street Blaze

A two-alarm fire at 13 Fairmount st. on Friday afternoon caused "extensive smoke and water damage" to the two-story frame dwelling.

According to Fire Chief I. Francis Amico, the fire began when smoke from a cast iron wood stove about 4 ft. high in the kitchen escaped from a flue into spaces between the interior and outside walls of the house. The flue connected the stove to a chimney on one side.

"There was a working fire" by the time firefighters received a call at 2:23 p.m. from neighbor Mrs. Pat Sullivan.

At 2:31 p.m., Capt. Robert McElhinney, who was in charge, called the second alarm, reports the chief.

The house belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Frank McNeill. Their children, Linda, 14, and Wayne, 17, were at home.

The parents left that morning with their daughter and her husband, Jacquelyn and Gordon Chelf, for Hawaii.

The trip was to celebrate the McNeill's 25th wedding anniversary and was a gift of their children.

Their oldest son, Frank III, and his wife from Melrose arrived while the fire was in progress. They were planning to spend the two weeks their parents were away with Wayne and Linda.

Firefighters began battling the smoke-filled house by cutting a hole in the roof. Amico explains this was to "allow the smoke to vent."

While a team of firefighters entered the inside of the house, three others were on the roof where smoke was emitting from eaves in several locations.

Others were on fire trucks on the street awaiting orders to lend assistance.

A rescue truck was nearby and a crowd formed a circle around the dwelling.

About 30 minutes after firefighters and apparatus arrived, firefighter John Dooley came up out of the hole in the roof. He snatched off his oxygen mask and hollered to firefighters below: "Give me another line. There's fire in two partitions."

Another firefighter shouted, "We need a booster in the attic."

Obviously weary, Dooley rested on the roof waiting his additional line. Suddenly, onlookers shouted to another firefighter nearby: "Catch him. Catch him."

They were referring to Dooley, who was in a dazed state and about to fall off the roof. A fellow firefighter grabbed him and held on until Dooley was all right.

Finally the extra line arrived. Smoke and flames poured out of the hole and firefighters continued to make additional holes in the roof for more venting.

They began tearing off siding from the house in attempts to release the smoke and keep the fire from spreading.

Watching all of this action from the backyard, Wayne McNeill became emotional and was heard yelling at spectators: "What is this? A circus? Get out of here."

Those nearby moved away.

The youth cried: "The whole thing's going to be totaled." He bent forward and began sobbing. Soon he left the area and walked up Fairmount street with a companion.

Firefighters continued to spray water from their hoses onto the flames which were popping up in many places on the roof.

They tossed bedding through a hole in the rear of the house out onto the ground. On the front lawn could be seen a Christmas choir boy ornament about four feet tall which was thrown out of the attic.

Amico told The Star in this situation his men tried to "ventilate as much as possible to keep the fire from mushrooming." Because of a blind attic, he said, it was difficult to fight the smoke with hose lines.

The smoke did mushroom over the kitchen ceiling and eventually, he said, firefighters had to pull down all the ceilings.

He was unwilling to give a monetary estimate of damage, noting only there was "extensive smoke and water damage."

He said his men were "hampered" in fighting the blaze because of parked cars on both sides of the street. The cars were locked and could not be moved, he said.

"We wanted to raise a second area ladder from Arlington but couldn't do it because of the cars," said the chief. The cars also made it difficult to get additional lines close enough, Amico said.

Assistance came from the Arlington, Stoneham, Woburn and Medford Fire Departments. Most of the firefighters were "off duty men," said Amico.

The recall was sounded at 6:27 p.m. Before firefighters left the scene, they secured the house against elements. They also returned to the address a couple of times during the night to be sure there was no "rekindling," said Amico.

According to Mrs. Sullivan, the McNeills and Chelfs are continuing their trip to Hawaii. They were contacted in Nevada and told of the fire. "Their children prevailed upon them to continue with the trip," said Mrs. Sullivan.

Other Contests

There were interesting results in some of the other races. For instance, in the contests for the two Park Commission seats incumbents Stella M. Aitken with 2,791 votes and Albert A. MacDonnell with 2,781 easily won reelection.

But newcomer Noreen M. Arcari of 23

Firefighters battle tricky blaze on Fairmount street Friday. Two alarms were struck. Fire Department had difficult time extinguishing fire located between the walls. Parked cars prevented some apparatus from getting next to house at 13.

Toastmistress Meets Monday

Beverly J. Laskey of 140 Cambridge st. is one of two new members to give a three-minute ice-breaker speech at the next meeting of Winchester Toastmistress Club in the Suter Room of Epiphany Church, 70 Church st. Monday at 8 p.m.

Inducted at the last meeting, Miss Laskey's speech will be about herself or her job. Mrs. James F. Armstrong of 190 Ridge st. will give a three-minute speech for the presentation and acceptance of an award.

Hilda Hope of 37 Glen Green will evaluate speeches and topics. A 10-minute education report on how to do a book review will be given at the meeting, the theme of which is "new beginnings."

Toastmistress Club meetings are open.

'Entertaining Is Fun' Is Adult Course

"Entertaining Is Fun" is a course presented each Monday evening in February, March and part of April at Winchester High School as part of the adult education program. One may register at the high school on the night the class is held.

The class teaches every phase of how to give parties. It is taught by Eloise Kadesch - actress, director, teacher and lecturer. Mrs. Kadesch gave this course for nine years at the University of Cincinnati, breaking attendance records at that school for evening classes.

Topics are: setting the stage; your friends; whom to invite; party fixings; if not bridge, then what?; beauty is essential; taste triumphs; party manners; questions and answers; make them want to come back.

Yale Chaplain To Speak On World Food Crisis

Yale University Chaplain William Sloane Coffin, Jr. will discuss the obligation of the well-fed people of the world to those who are hungry in a talk at Winchester High School Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Coffin's talk, "The World Food Crisis," is the fifth lecture in the winter adult education series, "Windows of the Mind: Six Views," sponsored by the Winchester Interfaith Education Committee and Winchester School Department and School Committee.

Coffin, a clergyman who believes that church leaders should take an active stand on political and social issues, was arrested in 1968 for aiding and abetting draft resisters. An early advocate of civil rights, Coffin was one of seven "Freedom Riders" arrested and convicted in Montgomery, AL, in 1961.

Recently Coffin spearheaded the Yale Hunger Action Project, a group of students, faculty, and staff addressing itself to the world food crisis. Under the Project's direction, a November fast was organized at Yale in which 2,500 participated, and which produced several thousand dollars for food distribution in the Sahel and Bangladesh and by the Free Food Council in New Haven.

Coffin, 50, recently announced his resignation as Yale's chaplain, a post he has held for 17 years. The resignation will take effect in December.

In an interview published in the Boston "Globe" he admitted feeling "trapped" by the expectations of himself and others in his position at Yale, and confessed to disenchantment with universities today, "citadels of caution" as he calls them.

Coffin received his bachelor of arts and bachelor of divinity degrees from Yale.

He served as an officer in the U.S. army during World War II, and worked for the Central Intelligence Agency during the Korean War.

He served as chaplain at Phillips Andover Academy and at Williams College before joining the staff at Yale.

In 1966, Coffin was awarded an honorary doctor of divinity degree by Wesleyan University. Calling him "a disturber of the peace in the cause of social and political justice," the citation said, "For legions of people you have revived the message of the cross .... that man is his brother's keeper, whatever the price."

The "Windows of the Mind" lectures are open to the public at a minimal charge. Senior citizens will be admitted free.

Star Blamed For Poor Attendance

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

My family and I have enjoyed attending the Winchester High School basketball games. Although Winchester did not have a championship team this year, there were many exciting games.

Sunday was the last post-season playoff. As usual there was no mention of the basketball schedule in The Star. After numerous telephone calls ending with one of the players, we were able to find the time and location of the game.

We arrived before the preceding game was over. The stands were packed with enthusiastic fans. After the presentation ceremony the stands cleared to reveal very few loyal Winchester fans.

I realize this was not a championship playoff, nor was it a close game. Winchester clearly outplayed Southeastern Voc. Tech. However, the Winchester High basketball team deserves better support. Jean L. Grote 569 Washington st.

Note from sport's editor: The decision to play on Sunday was not made until Saturday afternoon, three days after The Winchester Star was published. The Star printed the complete schedules of all the WHS sports teams. There was mention on the lead sports page of last Thursday's Star that the Friday night game would be played at Shawshen. The Sunday game was played only after a special poll of all school authorities involved in order to gain permission for the team to play on Sunday.

Teachers Have Taken Salary Cut

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The perennial suggestion has appeared again, that "Since teachers only work six hours a day for eight months, why don't they help us tax-payers reduce school costs by taking a pay cut or working longer hours?" The writer clearly is uninformed. For example:

The cost of living index shows that an annual income of $14,000 is necessary for a family of four to maintain an intermediate standard of living in the greater Boston area, whereas the median salary of a Winchester teacher is $12,687.

During the last quarter of 1974, the cost of living rose 14.4 percent, but the Winchester teachers' contract granted a salary increase of only 6 1/2 percent, for a net income loss of 7.9 percent.

In effect we have already taken a salary cut.

During the official 32 1/2-hour school week, the average teacher conducts classes for 19 hours, spends 5 1/2 hours supervising students in corridors and study halls, and has 5 1/2 hours preparation time, with 2 1/2 hours for lunch. But the average teacher needs 12 1/2 hours a week to plan lessons, prepare materials, and grade student papers, 7 of them outside school hours.

In addition, the average teacher spends 7 1/2 hours a week at school before and after school hours in order to provide extra help to individual students, attend meetings, maintain records, and handle other secretarial and administrative duties.

The teacher's total work week then adds up to 47 hours, not including the time needed to sponsor extra-curricular activities and continue professional study.

Therefore, during the 40-week school year, the teacher works 1,880 hours (rather than the 1,080 hours implied by "6 hours a day for eight months a year") whereas those who work a 40-hour week with a total of five weeks for vacations and holidays combined also spend 1,880 hours on the job.

Teachers are being used as scapegoats for the economic problems that are hurting all of us. This is terribly short-sighted.

Instead, we should all work together to provide quality education for the children of Winchester.

Frances Allon Gershwin President

Winchester Education Association

Not Overpaid Or Underworked

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

At the risk of being regarded as just another bee in the hive, I feel compelled to take issue with your editorial comment of Feb. 27 concerning the controversy over the Winchester School Committee budget.

One distinct implication of your remarks is that Winchester teachers are overpaid. This is certainly a convenient stance in a town that is understandably concerned about the impact of rising educational costs on its tax rate.

Nonetheless, the situation is not nearly as simple as you would make it appear. I suspect that any objective comparison of salaries paid to Winchester teachers with those paid to other professionals with comparable levels of education and experience would reveal the teachers' salaries to be well below average.

In fact, it is not possible for a teacher to support a family in Winchester at a standard enjoyed by other college graduates in the community without supplementing his salary with other sources of income.

The six-hour working day to which you refer includes only time spent in classes and other required activities during the school day. A conscientious teacher must spend a good deal of additional time in the late afternoon or evening preparing lessons and correcting student assignments.

Ample vacation time exists, but does not normally contribute to a teacher's financial well-being because it is extremely difficult to find outside employment to supplement income during these short breaks.

Your reference to quality education in Winchester echoes a complacent attitude of many Winchester residents toward their schools. I often wonder why Winchester regards its schools as being of such high quality.

The town should look for ways to reduce other expenditures. One case in point is the rampant snow removal activity we have observed this winter. It must be evident to anyone who commutes out of Winchester that surrounding towns manage to survive with less efficient snow removal, and are probably ecologically better off for having done so. Perhaps Winchester should learn from their example.

Paul K. Chadwick 396 Main st.

Letters From Readers Welcome By The Star

The Winchester Star welcomes letters from its readers on subjects of general interest.

There is a word limit of 250. Letters exceeding 250 words will be cut to that limit. This limit is to permit all those who wish to have letters printed the space to do so.

Deadline for letters from readers is Monday at 5 p.m. For the edition which falls in a holiday week, the deadline is Friday at 5 p.m.

Letters must be signed and include the writer's address. When requested to do so, The Star will omit the address. But the newspaper does not print anonymous letters.

While Fires, Accidents Hurt, Do They Also Help?

By Pauline Dishmon

I attended the first house fire of my life last Friday.

It was not only a new experience as a reporter, it was also a completely new experience as a human being.

Up to this point in my life, whenever I've heard sounds of fire engines, ambulances or police cars, I've felt a frightening chill travel my spine. I've quickly prayed for the protagonists, but I've never been compelled to follow the noise of the siren.

And, thankfully, I was never asked to cover a fire as a reporter. But that situation changed last Friday when I was given an assignment to go to 13 Fairmount st. I got there as fast as I could, intent to give it my best. Yes, I was full of anxiety.

On arrival I found a ring of spectators beginning to form around the house and fire engine directly in front of the house.

Not knowing how close firefighters allow onlookers, I decided momentarily to keep my distance and stood in line with other spectators.

I saw smoke coming from two sections of the roof which was straddled by a firefighter with an axe.

I spoke with some bystanders and learned that members of the household were safe. Soon I noticed about eight spectators standing in the back yard of the house, so I walked across the driveway and made my way to the back.

The fire chief was there overseeing the operation. He explained a hole had been cut in the roof to serve as a vent for the smoke. He talked with me a while, then disappeared to do his work.

As I stood there watching and trying to understand the methods employed by the firefighters, I saw more people were gathering on the street, in adjacent yards and, in fact, a couple got in front of me and obstructed my view.

Suddenly there was an outcry from a youth standing nearby. "What is this? A circus? Get out of here."

I recognized the young man. He was a person someone had pointed to earlier as a member of the family of the burning home. Those to whom he yelled obeyed and left the area. They dashed to the street or into the next yard. I stepped back somewhat myself feeling like an intruder.

The young man spoke with his friend standing next to him and said "The whole thing's going to be totalled." He began to sob, then got hold of himself and walked up the hill away from the house.

By now the fire was raging. The firefighters were moving at a faster pace. And the crowd of onlookers grew and grew. There was a small circle of three toddlers in the next yard playing with the grass and dirt and sitting very still. They were talking with each other, oblivious to the fire ahead of them, through the bushes.

As I looked at the children, I imagined a parent had placed them there saying "Now be good children and don't move until Mommy (Daddy) watches the fire."

I looked around at the continuing gathering of people. Some of the faces were spellbound. I began to speak to a man who answered me sharply. He seemed annoyed I'd interrupted some special feeling he was experiencing.

Meanwhile some members of the crowd participated in the firefighting. They served as extra eyes. When they saw flames breaking out in new areas, they pointed these out to the firemen.

At one point calls from the crowd kept a dazed firefighter from falling off the roof. But the majority of onlookers just kept watching or talking among themselves. I wondered why they were there. I recognized many of the faces and wondered how they could be watching a fire instead of tending to their business.

When the fire appeared to die and be under control, I'd had more than enough of this first experience at a house fire. Slowly I made my way back to my car.

There was a real traffic jam on Highland avenue. It took quite a while to get back to the office. I had to go via Forest st., Brookside ave., Cross and Main streets.

Back at my desk I was emotionally spent. My thoughts returned to the outcries of the youth and my observations of the firefighters and spectators.

I pondered why people chase fires and accidents. The subject stayed with me all weekend.

I talked with my son and some friends about the matter. They all spoke of a violence and anger which humans carry within their beings and offered a belief that going to a fire is a means of releasing such violence or anger.

One of my friends asked me: "Why do people go to a hockey game and hope one player will hit another over the head with a hockey stick? Why will people pay money to watch Evel Knievel jump over a canyon?" He answered the second question by saying: "Half the spectators hope he won't make it to the other side."

Perhaps I express my hostility through facsimiles of real life as in movies or television stories; sometimes in my reading.

Don't get me wrong. I'm not knocking people who follow fires or accidents. The fact they feel a need to go is enough reason for attendance. This is a free world...at least in this respect.

But I don't understand it. I didn't enjoy my first fire, and though I love my profession and will take another fire assignment if I am asked, I hope I never have this opportunity again. I'll take a rather dull meeting at Town Hall any day.

Election Inconsistencies; Did People Know Issues?

The significance of Monday's vote is difficult to ascertain since there are so many inconsistencies. Consider these:

—The town voted decisively against Metco but went on to place Metco proponent Robert Frank on the School Committee.

—Voters showed their dissatisfaction with the present town structure by voting a new charter but returned to office two park commissioners (Aitken and MacDonnell) who are the epitome of that ancient structure.

—Assessor candidate Charles Margosian publicly announced he was no longer a candidate and drew a 497 vote, small but indicative.

—Park candidate Eric Weiss showed no interest in getting elected and pulled a 1,194 vote, which is fantastic considering Weiss is unknown (he didn't win a town meeting seat).

—The top School runner, John Noble, didn't even win a town meeting seat. (He was a candidate. I was wrong last week when I said Noble was already a town meeting member.)

—Doris Miller, who publicly announced she wasn't a candidate for town meeting, pulled 250 votes in Prec. 1's contest for the single 1-year seat. She came in second of three.

I don't know what anyone else makes of all this. I know that to me it signals tremendous voter ignorance about what's going on in this town, fantastic apathy, and shocking willingness to go along with whatever is in at the moment.

Barbara Hankins, the chairman of the Finance Committee, expectedly won her selectwoman's seat. That's the way it's always done in Winchester.

All the appointed incumbents won election and, in fact, all the incumbents for townwide seats got in. Not much voter discretion here.

The only possible exception to the trend I see is in the Water & Sewer Board race where Mike Connolly won a seat. One of his opponents had a better known name; the other about the same as Mike.

Mike's victory was a pleasant one to observe. I'm glad I waited until this week to say that instead of last week since I wouldn't want to hurt him with my endorsement.

The strong anti-Metco vote has a lot of us shocked. Surprise wasn't the word we used. Shocked was more appropriate. Whether the result indicates a root racism, lack of knowledge about the issue, last-minute appeal to fear or what is difficult to determine.

Certainly the townwide distribution on Sunday was no help to the Metco cause. The literature contained innuendo (usually worse than falsehoods), misinformation, ambiguities and misquotes and more.

Nor did the Finance Committee help the cause of truth any by their mailing of a postcard to every voter stating in quite blunt terms that it opposed Metco and that was that.

Finance didn't bother to appendix that the committee was split on the issue and the vote was on the basis of philosophical grounds rather than monetary.

Actually, the Finance Committee this year was trying to save the expense of mailing a referendum advisory postcard by seeking some other means to inform the voters of their recommendations.

But Town Counsel Douglas Randall advised them to send the postcard in this year of the volatile Metco issue and experiment next year.

Certainly Metco opponents can score this as a victory. I would be very surprised if the School Committee continued with its plans to educate 45 black children in the Winchester schools.

Nor do I think the committee should. The vote indicates to me a great climate of hostility toward blacks that would be unhealthy for those who would be bused here.

I was very much opposed to a forced metropolitan school system prior to Monday's Metco vote. Now I realize that state-forced metropolitan education is the only answer.

It's obvious towns like Winchester have no intention of making a voluntary contribution to helping anyone else and that the state will have to see that education is distributed equally.

School Committee member Catherine Fallon commented the other day about Arthur Hewis's ultimatum to the School Committee to reconsider its Metco vote.

"Any form of government by coercion and intimidation can't be tolerated in the American system. I deeply resent any group of people trying to run our business and telling us our timetable."

A small group of anti-Metcos prevented the School Committee from orderly deliberation last Friday morning through continual disruption.

Some of the committee really think the interruptions have become a problem. It may be the committee will have to have police at their meetings to keep the public quiet.

A total of 52.6 percent showed up Monday, which to people familiar with town politics seems like a lot.

But when you consider that Metco is the most emotional issue to have hit the ballot box in Winchester in a decade that vote is abysmal.

It's obvious to me from looking at the election figures that the people didn't know what they were voting on. Nor apparently did they care enough to find out beforehand.

The Star has printed so many millions of words on Metco and the charter—from so many different possible angles, from so many different viewpoints—that almost no one in the town could have avoided some brush with knowledge about these two issues.

But many didn't know much about them. Like someone said, those people will be the first to complain when something happens they don't like.

Someone commented on Monday's Metco result: "The people (of Winchester) really showed their colors."

I wonder if this widespread voter uninformed couldn't be helped by some kind of political training in the schools—from the bottom up.

It's unfair to always ask the schools to solve our social problems, like sex education and guidance. But when parents are unable or unwilling to do something then it does fall to the schools.

A civics course or good citizenship class is not at all what I mean. There should be community training of school-age children so they know how the government runs. Not from books. That just stifles them.

But take them out to the halls of government, to campaign meetings, to town meetings, to anywhere where the political processes are in operation. Then maybe later in life they won't feel so lost about how their community operates.

I hope some of our readers will think about this problem and send them along to us.

Something should be done any year now since the situation is getting worse. And it's even worse in some other towns than Winchester.

The Board of Registrars has announced that the returns from the census mailed out this year for the first time are coming back. They ask that those who have not returned their completed census form to get them in.

Put your fears to rest (for now). The Hewis's aren't taking over town meeting—yet. Though Arthur Hewis and daughter Clara and son Stanley will sit in the meeting, daughter-in-law Rebecca lost out for a seat at Monday's election.

News item: A Pennsylvania Turnpike toll collector fired for making love to a truck driver in a toll booth but later reinstated by an arbitrator won't receive the pay she lost.

Increasing vandalism in Winchester has led the School Department to begin the formation of two action committees—one from the schools and one from the community to try and do something. An organization meeting is scheduled for March 7.

Personal to Mike: Quabbin Reservoir.

Hit And Run

When is the Northeast Regional Vocational High School District School Committee going to give us a simpler name?

How do you like Rep. Ullman's wig?

Monday's election came off with few problems. But some people complained they missed the three questions—at the top of the machine.

Aren't you getting tired of hearing about abortion?

When is singer John Denver going to stop feeling sorry for himself and let the rest of us rest?

Hearings are due April 2 in the State Houses on bills to permit the voluntary participation of whites in Metco, to repeal Metco and to abolish its funding.

The League of Women Voters pre-election presentation of three one-act plays "In League With Broadway" was well-acted, well-attended, overwhelmingly funny and an excellent way for townspeople to welcome candidates. If you missed it, be sure not to next year.

A fuel-saving tip: Next time you use your oven cook enough for two meals. Then next night you can just reheat.

How do you like paying 50 cents for a box of candy at a first-run movie house?

How do you like paying the outrageous price of admission at a first-run movie house?

But say what you will about the movies. Anything is better than zombie television.

Peter Jennings of AM America warned this week that people who are going to England and plan to swim should take note that more than half of the British life guards last year could not swim.

Queen Elizabeth's clothing is burned when she is through with it. It is felt that someone who is not "royalty" should not don the queen's apparel.

Recently The Star received a phone call from a man who asked if the engagement of he and his fiancée could be changed. The reason: The couple eloped rather than wait for their spring wedding.

Elderly Could Pay For Balanced Meal

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I have no way of knowing for sure how many of our elderly would like a hot meal at noon, but I do know this is needed as some do not eat right.

I know our country is in awful stress at this time but I also know all the other countries of the world, including Russia, take care of their elderly and see that they are cared for properly.

In the cities they can go to a school and eat a hot lunch for 50 cents. Many of these old folks would pay for a nice, balanced meal.

If I were well off one of my projects would be a hot meal for these old folks who settle for tea and toast.

If you are lucky enough to have thoughtful relatives who when cooking will bring you your dinner - great.

If not, most old folks are too lonesome, too tired or too broke to cook a decent meal.

I wish people would come alive and let us know how many would like a hot meal at noon.

Maybe, just maybe, something could be worked out by getting some of our churches interested. The old folks would pay what they could.

Always remember that weekends are very lonely for our elderly. If you go for a drive it wouldn't hurt to ask some old person to go along.

Hope we get some response on hot meals.
Louise Chase

To the women in your family who have done something for women's rights, my appreciation.

I have to respect your "backward" rational and opinion as an elderly citizen. I wish to remind you that even though I am not your age nor a grandmother I feel I deserve respect for my opinions as I have displayed for yours.

They may reflect a more progressive attitude. But they should in no way be classified as childish.

As a feminist I had to reply to your first letter and I might add not a bit humorous since it is people like you who truly hurt the equal rights and goals of women the most.

The women's issues are not a laughable matter anymore than those regarding the blacks.... Your three letters clearly indicate you are resentful and prejudiced and that the feminist movement and individual feminists perturb you.

One clear example of your prejudice is that you indicated that my personal opinion is going to hurt my business. I believe and know that the people of Winchester are more intelligent than that and are above all that prejudice.

I am sorry you can't take refuting. I believe this letter writing is proving to be fruitless. I strongly suggest you contact some of the women's organizations in the Boston area.

They will be able to straighten out all of your misconceptions. Here are some: Governor's Commission on the Status of Women, Mass. Women's Political Caucus, Women's Equality Action League, National Organization for Women, Nine to Five and Women's Lobby.

Women's Rights No Laughing Matter

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The following are excerpts from a letter sent to J.K. MacNeill in response to his answer to a letter replying to his original letter to The Star:

Dear Mr. MacNeill:

The fact that I didn't show my marital status is completely irrelevant.

Through the years women who have had the proper education, drive and qualifications have been able to obtain higher positions and pursue careers. This does not mean women have not been discriminated against.

There are thousands of statistics to prove this.

One must be aware that a woman who has a career, a job or is successful is not necessarily a feminist. Certainly all the career and successful women in your family have not created a feminist out of you nor an equal rights champion.

Clumsy Abomination

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

May I join the fray? I dearly love words and the misuse of them bothers me.

"Chairperson" may be old hat but I consider it an irrational abomination, abominable because it is clumsy, and irrational because it is used in an attempt to supplant a perfectly good word which has no sex connotation whatsoever.

The word "man" derives from middle English and Anglo Saxon "mann" probably. I quote from Webster's second edition unabridged dictionary, "Indo European base 'men' to think, seen also in Latin 'mens,' mind, ... hence, basic sense 'the one that thinks'."

The first definition of "man" is a "human being, person, whether male or female," and second is "the human race, mankind."

The word "woman" derives from middle English "wifmon," from Anglo Saxon "wifmann," "wif" meaning female, therefore a woman is a female human being who thinks. How comforting!

Winchester's jack-in-the-box directional sign smack in the middle of Church st., at Waterfield rd., is knocked down just about every week and then put back up again, as Highway Dept. workers Charles E. Hogan and Roger Lheureux are doing on Monday.

We all know that "human" comes from "homo," Latin for man, a genus of primate as distinguished from beast.

A "person" is only a character, often used with slight contempt, a human being "as distinguished from a thing or lower animal."

Now who would want a living human body in a chair, not necessarily thinking, to head or manage a committee?

Return Stolen Purse

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Would the person or persons who stole my purse last Thursday at the Town Hall parking lot please return it to me.

I know the money will never be returned even though it was to pay medical bills. The purse and photographs have a sentimental value.

Why Do Kids Over 11 Pay Adult Fare?

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I'm 13 years old and I'm a girl. I was wondering why do we kids over 11 years old have to pay adult fare for the movies when we can't see the adult movies?

Couldn't we have some kind of system that we could have a card to tell our age and name for a junior price - specifically between the ages of 11 and 17?

I think it's unfair that we can't see the adult shows when we pay the adult fare for a G, GP or PG movie. Could we please do something about this?

I'm not saying that we should get to see adult movies. I'm saying that the price should not be the same.

Jack Noble Is Kind, Generous

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Your side-by-side editorials, on the one hand bemoaning the "insults and abuse" a candidate has heaped upon him, and on the other proceeding to insult and abuse Mr. Noble. I find most irresponsible and sad.

Jack Noble and I may differ in our basic philosophies but he has always been a kind, generous and gentlemanly friend.

I for one hope when this whole thing is over (regardless of the outcome), we can begin to treat one another as human beings again and regain a bit of dignity --- and love in our daily living.

Fluoride Should Be Reconsidered

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Another additive in our water supply causing controversy is fluoride.

It was known for years that excessive, naturally occurring fluoride can contribute to bone malformations and decayed, mottled teeth.

But after determining that small doses of fluoride could reduce cavities in the teeth of growing children, communities began adding the substance to water systems.

New evidence, however, shows that fluoride in the natural environment has increased dramatically in the last 20 years.

Increased use of fluoride compounds in industrial products and added amounts from metals melting and coal burning means there's more fluoride in the air, food and other things people use daily.

Scientists are trying to find out how much fluoride people get from sources to see if it's still safe to add it to water. Therefore further use of fluoride should be re-considered.

Naturally occurring substances in water, long thought safe, also have raised new questions. The use of fluoride only complicates matters.

Aluminum companies have succeeded in selling us their waste for a good profit while long term effects are not completely understood.

Fluoride is a deadly poison and anything poisonous regardless of the dosage should be kept out of the community's water supply.

If some people feel that they want fluoride

Traditional Sugaring-Off Marks New England Spring

By Elizabeth
Star Correspondent

The calendar said mid-February, the thermometer read a chilly mid-winter 20 degrees, but the earliest sign of spring appeared.

I saw covered metal buckets garlanding rows of stately gray maples along Rte. 30 in Weston.

Cold nights and sunny days were causing the maple sap to rise. Energetic teenage members of the Weston Youth Commission were tapping the town's own "sugarbush" of about 1,500 trees.

Using the techniques of the New England sugar harvest barely changed in 200 years. The kids, under professional supervision, reduced the clear colorless fluid to pure maple syrup in the town's sugar house next to the junior high school.

It takes nearly 40 gallons of sap to produce one gallon of maple syrup. The maple flavor is not in the fresh sap itself, rather it is produced by changes caused by boiling.

Crowds are expected to attend the commission-sponsored third annual maple syrup sale and sugaring-off party starting at 10 a.m. this Saturday at the sugar house.

Maple sweeteners were once an essential part of New England mountain cooking in New Hampshire and Vermont. Unlike the luxury items they are today, maple syrup and sugars were economical and close at hand.

The farmers couldn't afford cane sugar or molasses which had to be brought in by pack horse or sledge from the coast.

The subtle delicate flavor of maple is most successful in enhancing light desserts, cakes, sauces, fruits and vegetables, although many New England cooks use it in baked beans, glazed hams and mincemeat.

A little of the costly golden syrup goes long way in baked squash, glazed carrots, apple pies, baked apples, peaches, bananas and pears. Or simply pour it over ice cream. Sheer delight!

Maple Parfait

In the top of a double boiler, combine four egg yolks, 1/2 cup maple syrup and a pinch of salt.

Cook the mixture over simmering water, beating it constantly with a rotary beater until it is thick and light in texture.

Remove the pan from the heat, stir in 1/2 teaspoon vanilla and set the pan in a bowl of ice water.

Beat the mixture until it is cold and fold in 1 1/2 cups heavy cream, whipped until it holds a peak.

Spoon the parfait a tablespoon at a time into tall glasses, lightly sprinkling each spoonful with chopped pecans or walnuts.

Freeze the parfaits for several hours, or until they are firm.

Agenda Topics Include Metco, Legal Matter

An update on a legal matter and a progress report on Metco are agenda topics for Monday's School Committee meeting at Sanborn House, High street, at 7:30 p.m.

The legal matter is one concerning Stanley Hewis vs. the Winchester School Committee with Douglas Randall, town counsel.

Other agenda topics include fringe benefits for para-professionals, appointees for a Chapter 766 advisory committee, textbooks for St. Mary's School, and declining enrollments.

Also to be discussed will be social studies at the junior high level, the summer school curriculum, the school budget, resignations and appointments and bid awards.

Committee

When she said she didn't want the committee to "ram anything down our throats," Pharo asked: "What is it being rammed down your throat, Mrs. Galvin? I haven't heard a complete statement," he said referring to the interruptions of the audience which kept Chairman Parkhurst from giving the purpose of the meeting.

Robert Frank addressed the audience and asked for a halt to interruptions so the committee could conduct their meeting.

Earle Sherburne, at one point, asked to poll the School Committee "privately or publicly" on the "financial implications of Metco."

The committee obliged individually, each saying there would be no financial implications for the 1975-76 fiscal year, the period the committee was currently considering to implement Metco.

A woman in the audience asked: "How do you get rid of the 45 kids in another year?"

Committee member Mary G. Pronski was present at the beginning of the meeting but refused to stay because she said the meeting was not posted on the Town Hall bulletin board at 9:10 a.m., on Feb. 27, which she said would violate the 24-hour legal time limit.

Mrs. Fallon assured the group that the notice was in the hands of the town clerk's office more than 24 hours beforehand.

In a statement, which Mrs. Pronski read earlier, she said, "Calling a meeting at the last hour for the purpose of discussing the Finance Committee's recommendation on Metco or any other topic, in my judgment, is improper. The Finance Committee is responding to the law in making its recommendations known to the public."

Mrs. Pronski said: "I don't believe we ought to repudiate the actions of the Finance Committee, the minority group should have made its wishes known. The School Committee should not interfere."

After reading her statement, she left the meeting.

'Bicentennial USA' Youth Concert Theme

The "youth and you" concert, sponsored by Friends of the Band, chorus and orchestra, has been rescheduled for March 19 at 8 p.m. at the Winchester High School auditorium.

The concert will feature the WHS band and stage band, former musicians at the high school and parent performers.

Tickets will be available at the door or from members of the band.

First Aid Course Begins Next Tuesday

Winchester men and women are signing up this week for the first aid and personal safety course offered by the Winchester chapter of Red Cross.

The course begins Tuesday, March 11, and meets for five weeks from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Red Cross chapter house, 39 Church st.

Leonard J. Weckel is the leader. No fee is required. To reserve a place in the class, one may call the Chapter House.

Art Display

At Hospital

Jacqueline Langdon Sibley of Port Clyde, Me., a former resident of Winchester, has a display of watercolors in the Winton Club coffee shop of Winchester Hospital during the month of March.

Mrs. Sibley, actress, playwright, producer-director and artist, graduated in drama from the New England Conservatory of Music.

She studied art at Massachusetts College of Art and later privately with Harry Ronnie, art instructor of public schools in Arlington, N. J. She has studied with Murray Kusanabu, watercolorist, with the late William Hogg, head of the art department, Toronto University, and with John Dillenger, Pennsylvania painter.

Mrs. Sibley has been influenced by her association with the Wyeth family, friends of many years. She has had many one-woman shows.

Her paintings are in private collections in the United States, England, Portugal and the Virgin Islands.

Mrs. Sibley comes from three generations of painters. Her children make the fifth by showing artistic interests. They come by their talents from both sides of the family.

Their father was an art major at Harvard University. Their son, Jonathan, a graduate of the Museum School of Fine Arts and Tufts University, is the head of public school art department in St. Paul, Minn.

Their daughter, Pamamla, majored in art at Westbrook College and continued her studies in Florence, Italy. Daughter Penny acts as the art agent for the family. Jennifer is graduating from Mass. College of Art, where she is majoring in illustration. Both Jonathan and Jennifer were recipients of scholarships from the Winchester Art Association while attending college.

Mr. and Mrs. Sibley live in Port Clyde, where Mrs. Sibley was born and spent all of her summers. It is here that she finds endless subjects to paint. She owns Deep Cove Gallery, Inc., in Port Clyde, where her paintings are on display from May until October.

Sculptures Shown In Arts Festival

Metal sculptures by Peter Torres of 35 Dix st., sophomore at Colby College, Waterville, Me., were recently displayed in the college's art museum as part of the annual Colby student arts festival.

Agology and biology major, Torres is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Torres. He is a Winchester High School graduate.

Mary Dobbins Is Selected For 'Who's Who'

Mary R. Dobbins of Winchester is among 31 juniors and seniors at Merrimack College, North Andover, who have been selected to appear in the 1974-75 edition of "Who's Who among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Mrs. Dobbins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Dobbins, 94 Church st., is a junior American Studies teaching major at Merrimack.

A member of the student admissions committee, she has served as treasurer for the class of '76 for the past three years.

She has also been a member of the planning board and the social committee for freshman orientation.

Dobbins is currently a member of the junior week committee and is a resident assistant in Monahan Centre, the women's dormitory.

A 1972 graduate of Winchester High School, she plans a career in secondary education.

Poetry Society Plans Contest

The Massachusetts State Poetry Society of which Mary Manningham of 4 Russell la. is president, recently announced its annual contest.

★ Fire

Amico said he thought this was a good idea. "There's nothing they can do today that they can't do in two weeks," he said.

Meanwhile, Linda is staying with the Sullivans; Wayne is staying with the Hayes family across the street, and Frank and his wife have returned to Melrose.

Amico noted that shortly after firefighters went to Fairmount street, an identified caller reported a cellar fire at 43 Henry st. This turned out to be a false alarm.

Monday night Winchester firefighters provided assistance to the Woburn Fire Department when there was a two-alarm fire at Murray's Leather Shop in that city.

Breaks Reported

The Police Department investigated a number of breaks in the last week.

On Monday Leonard Pool bathhouse was entered. There was no damage. The bathhouse was also entered last Friday. Vandals damaged partitions.

The Bowladrome on White street had vending machines smashed and coins stolen, reported Sunday morning. There was no sign of an entry to the building.

Silverware was missing in a house break at 14 Glen road, reported Sunday at 11:40 a.m. Houses at 11 and 15 Sheffield road were broken into, also Sunday. Silverware and jewelry were missing from both.

There was an apparent break at 414 Highland ave., reported last Thursday. It was not known what was missing.

Bicycles were stolen in the last week from New Lincoln School, and a yard on Washington street.

Purple paint was sprayed on the side of McCall Junior High School Friday night, according to a report.

An 18-year-old Winchester youth was arrested in the center Friday at 9:50 p.m. on a charge of idle and disorderly. His case was continued at court.

★ Charter

The new charter sets next year's election as the last Tuesday in March and the start of next year's town meeting in May. Next June the small independent boards eliminated by the charter will die.

There will be a redistricting of the town by selectmen next year from six precincts to eight voting districts. Next year everyone—including incumbents—who wants to run for town meeting must run as if for the first time.

The charter provides for a two-year transition to the new system of government. The Charter Commission, which recommended the just-voted document, is dissolved as of April.

The other ballot question, beano, passed by the largest margin of all: 3,573-yes to 1,980-no. It took all precincts, though two precincts only by 100 votes.

Beano had the greatest margin of victory in Prec. 6, where it won by over 500 votes. Passage of the question now permits the Board of Selectmen to license charitable and other non-profit groups to conduct beano games on their premises.

(Beano is also called bingo, lotto and blitz.)

Though there is a small licensing fee, the profits from the game go to the organization conducting it. It is permitted in most towns in the Winchester area.

The new charter will streamline the town's budgetary process, replace several small elected boards with a public works department under the Board of Selectmen (through the town manager) and make the town clerk and treasurer-collector appointed rather than elected.

The Board of Selectmen is now required by the charter to begin a search for a town manager. He must be in office by Nov. 1. After his appointment, he will start making his own appointments subject to approval by the selectmen.

The town meeting moderator is required shortly to appoint two permanent committees of the town meeting—one on TM rules and the other on town by-laws.

DEATH TAXES ORIENTAL RUGS

It has often been said the only certainties in life are death and taxes. Perhaps its time to add another "certainty" — the increasing value of Oriental Rugs. Dollar wise the value of some rugs has increased almost threefold in the past decade, with no end in sight. They might be considered one of the few "safe" investments for those who avoid outright gambling.

What is it about Oriental Rugs that has triggered people's imagination to such an extravagant degree? Their names alone invoke romance and excitement: Kerman, Sarouk, Kazvin, Tabriz, Isfahan, Nain, Cabistan, Bukhara...lissome swaying bodies in chiffon skirts. The music of the Near East. Tinkling of bells. Smokey eyes and mysterious promises. Stock certificates never inspired such poetry.

Since 1938 the name "Boodakian" has been synonymous with Oriental Rugs. Expert advice, and fair prices have been the key note of our success. Now is the time to buy...and Boodakian's is the place to buy it.

Mary O'Connor Selected DAR Good Citizen

Mary O'Connor, Winchester High School senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. O'Connor of 24 Oneida rd., is recipient of the Good Citizen Girl award for 1975.

The annual award is given by the Committee of Safety Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

According to Mrs. William Burrows, DAR press chairman, she was chosen by faculty and classmates due to her character, scholarship, leadership and service.

Miss O'Connor has been active throughout high school especially in sports. She played tennis, softball, field hockey and basketball. She has been tri-captain and co-captain of field hockey and basketball and is currently president of her class and elected to the National Honor Society.

She plans to attend college with a possible major in health science or social work.

Her hobbies include sewing, skiing, swimming and reading.

As Good Citizen, she will be honored at the DAR chapter's meeting on March 17 and receive a recognition pin and certificate.

Because she has been selected as one of six state Good Citizen girls from the six Massachusetts districts, she will attend the state conference and luncheon to be held at the Copley Plaza in March.

From these six girls, one will be chosen to represent the state for the National Good Citizen.

The Winchester DAR chapter also sponsors a second Good Citizen Girl. She is Donna Marie Miassarian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin D. Miassarian of 1 Theresa rd., Stoneham. She is a senior at Stoneham High School and has many varied qualifications.

Rink Neighbors Issue Complaints

Winchester selectmen and police are in receipt of many complaints from neighbors of the USA Rink that sports viewers park on lawns and ignore "no parking" signs.

In view of problems, particularly parking, Selectman Chairman Vito Giarrizzo said he visited the arena recently with Police Chief Edward Bowler.

They went on a night when there were three hockey games scheduled back to back with very little time in between.

Giarrizzo said there were at least 1,000 people inside. The seating capacity, he said, is about 1,400.

Because of snowbanks, he noted, cars were parked "helter skelter" on both sides of the street. Police tagged cars that night and have been lately in order to increase traffic safety.

Giarrizzo said he spoke to the proprietor, who has a common victualer's license but not a public amusement license. The proprietor said he has an option to buy adjacent land which he will use for increased parking.

Meanwhile, Giarrizzo advised that presently scheduling of games is "unrealistic." He said he would like to see "intervals between games so one crowd can leave before another crowd arrives."

Concerning a public amusement license, Edward Donnelly, executive secretary to selectmen, recalled such a license was not called for when the rink opened because Winchester High School, which was then in the Middlesex League, used the facility.

Selectmen indicated if a public amusement license was required, they might maintain more control of traffic in the area. Giarrizzo said police will continue to enforce "no parking" rules and give out tickets to violators.

V-O School Has Winter Carnival

All grades at the Vinson-Owen School participated in the annual winter carnival on the school grounds recently.

Primary grades were involved in speed, figure and free skating, sled, saucer and downhill ski races.

Intermediate grades competed in broom hockey, cross country skiing and other winter sports.

Teachers had the responsibility for judging.

According to Mrs. Guy Guarnaccia, "there was so much enthusiasm and competitive spirit generated by these fun-filled contests that all the children fared well and were awarded ribbons in the first, second, third prize or honorable mention categories."

Another highlight of the carnival was snow sculpture with all children participating. Creations included a giant mushroom, Martians, penguin, whale, seal and snowman. There was a sled race among two teams of teachers. Mrs. Guarnaccia said the winners are still being debated.

A wedding is a family affair ... Yours, His, Ours

Weddings always bring out the full family spirit. The same family spirit which runs through our entire family staff. Which is why weddings are their specialty. They understand the give and take necessary to make everyone happy. They know how to take care of all those details which could intrude on your precious time together. They can help you plan everything about your wedding from the time you become engaged. And they'll do it smoothly and efficiently without losing touch with the romance of the occasion. No impersonal service with our family. So if there's a wedding in your future, be sure to keep it in the family.

Start by calling our wedding consultant. She'll send you a copy of our Wedding Brochure which includes a wedding timetable and menu suggestions. We'll treat you like one of the family.

Magic 77 Score

Sachems Take Bay State 'B' Crown

By John F. Parrell
Coach Vandy French's Winchester Sachems defeated Shawsheen Vocational School and Southeast Regional to win Class B of the Bay State basketball tourney, scoring 77 points in both games.

The team was awarded an imposing trophy and each player received an individual memento of the tournament.

The game with Shawsheen was an easy one with the Sachems having no real opposition, romping to a 77-29 victory. They ran up a 14-4 lead in the first quarter and were never threatened. Shawsheen was held to single figures in the first three quarters and only managed 10 points in the final period.

All 12 Winchester players saw plenty of action. The reserves had plenty of opportunity to gain experience. Every player took part in the scoring with Cliff Swanson netting 11 points and Steve Waite and Albie Cordice getting only one less.

The final game was played Sunday afternoon at Bentley College with Winchester again netting the magic 77 points—to 53 for the opponents.

Sports

This game required action on the part of Winchester school officials before it could be played.

The game received the official blessing and resulted in the title, trophies and a final 9-13 record for the season with hopes high for next year.

Southeast had an outstanding center in Clark who stood 6 feet 7 inches and dropped in 23 points to lead the scoring. He gave the Sachem forwards a busy afternoon, keeping him in check. Co-capt. Dave Nuttall and Andy Stoeckle did well to keep him from scoring more.

Co-capt. Mike Phillips was high man for the Sachems with 22 of the 12 local players were represented in the scoring column.

Winchester took a 21-15 first period lead which they stretched to 41-25 by halftime and 59-38 at the end of three quarters. The game was far more interesting and closer than the score might indicate and Southeastern kept battling right through the final session. But it was Winchester's game from start to finish, an excellent team effort.

WHAT'S THE QUICKEST WAY TO SPEND AWAY YOUR SAVINGS ACCOUNT? USE IT AS A CHECKING ACCOUNT.

(Here's a temptation-free solution from Suburban National Bank)

You've probably heard by now of ways to combine savings and checking in one bank account. Great convenience? Maybe - but look a little closer.

When you've got the money lumped together, the total may look deceptively large. So you may find yourself writing checks or withdrawal orders against that one account faster than you intended. And impulsively buying things you ought to think twice about.

Chances are, you'll soon find your hard-earned savings wasting away. Even worse, you're apt to lose all the motivation that started you saving in the first place.

So, Suburban suggests that you have two separate accounts—one for savings and the other for checking. And that you keep them separate.

As an incentive we'll give you free checking* when you maintain any kind of savings account with us. We'll pay you generous interest on those savings. And you'll be keeping them intact for more important things—since you'll never be tempted to write checks against them.

For a little help whenever it's a matter of money ... we're the people to talk to.

*With a minimum $50 balance.

St. Mary Knocked Out Of Play

St. Mary's lost 2-1 to Allston Saturday in the semi-final round of CYO hockey league playoffs. The loss, St. Mary's second of the season, eliminates the team from further playoff competition.

After a scoreless and sloppy first period, St. Mary's took a lead on Jim Beaton's breakaway goal at two minutes of the second period. Allston bounced right back, scoring two goals in less than a minute, to take a lead long-range shots but effectively tying up the slot area.

St. Mary's is 8-2-2 for the season and 118-38-22 in 14 seasons of CYO hockey league play.

The team will play West Roxbury in a consolation game Sunday. Norwood will meet Allston in the championship game.

St. Mary's carried the play throughout the third period. Allston was able to hang on and protect the lead, giving St. Mary's several

Register For Little League

Winchester Little League Inc. will conduct its registration for the 1975 season at the Winchester Knights of Columbus Hall on March 15 and March 22 from 9 to Noon.

All candidates for minor and major league play (those children who will be at least 9 years old, and no older than 12 by Aug. 1, 1975), and senior league play (children who will be at least 13 years old, and no older than 15 by Aug. 1, 1975), are required to submit an application during the registration period.

Applications and information sheets are available at the Winchester Sport Shop the Winchester Hobby and Toy Shop, and Renton's Market.

The forms will be available on or about March 11.

Bob Willing Joins Ranks Of Winners

Bob Willing joined the ranks of the many other Winchester tennis players who are winners of the mixed-up doubles tennis tournaments by emerging as a winner and high-scorer of last Saturday's tournament. He was presented an inscribed trophy.

Willing was one of 38 participants who played for five one-half hour periods with a different partner and different opponents maintaining his score on a individual basis and via the Vass System, a point-scoring system.

Mary Roark, who acted as tournament director, observed that Willing "scored his impressive point total by playing very steady tennis and hitting the ball where he saw openings." Mrs. Roark added, "Bob accounted for many of his points as a result of his effective first serves!"

Next Saturday's action will take place at the Winchester Indoor Lawn Tennis Center and the Charles River Indoor Tennis and Health Club in Newton.

Hockey Honor Going To Frank Finigan

Frank Finigan, director of science in the Winchester schools, has been selected for the hockey hall of fame of the state Hockey Coaches Association.

He will be inducted next Monday evening at a dinner at the Boston Garden Club which precedes the final game of the eastern state hockey tournament at Boston Garden.

Others to be inducted include Charlie Downes of Arlington; Ray Funchion of Danvers; Bert Kenty of Malden Catholic and Clem McCann of Brookline.

Previous inductees include Charles Carlin, Peabody; Francis Culhane, Cambridge; Richard Flood, Noble & Greenough; Charlie Kirk, Wakefield; Charlie McGeohh, Malden; Vic Campbell, Boston Tech; Nick DeSalvo, Dedham; Howard "Doe" Gordon, Stoneham; Ed Loring, Framingham; and William Mahoney, Cambridge.

In 1953 Frank Finigan organized the initial varsity hockey program in the difficult years of few arenas, pond ice and early morning practices. Finigan and the teams he developed went on to achieve phenomenal success.

Although not a member of a league in 1954-55, and playing an independent schedule, Finigan sought entry into the state tournament and was accepted.

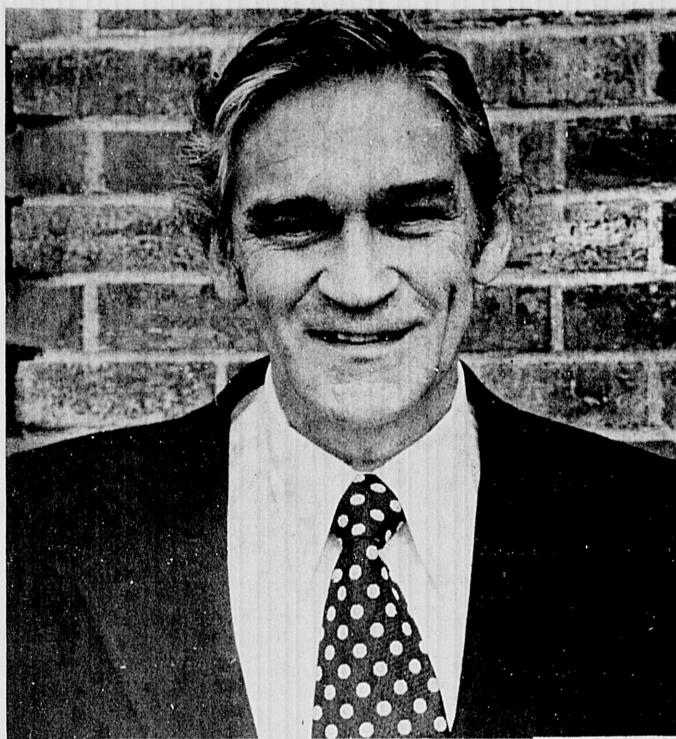

Under his leadership, Winchester went on to capture the state championship in an exciting whirlwind finish, defeating Waltham in overtime, Needham, Hyde Park and Belmont (his home town) in the finals.

Record that year: 24 wins, 4 losses and 1 tie.

In 1957, he captured the Northeast Conference Championship with 16 wins, 7 losses and 1 tie.

After entering the Middlesex League in 1960, the year it was formed, Winchester won the Middlesex crown, defeating Melrose High School 4 to 2 before the largest crowd ever assembled to witness a regular season high school league game.

Again, in 1964, Finigan led Winchester to its second Middlesex League Championship. Also, in that year, he and three of his high school hockey team members, All-

Frank Finigan, veteran coach, will be honored March 10 by induction into the Coaches' Association. Finigan had an excellent record as Winchester ice mentor.

Americans, were featured on the cover of a national hockey magazine. His teams participated in eight state tournaments. In 1965, he completed his coaching tenure with one of the most outstanding records in schoolboy hockey: 167 wins, 66 losses, 18 ties.

In addition to his hockey success, Finigan was an assistant football coach at Winchester High School and a science teacher.

In 1965, he became director of science in the Winchester school system. He has continued to display his leadership in science and was president of the National Science Supervisors Association and the Massachusetts Association of Science Supervisors.

Wrestlers Win Trophies

By John F. Parrell

Coach Ted Benton and assistant Ralph Taylor worked hard to develop a representative Winchester High School wrestling team, starting with a small, inexperienced squad.

The boys learned fast and showed marked improvement both on defensive movement and takedown techniques.

Next year's schedule, to be expanded to 14 dual meets, will include two tournaments. This will provide more opportunities for competitive wrestling and should greatly increase expertise.

The Middlesex sectional tourney at Wakefield saw the Sachems finishing seventh in a field of 16 teams, a remarkable showing since only 10 boys represented Winchester in the tournament.

Those competing included Mike Cavarretta, 98 lbs.; Ed Ruta, 112 lbs.; Marco Van Gemen, 119 lbs.; Joe McCarthy, 132 lbs.; Frank Smedley, 138 lbs.; Capt. Steve Johns, 145 lbs.; Richard McCarthy, 155 lbs.; John McIsaac, 167 lbs.; and John Calarese, unlimited.

Every Sachem wrestler came through the first and quarter final rounds. Only Smedley, Crese and Johns took part in the final scoring.

Medal winners at Middlesex area wrestling meet recently are Capt. Steve Johns, second place 145-pound class; John Calarese, second place heavyweight unlimited; and Frank Smedley, fourth place 138.

Smedley, wrestling in good form, brought home a fourth place bronze medal. Johns and Calarese, undefeated in the regular season, both won silver medals.

Calarese pinned McLaughlin of Stoneham, who was the favorite to take the heavyweight honors, in the second period of the semi-final event.

Junior Hockey Spring Team Starts Sunday

Winchester has entered a team in the Junior A Hockey spring league which starts its season Saturday at 11:30 against Malden at the USA rink.

The league consists of teams from surrounding towns. The season will end with playoffs. This squad will be composed of high school players coached by William N. Paglia.

The roster consists of the following:

Gerard Kivney, Kevin O'Neil, David Dolan, William McLean and William Paglia. Also, Frank Caruso, Michael Jeannette, David Whitney, William Moriarty and James Beaton. Also, Frank Ryan, Richard Coakley, Bart Munro, Eric Benson and Dave Pittee.

Pee Wees Win Inter-League Game, 2-0

St. Eulalia's Northstars recently defeated the Burlington Northstars 2-0 in an inter-league pee wee game at the Burlington Ice Palace.

Right wing Randy Grassi started the scoring for the Northstars in the first period when the team was playing short-handed.

The second score came minutes later. Rich Algar on a break-away took a shot on goal and wing Robert McCabe put the rebound in to make the score 2-0.

Rookie goalie Tom Mannon went all the way for the Northstars as they registered their first shut-out of the season against a Burlington team.

In inter-league games with Burlington the Northstars have won two games while losing one.

St. Mary's Players, Coach Named To Team

Four St. Mary's players and coach Jack Falla were selected for the 1975 Archdiocesan CYO hockey league all-star team.

League leading goalkeeper Dave Pettee and St. Mary's high scorer Dan Whitney were named to the team along with defenseman Tony Santo and left wing Art Johns. Santo and Johns were chosen despite their availability for only a portion of the regular season. Pettee's selection marks the fifth straight year that St. Mary's goalkeeper has been named to the all-star team. Peter Scopa was all-star goalie from 1971 to 1973. Cliff Falla was selected last year.

Coach Falla was named coach of the all-star team for the second time. Selected for the 1975 team, he is the first CYO league coach to be named to the team twice.

Service To Focus On Abolitionist

William Lloyd Garrison, who fought for 35 years to free the slaves, will be the focus of a dramatic worship service at the Winchester Unitarian Church Sunday.

Entitled "I Will Be Heard!" and written by Bob MacDougall, member of the church, the dramatization will portray Garrison's work as an abolitionist and his uncompromising stands for the equality of all human beings.

Garrison became an abolitionist in 1828. He insisted on immediate emancipation and equal citizenship for the black race.

In 1831 Garrison launched "The Liberator" in which he called on the South to free slaves and on northerners to unite against the slaveholders. His editorials angered not only southerners but also conservative northerners.

Garrison alienated some fellow abolitionists by insisting on equal rights for women and total non-violence. He wanted to set a pure and absolute standard of universal humanity toward which the country could move.

William Lloyd Garrison will be portrayed by Charles Morgan. The story will be narrated by Faith Waltman. The cast includes Lawrence Stoddard, Steve Davies, Nolan Jones, Roger Sudbury, Richard Bourne, Stephen Gendall, Lynwood Bryant, James MacDougall, Rick Osgood, Ken Trevett, Sally MacDougall, Nancy Cunningham and Wallace Larimore.

Folk songs will be sung by the Unitarian folk singers, Bob and Diane MacDougall, Nancy Cunningham, Steve Davies, Lawrence and Joan Stoddard and Maggie Russell.

The service will begin at 10:30 a.m. The public may attend.

Temple Shalom

March 7
8:15 p.m. Evening services. Bar Mitzvah for Ruth Kaplan. Sermon: The Synagogue as Central.

Family Overnight Ends 'Life' Series

A family overnight on April 4 and 5 at the Craigville Conference Center on Cape Cod is the final program in the 1974-75 Quality of Life series sponsored by the Winchester Interfaith Adult Education Committee.

Designed for families with children ranging in age from 5 to 18, the program begins with a picnic supper on Friday evening and includes activities and events for all ages as well as opportunities for recreation, conversation and discussion.

Leaders are the Rev. George Easton, assistant pastor of the First Congregational Church, and the Rev. and Mrs. John J. Bishop of the Parish of the Epiphany.

Registrations are limited to 12 families. For information and registration, phone Mr. Easton or Mr. Bishop.

ICC Show:

Music, Music

Rehearsals are in their final stages for the Immaculate Conception annual musical show, "Music Music Music." This production has a wide spectrum of talent.

Rabbi To Discuss Wood Sculpture

The Winchester Jewish Community is sponsoring an evening at the home of Rabbi Martin Kessler, 26 Tyler rd., Lexington, March 15 at 8 p.m.

In his 77 years Dr. Kessler has been an ordained rabbi in Hungary, a Ph.D. metallurgical physicist in France and the United States, a front line artillery liaison officer between the French and British during World War I and a wood sculptor in Lexington.

He officiates at high holiday services at Temple Shalom Emeth, Burlington, is a consultant in metallurgy to institutions at home and abroad and is under commission to design and sculpt works of art.

At the meeting he will display and discuss his sculpture.

Refreshments will be served. RSVP by Wednesday to Miriam Gilman, 11 Royalston ave.

Sr. Patricia

Will Preach At Lenten Luncheon

Members of all congregations in Winchester are invited to the Lenten luncheon ministries in Ripley Chapel at First Congregational Church.

The service, led by Clergy from Winchester churches, begins at 12:30 and ends promptly at 12:50 so that worshippers may return to work by 1 p.m.

The preacher for March 12 is Sr. Patricia Kelliher, Immaculate Conception, R.C.

Sister Appointed

Sister Martha Brigham, formerly of Winchester, from Saint James Parochial School, Arlington, was one of three sisters recently appointed to a new formation team for the Religious of Christian Education.

The team will assume responsibility of the formation programs for the associates, candidates and novices of the order.

Wednesday, March 12
The Lenten Bible study and prayer meeting led by Pastor Krueger will be in the church social hall at 7:30 p.m. Adults may attend.

Thursday, March 13
Members of the Lorena George Circle will meet at the church at 10 a.m. Some White Cross work will be finished. Bring your own sandwich. At noon beverages and dessert will be served by hostesses Marion Haskell and Sadie Horne.

The afternoon program will consist of devotions led by Virginia Herzog and Eleanor Davis speaking on "Japan."

Transcendental Meditation After Church

Worship and church school classes for nursery through grade 6 are held at 10 a.m. Children attend the first part of the service with their parents and go to their learning areas after the children's talk.

Rev. Walter Davis will be continuing his Lenten sermon series on "What I Believe." This week's topic will be "Man and Rebellion." The Fisk University Jubilee singers will be special guests at the service.

Following church service an adult education seminar is held in the Palmer Room. A discussion on Transcendental Meditation will be led by Mrs. Mary MacLeod and Mrs. Jessie Pratt.

A "2nd Hour for Children" begins with refreshments at 11 a.m. followed by a creative activities time for children of all ages and choir rehearsal for grades two through six concluding at noon. A luncheon will be served at 11:15 and at noon by Forum.

The Youth Chorus for grades 7-9 will meet at 5 p.m. to go to the New England Rehabilitation Center.

From 6 to 8 p.m. the second in a series of total-church-family Lenten nights will be held. Bring a salad ingredient other than lettuce ready to be tossed. Lettuce, main dish and beverages provided by church, followed by "The Caterpillar," a new fantasy film with a point!

Ski Trip
Members of Forum and Nonagon are sponsoring a ski trip March 15. It is open to all families of the church. Call Jon Dayton or Rev. George W. Easton before March 7 for reservations.

Fisk Jubilee Singers To Be Featured

The Jubilee Singers of Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn., will sing during church service at 10 a.m. Sunday at the First Congregational Church.

This 20-voice choir toured Europe in 1971 and gathered contributions for the first class building of their newly-established college.

Queen Victoria entertained them for more than a month, commissioning a portrait to be painted which now hangs in Jubilee Hall.

The choir has continued an annual jubilee tradition since that time.

The public is invited.

Holy Name Plans Spaghetti Meal On Saturday

The Immaculate Conception Holy Name Society will hold its annual spaghetti supper on Saturday after the 4:30 mass until 7 p.m. in the school hall.

Each year Chels Pecora and Johnedis "outdo themselves in preparing this delicious supper," said Jeremiah J. McCarron.

Reservations are not necessary.

President Anton Segota will be host. He will be assisted by officers of the Holy Name Society.

Adult Study Continues

A new adult study group under the direction of Rev. George W. Easton which began March 3 will continue through Lent each Monday from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. in the church library.

Titled "Focus Your Faith Through Value Clarification," the group will utilize games, Scriptures, On Fridays, the audio-visuals and other activities designed to help participants reflect on life in the categories of ideas, feelings, actions and values, and how these are related to faith. Two other study groups are in progress. Rev. Walter B. Davis meets with each in the church library from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. The Bible search group on Thursdays is designed for those who like a systematic study of the Scriptures. On Fridays, the book entitled "Pilgrims & Pioneers," written by the late Dr. John Lobinger of Winchester, is being read and reviewed.

Christian Science Church Services

Sunday, March 9
"Man" will be the lesson sermon at 11 a.m.; also Sunday school (under the age of 20) and child care at 114 Church st.

WINCHESTER NATIONAL BANK
7 Church Street
Winchester, Mass.
NOTICE OF SPECIAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS
A Special Meeting of the Shareholders of Winchester National Bank will be held at its main office, 7 Church Street, Winchester, Massachusetts, on April 15, 1975, at 4:15 p.m. for the following purposes:
1. To consider and vote upon the matter of ratifying and confirming the Plan of Reorganization and Agreement to Consolidate The County Bank, N.A. and Winchester National Bank with and into The County Bank, N.A. under the charter of the County Bank, N.A. and with the title of Shawmut County Bank, N.A. and the execution thereof by the President and a majority of the Directors of this bank.
2. To act upon any and all matters incident to the foregoing and to transact such other business as may properly come before the meeting.
Approval of said Plan of Reorganization and Agreement to Consolidate is a condition precedent to the consolidation of said bank with and into The County Bank, N.A. and the execution thereof by the President and a majority of the Directors of this bank.
If the action proposed is approved by the shareholders at the meeting and the proposed consolidation is consummated, shareholders who voted against such action at the meeting or who gave written notice at or prior to such meeting to the presiding officer of such shareholders dissent from the plan of consolidation, are entitled to dissenters' appraisal rights as specified in 12 United States Code, Section 215.
By order of the Board of Directors:
Charles W. Craven
Secretary

Youth Soccer Tryouts Rescheduled Saturday

Boston Area Youth Soccer League teams will tryout on Saturday at McDonald Field, off Loring Avenue.

Tryouts had been planned for last Saturday, but due to bad weather had to be rescheduled.

Teams will be entered in the following age brackets:

C - Not having reached age 13 by June 30.
B - Not having reached age 15 by June 30.
A - Not having reached age 17 by June 30.

Tryout times at McDonald Field follow:
C team will meet at 9 a.m. B team will meet at 10 a.m. A team will meet at 11 a.m.

In case of bad weather again, tryouts will be held on Sunday at 12 p.m. for the C team, 1 p.m. for the B team and 2 p.m. for the A team.

Jim Sullivan of 8 Hill st. pauses on the ice. He is on the Northeast Regional High hockey team, in fifth place in the Commonwealth Athletic Conference with a 4-2 record.

Recreation Basketball

Bucks 84, Jazz 40

Jeff Cahill, Bob Cooke, Mario Alfano and Dave McLaughlin all reached double figures to lead their team to its fourth win of the season by beating the Jazz 84 to 40.

Rick Pentaleo 24 points, and Rob Rigney 12 points were high scorers for the Jazz.

Celtics 78, Knicks 64

The Celtics are on the move once again, Dave Parkhurst and Jeff McGoldrick both scored 20 points. Stewart Downes scored 16 points as the Cs rolled over the Knicks.

Jim Oliver, J.M. Gagan and John Shattuck all scored 20 points in the losing cause for the Knicks.

Lakers 12, Bucks 30

The Lakers, known for their great defensive play, held the Bucks to only 30 points.

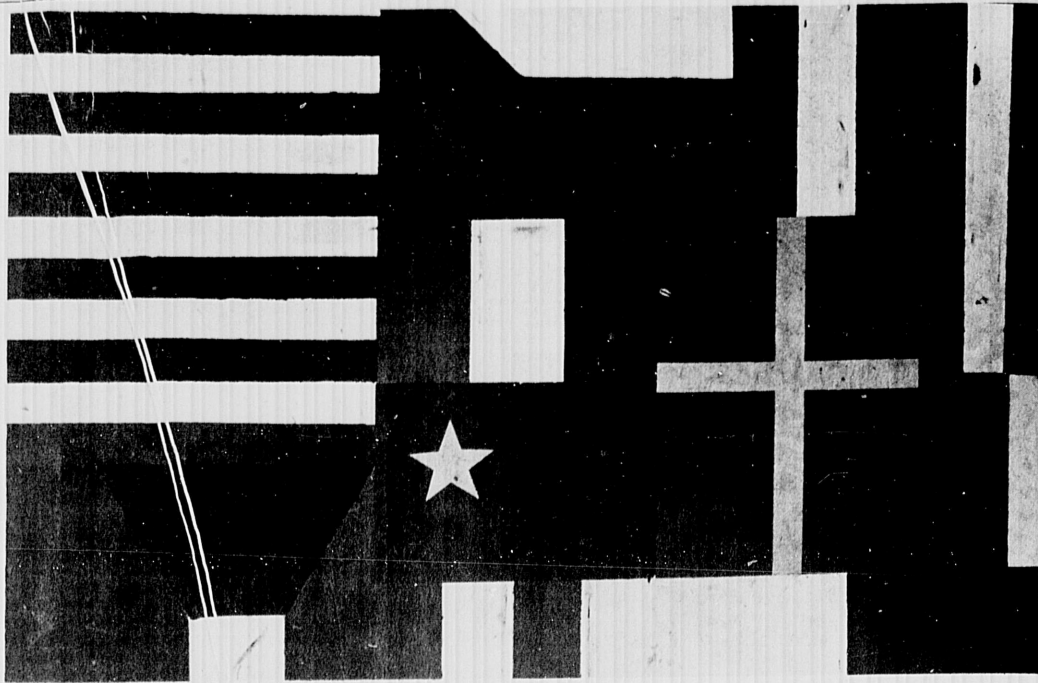

Jim Khor did most of the scoring for the league-leading Lakers with 22 points. Jeff Cahill scored more than half of the Bucks' total score with 18 points.

Knicks 98, Jazz 48

John Shattuck 22 points, Jim Oliver 20 points and Barry McQuillan 14 points led the Knicks to an incredible romping over the lowly Jazz by a score of 98 to 48.

In the losing cause Rob Rigney scored 24 points for the Jazz.

Ambrose Offers Enrichment Courses

The enrichment committee of Ambrose School recently offered mini-courses both primary and intermediate levels.

During January, intermediate students participated in 11 different courses: Ancient history, architecture, cooking, crocheting, furniture making, ecology, judo-karate, first aid, Unicef study of an African village, macrame and reading room.

During February, the primary students selected from nine different courses: China, cooking, first aid, folk music, Italian, pottery, puppet making, yoga and woodworking.

Mini-courses have been one hour sessions, once a week for four consecutive weeks. All courses were arranged by Ambrose enrichment chairman Pat Walters, assisted by Connie Locashio.

Also planned is a visit from Dennis Williams who tells of his adventures in Africa.

Tomorrow Cranberry Puppets will perform. And there is to be a presentation by Stevenson Cory who will speak on his expedition to the North Pole.

Regis Alumnae Plan Fashion Show March 19

The Regis College Alumnae Association is sponsoring a fashion show to be held on the evening of March 19 at the Student Union of the college.

There will be a buffet supper in connection with the show and a craft boutique. Fashions will be presented by Lord and Taylor.

Further information is available by contacting Winchester committee members Catherine Burke, 1 Longfellow Rd., or Mrs. John F. Parrell, 25 South Gateway.

Red Cross Seeks Volunteer Drivers

"No Red Cross service performed at this chapter brings greater satisfaction than responding to the request for drivers through the local office of volunteers," said Richard McMorrow, Winchester chapter's chairman, after a conference of drivers last week.

The meeting was called to review the practices and problems of the service and to seek ways of attracting more drivers, who are greatly needed if the service is to meet all the demands made on it.

These volunteers, explained McMorrow, transport Winchester men and women - sometimes children - to hospitals, clinics, and other medical facilities of greater Boston. The appointments are arranged days - even a week in advance and usually avoid the rush hours on the highways.

Once a week is the average service of a volunteer. The service is limited to Winchester residents and to those who have no other convenient means of transportation. Even then, said McMorrow, the Red Cross cannot meet all demands for help.

Any man or woman willing to help by driving even once a week may get in touch with the chapter at the Church Street Chapter house. (The telephone is 729-2300.)

Estates Garden Club Has Workshop

The Winchester Estates Garden Club recently conducted a workshop led by Lily Yamamoto, Garden Club member.

She demonstrated wrap warp. Members created pieces of work to take home. The workshop was at the home of Marge Conway.

Smith College Club To Present Films

The Winchester Smith College Club will present three films during March and April as a fund-raising effort on behalf of Smith College in this its centennial year.

The proceeds from the film festival will benefit the college's scholarship fund. This year there are nine girls from Winchester High School Applying to Smith.

The films will be shown at the Winchester High School auditorium. For tickets, either singles or series, contact Mrs. Elizabeth Freeman, Mill Pond Travel, 10 Converse pl., or at the box office.

On March 19 at 8 p.m. "Fahrenheit 451" (color) will be shown.

Directed by Francois Truffaut, this movie is an adaptation of Ray Bradbury's classic novel. Starring Julie Christie, Oskar Werner, Cyril Ausack, the film depicts a dehumanized society of the future in which individual endeavor is strictly prohibited.

Books are burned, and anyone attempting to thwart the system is severely punished. One of the book burners, Oskar Werner, heretofore content to espouse the government's propaganda, meets a sensitive teacher (Christie) who leads him to consider the moral aspect of this way of life. The course of his life is irrevocably changed.

On April 9 at 8 p.m. "Citizen Kane," written and directed by Orson Welles, will be shown.

Starring Orson Welles, Joseph Cotton, Everett Sloane, Agnes Moorehead, this film is a classic. With obvious parallels to the life of William Randolph Hearst, the movie depicts an unsophisticated farm boy, Kane, through his rise to power and fame as the founder of a newspaper empire. Corruption infiltrates his life.

On April 18 at 7 and 9 p.m. the club will present "Hans Christian Andersen."

Starring Danny Kaye, this movie is much more than a fantasy for children. It is also a biography of the great Danish story-teller.

Drama Workshop Has Few Openings

The Winchester Recreation Department has a few openings in its drama workshop to be held on three Saturdays in the Orange Room at Lincoln School.

This pilot workshop has leaders who are students enrolled in Paulett Taggart's course at Tufts University.

The workshop will be held on March 29, April 5 and April 12. It will involve yoga for muscles and organs; sensory exercises to stimulate awareness; theatre games for spontaneity and improvisation for creative process.

There is no fee. Enrollment is limited. For more information, contact the Recreation Dept. office at the Town Hall.

Rocky Ledge Farm Personnel Plan For Show

Ikram Seedhom, Ralph Johnson and Charles Mahoney, all of Mahoney's Rocky Ledge Farm & Nursery of Winchester, are among those preparing for the 104th New England Spring Garden and Flower Show.

The show will be held March 15-23 at Boston's Commonwealth Armory. It is sponsored by the Massachusetts Horticultural Society.

Every spring over 100,000 visitors visit this floral festival which blends colorful garden settings, flowers, trees and plants into a single dreamland setting.

Bruce G. McInnes is director of the Amherst College Glee Club which will appear in Winchester March 15 in a concert to benefit the ABC (A Better Chance) House.

Glee Club Performance To Aid ABC

The Amherst College Glee Club will perform for the benefit of the Winchester ABC (A Better Chance) House on March 15 at 8:30 p.m. in the McCall Junior High School Auditorium.

Tickets may be obtained from Donna Kennedy, 16 Canterbury Rd. or at the Continental Cow.

Members of the concert committee are Betsy Ewing, chairman; Donna Kennedy, tickets; Maggie Russell, Diane Sprague, Nancy Goodell, Peggy Wiseman, Eileen Schell, program; Jean Donahue, Durr Jeffery, dignify; Suzanne Reno, Lois Anderson and Corie Nichols, publicity.

Library Films

"The Paper Kite" is a Unicef film of a Norwegian boy who flies with his kite to several countries who are being aided by this worldwide organization.

"Much Ado About Mushing" describes sled dog racing in New Hampshire which is enjoyed by both children and adults.

On Sunday afternoon the family program is held in the story hour room of the junior library beginning at 2:30. It is requested that at least one adult accompany each group of children.

Unitarian Actors Conducts Tryouts

The Winchester Unitarian Players will present "6 Rms Riv Vu," a two-act comedy by Bob Randall May 2, 3 and 9 and 10.

Tryouts will be Sunday and Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Metcalf Hall, Winchester Unitarian Church, Main St. and Mystic Valley Pkwy.

Directed by Bob Storer, there are two major roles and six supporting roles for four men and four women. There are openings for production crew.

Rehearsals are Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings at the church.

The play is about a classified advertisement for an apartment which draws two strangers together.

The man and woman, each married, who never considered straying before, reach out to each other and make a commitment of what might become love.

First performed in 1972, the play starred Jane Alexander and Jerry Orbach in the Broadway roles.

Carol Burnett and Alan Alda received high praise for their humorous and sensitive portrayals in a television special last fall.

On Dean's List

John R. Rooney of 19 Squire Rd., was recently named to the dean's list for the 1974 fall semester at Bryant & Stratton Junior College, Boston.

Rooney is a management major.

Lincoln Sixth Graders Are Selling Candy

Sixth grade students at the Lincoln School, who will be spending a week in May at Camp Sargent for environmental studies, are planning a candy sale.

The sale is being conducted now until March 10 and will help to defray costs to each student participating.

For more information, contact sixth grade teachers who are coordinating activities, Sally Walter, Mary Coleman and John Brown.

Girl Scouts To Celebrate 63rd Birthday

On March 12 the Girl Scouts will be 63 years old. Girl Scouts of the USA started in 1912, in Savannah, GA., with 18 girls. Today there are over 3 million members.

Although the program has changed to keep up with the times, and to be available to all girls, the principles of Girl Scouting have remained constant, based on honesty, fairness and respect for oneself and others, said Sue Sweeney.

The theme of Girl Scout week (March 9-15) is "Grow With Us." People are asked to work with the scouts as partners, in their conservation efforts, in their work with the handicapped, the senior citizens and hundreds of community service projects, said Mrs. Sweeney.

Dukakis Names Kenny To Judicial Nominating Group

Gov. Michael Dukakis appointed Raymond J. Kenney of Winchester to a three-year term on the newly created Judicial Nominating Commission.

Kenney, a partner in the Boston law firm of Martin, Magnuson, McCarthy & Kenney, will join 10 other Massachusetts citizens on the panel, which will nominate candidates for all vacant judgeships and court clerkships in the Commonwealth.

A fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers, Kenney was designated by the Massachusetts Bar Association to serve on the commission.

Dukakis established the commission by executive order on Jan. 3 the day after his inauguration "as a first step in removing politics from our courts once and for all."

"Citizens will never have faith in their legal system unless they know judges and court clerks are appointed only on the basis of their integrity, fairness, and excellence," Dukakis said.

Whenever a vacancy in a judgeship or court clerkship occurs, the commission will screen candidates and submit to the governor a list containing at least three individuals it deems qualified for the appointment.

The governor may name one of the approved candidates to the vacant position. If he chooses not to appoint any of the original nominees, he must ask the commission for a second list, from which he must choose the new appointee.

The nominating commission is required under the executive order to hold at least one public hearing within the jurisdiction of the local court where the vacancy arises.

"Rarely, if ever, have citizens had a voice in the selection of a judge or clerk for their local court," Dukakis said. "Public hearings will allow local residents to suggest the qualifications or special skills a judge or court clerk should have."

The 11-member committee includes five lawyers, one of whom is a law school dean, and one of whom is designated by the Mass. Bar Assn. Four members are women, one member is black and one member is Spanish-speaking. All areas of the state are represented.

"The commission is as diverse as the Commonwealth itself," Dukakis said. "It includes distinguished legal scholars, social activists, business people, and labor leaders. But the members of the panel have one thing in common — an unusually deep commitment to making our legal system work."

The executive order establishing the Judicial Nominating Commission includes several safeguards against political interference, according to Dukakis.

No more than six members can be of the same political party, none can hold elective or appointive state office and none can receive a judicial appointment for at least two years after leaving the commission.

Furthermore, although the governor appoints the members, he can remove members only with the concurrence of seven members of the commission.

Judges and court clerks selected by Dukakis under the new system must still be approved by the Executive Council.

Zoning Head:

Non-Conformers To Get Notice

This spring Winchester residents and business proprietors who are in non-conforming use insofar as the new zoning by-law is concerned will receive notification of non-conformance from zoning administrator Norman Sherman.

They will be asked to complete a form and pay a small fee for a non-conformance certificate.

"This will not be a detriment" to residents and businesses as long as such non-conformance existed before 1924, the date of the previous zoning by-law, said Sherman. "Actually it is a protection," he noted, adding that once a non-conforming use certificate is issued, this will allow the non-conforming use to continue as long as conditions at the address continue to be the same.

Sherman at present is cataloging residences and businesses zone by zone as one of initial steps toward implementing the new zoning by-law adopted by town meeting Oct. 29, 1973 and effective last June.

Sherman explains the four categories of possible non-conformance:

Businesses which exist in a residential area.

Residences which exist in a business zone.

Residence use which differs from the permitted use in a particular residential zone.

Business use in a business area which under the law is not now permitted.

In the first two cases, as long as the business or residential use was permitted in 1924, the non-conforming certificate will show the non-conforming use is legal.

In a situation where a residential use differs from that permitted in 1924, the user is in violation and must show good cause in 60 days why he or she is in violation.

An example of this might be a three or four family house in a single-family or two-family zone.

Contrary to rumor, said Sherman, there has only been one complaint to his office of such a residential violation. He has however received many complaints of other zoning violations.

Sherman said the new zoning by-law in Winchester "is a progressive model plan" and one he will implement. He said he has been given this directive from selectmen, the Planning Board, even town meeting since they approved the plan.

Not only should the plan be followed by citizens from a legal and aesthetic point of view, he said, adherence to the law is best from a safety and health standpoint.

He explained that wiring which is not inspected may not be safe, just as inadequate toilet facilities may be unhealthy.

In addition, non-adherence to the law brings forth "tax inequities," he said.

Finance Opposes $16,000 Truck For Fire Department

The Board of Selectmen recently reviewed its five-year capital equipment list in the police budget which the Finance Committee suggested total $130,000.

Selectmen were in accord with Finance on all items except the recommendation to delete $16,000 to replace the fire alarm truck.

According to Barbara S. Hankins, chairperson of Finance, the committee "questioned the item this year because of the anticipated tax increase."

The committee "suggested a van or lighter, smaller type vehicle," continued Mrs. Hankins.

The present vehicle, a truck with a ladder used for fixing alarm boxes, is not for fire fighting.

According to Mrs. Hankins, a Finance sub-committee "thinks there is no need for a $16,000 vehicle to fix alarm boxes."

Although Finance has not completely ruled out purchase of the truck, Mrs. Hankins was adamant: "We will oppose it if it costs $16,000."

High School Band Presents Concert

"Bicentennial USA" is the theme of a concert to be presented on Saturday, March 8, at 11 a.m. by Youth Concerts at Symphony Hall.

Buses will leave Winchester High School parking lot at 10 for the final concert in the 1974-75 series. The program will feature the Chorus Pro Musica directed by Alfred Nash Patterson, as well as music by Aaron Copland, Roy Harris, Leonard Bernstein, Duke Ellington, Charles Ives, G. Wright Briggs and John Philip Sousa.

Any ticket holder who knows that he will not be attending this concert may contact Mrs. Daniel Fairbanks, town chairman for the concert, before Saturday.

"Part of the implementing of the new zoning by-law is finding illegal cases," Sherman said. Though he is not making a concerted effort to find illegal cases, he said, those which are brought to his attention are acted upon.

"Most people follow the law," he said.

Paula Hurley Ends Irish Studies

Paula J. Hurley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Hurley of 9 Harrison St., and a senior at Stonehill College, recently attended the School of Irish Studies in Dublin, Ireland.

Miss Hurley was among 19 Stonehill College students who participated in three weeks of intensive instruction in the Irish language and modern Irish literature at the college-level institute in Dublin.

This study-abroad project was sponsored by the college's Irish studies program. Miss Hurley and the other Stonehill students resided in the homes of Irish families in the suburbs of the Irish capital city.

In addition to attending classes, some students were interviewed on the national state-operated radio network.

Others were taken on a tour of the Irish parliament by a member of that legislative body.

Miss Hurley was joined by other students in a tour of the Irish countryside which included such areas as Galway, Kerry, Cork and Dingle.

A graduate of Lexington High School, she is majoring in political science at Stonehill.

Martin S. Bogan Ends Deployment

Navy aviation machinist's mate second class Martin S. Bogan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin S. Bogan of 200 Swanton St., is scheduled to return to Point Mugu, Calif. this month after a four-month deployment to Antarctica.

As a member of Antarctic Development Squadron Six he helped support scientific research projects conducted by 17 nations.

A 1966 graduate of Lexington High School he joined the Navy in February, 1967.

Finance Meets With Recreation, School, Planning

The Finance Committee is now dealing with budget after-effects as its recommendations on town meeting articles go into print.

Last Thursday night Finance met with the Recreation committee which is, according to Finance chairperson Barbara S. Hankins, "unhappy with the reductions made."

No votes were taken, Finance listened to Recreation's budget explanation and the committee's discussion what reductions would be to mutual satisfaction.

Mrs. Hankins admitted that the Finance sub-committee had recommended "fairly substantial reduction" in Recreation's budget.

Planning Committee members William Cummings and Joseph Geary presented the Finance Committee with an explanation of Planning's three articles recently inserted on the warrant.

According to Mrs. Hankins, the Finance Committee didn't feel justified in making recommendations until it "could better understand what would be accomplished" by the articles which include rezoning of Swanton street, technical corrections to the new zoning by-law and the new sign by-law.

The School Committee was represented at the meeting by Chairman Stephen Parkhurst, who felt people would misinterpret Finance's recent anti-Metco stand.

The Finance Committee's 8-2 vote against Metco was based on social and philosophical implications, not on financial.

The Finance Committee made Chairman Hankin's speech, given at the January special town meeting on Metco, available to the School Committee (Mrs. Hankins added that it was on public records anyway) and told them to "quote it and use it in the manner they felt they wanted."

At this point a "lengthy discussion," as Mrs. Hankins phrased it, ensued on the police budget which Finance recently reduced $20,000.

"We took a good hard look at the police budget," said Chairperson Hankins.

The upshot was an additional $5,000 into personal services, "the people part of the budget," Mrs. Hankins explained.

Mrs. Hankins said that with only several weeks to go before town meeting the Finance Committee has much to do. "We are in the process of receiving requests to take another look at the budgets."

A disconsolate Robert Frank, member of the School Committee, agonizes with his private feelings following casting of his vote Monday.

Metco Vote Reaffirmed, Children Come In Fall

Forty to fifty primarily black Boston children will be coming to Winchester to be educated beginning in September as a result of School Committee action Monday.

The board voted 5-1 to stick with its earlier actions in favor of a program by the Metropolitan Council for Educational Opportunity to bus the children here.

Television crews from the three Boston news stations as well as reporters for Boston newspapers were on hand to send the message out on how the School Committee reacted to last Monday's referendum.

The referendum, strictly advisory to the School Committee, was 3,482-no to 2,260-yes against Metco involvement. School Committee members individually stated their positions before the 400 spectators in the tension-filled hall.

The members said their decision to adhere to Metco involvement was based on the following considerations:

—Intimidation and "coercion" by a group of anti-Metco residents threaten the independence of the School Committee.

—Literature distributed prior to the referendum misled a great number of voters.

—Nearly 50 percent of the voters didn't go to the polls on election day, indicating to some committeemen large voter uncertainty on Metco.

—The Finance Committee card mailed to all voters without explanation prior to the election made it appear Finance was unanimously opposed to Metco because of financial impact.

—Previously stated reasons in favor: no financial impact on Winchester, room in the schools, town meeting support of Metco and faculty support.

—Need for leadership on the part of the committee.

Those were reasons for a go ahead as stated by the majority of the board. Mary Pronski, the single committeeperson voting against, stated why.

"I'm not going to turn my back on 61 percent of the people," she said referring to last Monday's referendum vote.

Mrs. Pronski said she isn't going to judge why the voters cast their Metco ballots as they did. She concluded her brief remarks that if Winchester doesn't want to participate in Metco and the committee votes to participate "then Metco is not a voluntary program."

School Committee chairman Stephen R. Parkhurst said he could never remember a more difficult decision before the committee. He said he had intended to change his mind and vote against Metco in view of the referendum.

But, the chairman went on, last week he had a call from an anti-Metco person demanding the board state in that week's newspaper that the committee would reconsider its Metco position or else there would be action against it.

Referring to the call as a "threat," Parkhurst said: "I felt the time had come to exercise leadership and stand up.... In the final analysis, any elected official worth his salt has to do what he in his heart feels he must."

"Come what may, in years to come, I will always look back and feel that I did what I had to do." Tumultuous applause followed Parkhurst's comments.

The School chairman also received the greatest laughter of the evening when it came time for committeepersons to state positions. Noting the flank of television Robert S. Frank spoke despondently of his difficult decision. During the recently concluded campaign which saw him elected to the board, he had stated he would reconsider his previous leadership support if a "substantial majority" of the voters went against the voluntary education plan.

He said he was unprepared by arguments only 50 percent of the voters went to the polls. He also said some of the anti-Metco literature was misleading and the Finance card misleading.

"But I can't tell what the impact was of either the literature or the postcard. They may well have caused 250 people to change their votes."

He noted that if the School Committee voted in favor of Metco, there will be a fight by opponents which could "even bring down the school system," which he felt was not worth it.

"If I were the swing vote I would vote against," he said. But because his vote wouldn't affect the outcome on the committee, he felt he should stand firm with the rest of the board "and not let them take the flak alone."

Though the committee was meeting for its regular weekly session, the board permitted the public to comment on the Metco proposal. A large number did.

Comments appeared about evenly divided on the issue. Those opposed said they felt Metco too great a burden on the taxpayer, that the committee should obey the will of the electorate through the referendum, that the Finance postcard had no effect and that though only 50 percent voted on the referendum that is the "democratic process."

Opponents also said that Winchester should pay more attention to its own problems. "I am definitely against busing until we can take care of Winchester children," said Beverly Nash.

Metco backers pleaded with the committee to break the bonds of racism, of setting a good example in the Boston area by helping children from less fortunate environments and of confusion on the part of the electorate because of anti-Metco literature.

David B. Mortensen noted that when Metco was considered in Winchester in 1968 the Finance Committee took no position. Yet this year, the board through its postcard "implied Metco was a detrimental influence on the tax rate."

Mortensen said that Finance didn't explain its reasons in the newspaper as it did on the new charter, another referendum question. He said the anti-Metco literature contained "deliberate lies" and added: "Such tactics if accepted by you are likely to con-

No Recall Move--Yet

A spokesman for the group which has been battling Winchester's participation in Metco said this week there is no recall movement in Winchester as far as she knows.

Clara M. Hewis, a member of Citizens for Responsible Education in Winchester (Crew), said published reports to the contrary are in error.

Mrs. Hewis said the Crew board intends to meet over the weekend and decide then what if anything the organization will do.

The Star checked other sources and discovered that as yet there is no drive being organized to recall any members of the School Committee who voted to accept Metco pupils beginning in September.

Mrs. Hewis is the sister of Stanley Hewis, the chairman of Crew. "There are no petitions circulating as far as I know," Ms. Hewis commented.

Both Boston newspapers said there is an organized move in Winchester to recall the School Committee members. Mary G. Pronski, the lone dissenter on the board, told The Star she knows of no such move.

Mrs. Pronski, who does not support recall of her fellow committeemen, said she has had many inquiries from residents but there is no group as far as she knows out seeking recall.

Mrs. Pronski added that the results of the townwide school attitude survey, which contains a question on Metco, should be published within two weeks and will give the committee another tool to judge the community's attitude on Metco.

Metco: 'We'll Stand By Town'

It is "almost a certainty" Metco will follow the wishes of the Winchester School Committee and permit 45 Boston youngsters to be educated in this suburban town.

Metco Associate Director Stephen Shaw told The Star on Tuesday that the council is not concerned about possible hostility in view of Winchester's rejection of a Metco advisory referendum.

LATE ITEM

Winchester OK'd By Metco

The executive committee of Metco voted Tuesday night to include Winchester in their voluntary urban-suburban education program.

Winchester resident Charles Harris, member of the executive committee, said the vote was unanimous of the 10 of the 14 members present.

Harris said Metco Executive Director Jean McGuire "made positive comments about the action of the School Committee and other members of the executive committee spoke very favorably."

Gist of the remarks, noted Harris, was that the Winchester School Committee exhibited "uncommon courage" in voting 5-1 to go ahead with Metco in the face of a referendum recommending against.

The board confirmed the number of pupils requested by Winchester: 45. Approval from the office for equal educational opportunity of the state Department of Education, usually a routine approval, is required next.

Harris said the state must approve the funding.

"Approval is usually routine except if a community asks for too much money."

time." He ended by assuring the committee that no matter how it voted some citizens "will continue to support you."

The Metco order introduced before the committee by Catherine Fallon noted that the legislature has given community school committees "the sole authority to render judgments on matters pertaining to policy decisions in schools."

Mrs. Fallon's order also noted the minimal financial impact on the Winchester taxpayer, the availability of space in the schools, support of the faculty and what she called the "educationally and socially meaningful" result from the program.

Committeeman Robert Pritchard seconded the motion and went on to call the committee's action "representative democracy."

He noted that 55 percent of the voters in Winchester didn't bother to pull a lever on the question. "The School Committee has a responsibility for the educational interests of all the people of Winchester," he said, "not just the 27 percent who voted against Metco. Pritchard went over line by line the anti-Metco literature distributed the Sunday before election and said: "Most of the information in here is misleading."

Pritchard, in addition, went over a list of acts and charges perpetrated against him over the last few months and said: "I don't know how you can expect your School Committee to make sound decisions when you subject them to such pressures."

In his remarks, Committeeman Richard Pharo said: "Elections in this country are not always determined by informed voters." Metco, he said, will cost the Winchester taxpayer two cents a person.

"In the Town of Winchester this is money well spent to help break the cycle.... Concern for our fellow man takes precedence over our pocketbook."

That theme was also struck by Rev. Paul J. Lynch of St. Eulalia's, who urged the committee not to base its decision on economics.

Decisions based on such grounds often lead to "social and moral problems," he said.

School Budget Hearing Tonight

A public hearing on the Winchester school budget will be held tonight at 7:45 in the new Lincoln School auditorium.

The School Committee has indicated an interest in having town meeting members present at the hearing.

The general public is welcome to attend and ask questions.

Recall Legality In Doubt

Town Manager-Search Committee Begins--One Of Charter's Effects

Possible recall of School Committee persons, a plan by the selectmen to appoint a town manager search committee and the naming of a temporary town meeting rules committee are three immediate results of the new charter.

The new charter went into effect last Monday at approximately 10 p.m. when the results of that day's voting showed Winchester endorsing the document 3,210-yes to 2,269-no.

Charter Commission Chairperson Clara Hewis commented to The Star this week on some of the changes Winchester residents may expect to see as a result of their action last week.

For one, according to Ms. Hewis, anti-Metco feeling in Winchester could lead to recall of School Committee officials supporting the program.

Prior to adoption of the new charter, Winchester had no recall provision. (Recall involves citizens obtaining necessary signatures to remove from office incumbent office holders.)

The new charter stipulates that to have a recall referendum 25 names of voters from each of the town's eight voting districts must be obtained. (There are further requirements after that.)

But because Winchester now has six precincts and won't have eight voting districts until after the selectmen redraw the town in December (as provided in the new charter) the new recall provision is of serious legal validity.

Ms. Hewis commented: "It is going to be subject to interpretation."

On Monday of this week the selectmen took the first step toward appointing a town manager to replace their executive secretary by agreeing to come back next week with possible names for appointment to a screening committee.

The citizens' screening committee will recommend three possible names of town managers to the board. The selectmen indicated an interest in getting an attorney, a former selectman, former town officials and former town employees on the committee.

They said they want individuals on the committee and not persons associated with interest groups. For instance they ruled out having a charter commissioner on the committee.

Another immediate result of the new charter is the appointment by the town meeting moderator of a temporary committee to review the by-laws and make recommendations to the town meeting next year.

Then that committee will be replaced with a permanent town meeting committee on by-laws. The only other permanent committee provided for is a committee on rules of the town meeting.

That committee will recommend possible changes in town meeting procedure. The committee on rules will have eight members, each appointed by town meeting members from each of the eight voting districts.

The other committee, the committee on regulations, will also have eight members, one from each district. They will be appointed by the moderator.

Next year's election is set by the new charter as the last Tuesday in March, a change from the present first Monday in March. In addition, the new charter sets the start of the annual town meeting in May.

In addition, there will be two scheduled town meetings a year—one in the first six months of the year and the other in the last four.

To the voter, the new charter will be obvious at next year's election. There will be fewer offices to choose from. Elected boards eliminated are Water & Sewer, Park, Cemetery, Trust Fund.

Elected positions changed to appointed are town clerk, town treasurer, constables. The eliminated boards will serve out the remainder of their terms.

Then the duties of those boards will be combined with a Town Hall public works department under the town manager. Included in that department will be the present Highway Department.

In 1977, the public works department will take over maintenance of school buildings.

Another board to be eliminated is the Recreation Committee, now an appointed body. Its duties will be taken over by the town manager department. The recreation director will report to the town manager.

The independent elected boards are dissolved as of June, 1976. People whose positions will be abolished serve out their terms.

For instance, the School Committee and Library Trustees will be reduced one person each. Instead of voters electing two new School Committee persons next year, however, they will elect one.

Girl Scout Week Features Gallery In Bank Building

The girl scout gallery, located in the Surety Bank Building due to courtesy of the Locatelli Realty Co., will be open to the public on Monday through March 14 from 1 to 4:30 p.m. and on March 15 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Slide shows and information on girl scout summer camps will be given on March 11 from 1 to 2 p.m. and March 13 from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Girl scout cookies will be on sale all week at the gallery and at Renton's Market on March 14 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Other girl scout displays may be seen this week at the Winchester Public Library and in the windows of Fitzgerald Fuel, 36 Church st., and Burns Associates Realtors, 39 Thompson st.

Girl scout week activities were planned by a committee of representatives from each troop with Mrs. Donald Taub as coordinator.

Other adult supervision was provided by Mrs. Robert Watson, ecumenical service; Mrs. George Vrotsos, girl scout gallery and Mrs. Stephen Moore, Winchester Trails service project.

Scouts Invited By Trails Group

All Winchester girl scout troops are invited to participate in a service project for the Winchester Trails, Saturday, March 15. Troops will meet at Camp Joy following the work period for hot chocolate and songs.

Girl Scout Week Kicks Off

Some 500 girl scouts and their families began the observance of girl scout week, March 9-15, with an ecumenical service at the First Congregational Church Sunday.

Mistress of ceremonies Donna Criscione, president of the senior girl scout troop, opened the service with a flag ceremony.

Color bearers were Carey Brown, Linnea Carlson, Mary Grassi. Color guard consisted of Eileen Berkley, Elizabeth Bracken, Judy Center, Susan Ferry, Mary Mahairas, Julie O'Callaghan.

International flags were carried by the following brownies: Michelle Allard, Kimberley Bellino, Lisa DiBlasi, Laura DiChiappari, Alexa Duchinos, Ginny Dymek, Michelle Famolare, Susan Fennell, Dara Fitzgerald.

Also, Julie Gibbons, Sheila Gray, Kate Harris, Kay Huehl, Kathryn Lee, Nicole Mahairas, Rachel Mahairas, Rita Mawn, Kathy Munroe, Maureen O'Halloran, Carol Spiller, Patty Taylor and Daphne Zervoglos.

The theme was "God's Gifts." Carole Friborg gave the keynote speech and said, "The motivating force in girl scouting is a spiritual one."

She talked about what this meant and how it relates to girl scouting—troop meetings, patrol system, hikes and camping trips, learning skills, earning badges, and giving service.

In closing she said: "God has given us so many great and wonderful gifts. The world around us is full of them and every one of us has a wealth of them within."

Girl scouting helps us to become aware of them, to appreciate them and use them wisely, and to discover and develop those within."

Brief addresses were presented by Rev. Walter Davis of the First Congregational Church, Rev. Arthur O'Leary of St. Eulalia's Church and Jeffrey Marx of Brandeis University.

Music was provided by a chorus of senior scouts, Elaine Barger, Joanne Downes, Laurel Samoiloff, Carole Friborg, Grace Grieci, Martha Pacetti, Lisa Durland, Zervoglos.

Cheryl Norris, Anne Pelletier, Judi Lagergren and Donna Criscione. Accompanying guitarists were Judy Courcelle and Dana Wells.

Scouts Depend On Volunteers

Plans are underway for the girl scouting year of 1975-76. According to Sue Sweeney of the Winchester Community Girl Scout Association, "we want to offer scouting to every girl who wants it."

This can happen, said Mrs. Sweeney, with active support from many adult volunteers. While the most urgent need is for troop leaders, especially for junior high school girls, there are many other positions to be filled.

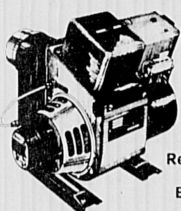

Volunteers do not require background in girl scouting, said Mrs. Sweeney. "Training will be provided for those who work directly with troops."

Further information may be obtained at the girl scout gallery at the Surety Bank Building during Girl Scout Week, March 9-15.

This quilt was made by Brownies at the Ambrose School and is one of many articles on display at the Surety Bank Building for Girl Scout Week.

THE WINCHESTER STAR

Serving The Community For Over 94 Years

Two Metco Views

'We're Contending With Forces Who Will Not Be Conciliatory'

The following is the statement delivered by School Committee Chairman Stephen R. Parkhurst at Monday night's committee session on Metco. (The Star made a transcription of a tape recording courtesy WHSR-FM)

By Steve Parkhurst

I can't remember a question or a decision any more difficult than the one facing the School Committee tonight.

I think we've heard all the arguments for and against since last Monday's vote, some saying stand fast and stick to our guns, others, including a number who have spoken tonight, saying that the people have spoken, that the vote be reversed and that there simply is no use in carrying on the matter any further and that we should devote our attention to other pursuits.

I think I would debate those who have said the school system is troubled, that we have insoluble problems. But this is not the forum to discuss that.

I think this latter school of thought holds also that if the committee persists on its course the school program will be harmed, and the town hopelessly divided for a long time to come.

And it seems to me that the entire issue has been blown completely out of proportion. A program to provide an educational opportunity for 45 black children has stirred the emotions as no other issue has in years or probably since the last time this was discussed in the late 1960s.

It is ironic because if 20 black families were to move here with 45 children, very little if any notice would be taken.

The question really boils down to the issue of leadership and what is the right thing to do. It seems to me that if the committee is to give in on this issue, control of the schools will very quickly pass to any group which chooses to dictate to us on any other educational issue.

We have tried over the years at town meeting and elsewhere in the five years that I have served on this committee to be conciliatory and to effect compromise. But we are contending with forces now who will not be conciliatory and who will not compromise.

Since this is the case, we must use whatever power we have to assure that the educational leadership in Winchester remains where it belongs, and that is with the School Committee.

It may interest you to know that I was initially prepared to vote to rescind our participation in Metco. However, when I was told that unless a statement was immediately made to the local press that the committee would take action to rescind, retaliatory action would be taken against us on our budget and otherwise, I decided that maybe the time had come to stand up to this kind of tactic.

It is a hard choice, ladies and gentlemen. The issue now transcends Winchester itself. The reputation of our schools and our town are at stake.

In the final analysis any elected official, if he or she is worth his or her salt at all, has to do what in his heart he feels is right. I cannot in good conscience vote against Metco. Thirty-three other school committees have voted it in the Commonwealth, and the program has gone well in those towns.

And how many of the towns where the programs have been initiated had it gone to a referendum vote? Not very many. But they did it and so should we.

After seven hours of debate, when all the facts were known, the town meeting supported Metco by 40 votes. And the leadership of the town boards, in addition to the School Committee, have spoken in favor of the program. There was simply no way to present the same facts to all the voters as were presented at town meeting which I am concerned and convinced was a factor in the vote.

Come what may, ladies and gentlemen, in the years to come I will always look back on this occasion as one in which I did what I had to do, and therefore, I will cast my vote in favor of the Metco resolution.

Are Beauty And Intelligence Requisites For Acceptance?

By Pauline Dishmon

The United States is suffering from "an epidemic of inferiority today."

These are words of Dr. James Dobson of a California university. His book, "Hide Or Seek," was recently published.

In an interview on a morning television program recently, Dobson said the value system in the United States is "unjust."

Because of what children are taught by parents, teachers and peers their self images are hindered and they are prey to the epidemic.

As soon as they are able to offer and receive communication, be it verbal or through body language, children learn that society will judge them according to their physical attractiveness and their intelligence or academic ability.

Those who find themselves in the "dumb or ugly" category or both gain an injured self-esteem.

Early experiences, said Dobson, either "stamp in self confidence" or send a child "home in tears."

Bragging over a superchild or expecting more from an underachiever are examples of negative parental behavior, said Dobson.

As early as nursery school, "the most beautiful become the most popular," Dobson said.

Apparently, in his book, he suggests ways that parents might work on helping their children gain accurate and positive self-images.

"Parents should shop for areas where their child can succeed," he said.

While feelings of inferiority cause damage, Dobson admits such feelings are "not all harmful" because they provide "emotional motivation."

"Hide Or Seek" sounds to me like a good book to read.

Speaking of self-images, I saw a good movie Saturday night which I feel illustrates a kind of sickness which may result from a lack of self-confidence.

The movie, "The Steppord Wives," has the men of a modern suburban town going to an extreme in an effort to be told over and over by their wives how great they are.

The story, written by Ira Levin, author of "Rosemary's Baby," has nothing to do with the occult.

Though a part of the story may be considered far-fetched, basically it is an update of an old science fiction plot with a new twist. In many ways it reflects on an individual's striving for recognition.

After seeing the movie, one might say "that's the reason we have a women's liberation movement."

In this story, Levin has done it again. He has written a story which lends itself to meaningful discussion.

Not only does the story deal seriously with husband-wife relationships, it is very humorous especially through lines delivered by actress Paula Prentiss. Much of the dialogue of the women focuses attention on television commercials.

Husbands and wives who see the movie are bound to recognize something of themselves in the characters on the screen. In fact some wives may see themselves in the husbands' roles while husbands may find themselves in the wives' positions... if they are honest.

And all viewers, I feel, will recognize many of the characters as representative of some acquaintances.

I highly recommend the movie.

Patchwork Quill

As of Feb. 1, according to Francis Ryan, director of the Woburn welfare office, there were 74 active Winchester cases of aid to families with dependent children (AFDC) and 18 active cases on general relief.

As reported in a recent Star, in the first 18 days of February, there were five new AFDC applications and two new cases for general relief.

In a town like Winchester with a population of 23,000, "this is very low," said Ryan. Winchester is an "affluent town," he said, adding "but there are some poor people there."

While talking about self images with a friend this week, she brought out a good point—it is not only important that we believe in ourselves but we should learn to recognize and accept what is true about ourselves.

To illustrate her remarks she said she used to stand in front of a mirror sideways and tell herself she was thinner, that people saw her figure as more acceptable and less obese.

By fooling herself, she said, she held herself back from the truth, which after acceptance was not all that painful. The concept of the truth setting a person free not only comes from discovering one's abilities but also in accepting limits. Blondes don't always have the most fun.

Selectman Lawrence T. Smith is concerned that the Board of Health, which has not taken action against the owner of the Winchester railroad station, issued an abatement notice because of deficiencies which are "offensive to the sensibilities of the town" and which are a nuisance.

Deficiencies, as described at a meeting among selectmen and Board of Health members in January, are graffiti, debris, insufficient lighting, standing water and repairs needed on the sidewalk approaching the main ramp.

The Solid Waste Disposal Committee, after meeting with selectmen this week, will be obtaining an estimate and conceptual design for a transfer station from the C. E. Maguire Co. to present to town meeting the end of this month.

Also this week the Finance Committee agreed to approve $200,000 out of the stabilization fund to pay for a transfer station. According to Vartkes Karaian, chairman, this is a guess arrived at after "talking with consultants and trying to be as realistic as possible."

Do taxpayers realize it costs nearly $4,000 for the Finance Committee to produce and mail the annual pre-town meeting report to the citizens of the town? Let's hope they don't treat this material like direct mail and leave it into the waste basket before reading it.

The new charter, according to Mrs. Hankins, does not require the Finance Committee report to go to all residents, only town meeting members. This will be a savings to the town. However, the report will be available to non-town meeting members in public places such as the library.

Let's Put Metco Behind Us, Town Meeting Coming Fast

I had intended writing that headline over this column no matter what the outcome of Metco Monday night.

In these days when no one believes anything anyone is saying, I suppose no one believes me. I probably should have had my headline notarized.

But in any case, there has been enough abuse, enough name calling, enough pressure placed on individuals and groups (including this newspaper) to last quite a long while.

Metco has been passed by the School Committee. That's final. There is serious question whether the recall provision in the new charter is legal until the new voting districts are established at end of this year.

In addition, there is serious question whether state law permits citizens to recall members of their school committees. Remember, school committees are autonomous bodies. No one has veto power over their actions.

It might also be helpful to remember that last week's referendum was strictly advisory. The School Committee was not legally bound to obey the electorate.

The members of the board showed strength and courage, integrity and honesty when they voted according to the dictates of their own conscience and not the whims of the crowd.

I for one was proud of my committee members and happy to be from Winchester following Monday's vote. The members have been under great tension due to voters trying to convince them of one side or the other that I wonder how long they can keep it up.

And now to consider instituting recall proceedings against them! Just unbelievable. Even when recall is likely unacceptable by law.

I prefer to look ahead instead of back. Let's put Metco behind us now and say it is over and done with once and for all and get on to other things.

All of those people who have suddenly become interested in their town government because of Metco should try and sustain their interest. The community would benefit.

There are several town organizations to join. There's the League of Women Voters (which accepts men), the Republican and Democratic town committees, the Jaycees and others which get involved in town affairs.

There is also a new group—Act—which is trying to do something to improve the town's public transportation. Notices of meetings of these groups appear in The Star frequently.

Watch for them and go to a meeting to see if it matches your interest. Let's hope so.

Some of the other things the town must concern itself with are the school budget and town meeting, which begins the 24th.

The Planning Board has an important sign by-law which deserves the support of the town. Though the by-law is strict, it is also reasonable and will help a lot in cleaning up the town as far as visible pollution due to signs is concerned.

Replacing the town incinerator with a transfer station and implementation of the new charter are two other issues deserving of attention that have been neglected recently due to public concern with Metco.

Let's see if we can now get back on the track.

"Hurry up. Hurry up." The Police Department appealed to the Fire Department Tuesday night on the two-way radio.

A police officer had called in for a fire truck to put out a car fire on Aberjona drive.

Police Officers James Gallant, John Alford and Lawrence Hill will be terminated from the department next week because of the civil service commission ruling against local departments permanently appointing men not from their approved listings.

Alford, Hill and Gallant are well liked on the department. Gallant has been through this routine before.

The Winchester Police Department will leave open the positions of the three officers, according to Lt. John McHugh, until the department will really need to fill them when the vacation period begins in May.

In the meanwhile, the department has asked civil service for another list in the hopes Hill, Gallant and Alford are in different positions.

Lt. McHugh said the officers have a fine record, they want to serve on the Winchester department and the Police Department wants to keep them.

It is hoped residents of the town will not quickly dispose of the School Department budget summary mailed out this week (at least not if you intend to complain about the budget later in the year).

Some people have been clamoring for this information, which is contained in an eight-page booklet which shows comparison of school expenditures with other towns, staff and faculty salaries and enrollment statistics. It's chock full of tasty tidbits for those with the time to digest.

'Strong Town Cooperation Necessary For Good System'

The following is a statement written for The Star by Mary G. Pronski, member of the Winchester School Committee, in response to Monday's vote reaffirming earlier committee support of Metco.

By Mary Pronski

I find the action of the Winchester School Committee at the meeting of March 10 inexcusable. It is incredible to me that the committee voted to implement the Metco program when the referendum clearly proved that a majority of the voters (61 per cent of those voting on the question) were opposed.

It has been said that Metco is a voluntary program. For whom? If the majority of the voters expressed their wishes that they did not wish to participate, why is the program being forced upon them?

A good school system is based on many necessary ingredients in addition to administrators, teachers, curriculum, texts and equipment. First of all, there must be strong cooperation from the community.

There must be financial support of the taxpayers obviously. But beyond that there must be an enormous amount of voluntary manpower available to assist the School Department at all levels.

In order to have this kind of support, the townspeople must have confidence and trust in its school committee. I am afraid that the action taken Monday night will affect the educational process in Winchester. If we lose the financial and physical support of the people, then the erosion has commenced.

I also believe that there will be many hidden costs attached to the program and if we sincerely wish to protect the autonomy of school committees across the Commonwealth, then those committees must not act as dictators.

It was stated at the meeting March 10 that if the Metco question went to referendum in the various communities participating in the program, the results would be similar to those in Winchester.

Such action will not be tolerated indefinitely by the voters, and eventually that autonomy will be lost.

Finally, I think that it was presumptuous for the Winchester School Committee to conclude that 3,482 voters of this town were either misled or uninformed when they went to the polls. And I believe the committee should have been responsive to their vote.

I would suggest to my colleagues that they refrain from signing the Metco contract until the results of the attitudinal survey are tabulated and received by the School Committee.

It is my understanding that all contracts must be signed by the majority of members of the committee before they become legal and binding. If the survey results concur with the referendum vote, then Mr. Noble, Mr. Frank and myself will have the opportunity to negate last Monday night's action.

I can assure you, I will continue to vote and act on this issue as I have from the beginning—with the majority of the voters.

Anti-Metco Leaflet Just Plain Dirty

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

March 2 there was left at my house a leaflet captioned "Metco Vote NO! on Question 3."

I believe this to be the first example of the application in Winchester of the technique of distributing material at best only half true and at worst wholly untrue on the eve of an election so the facts cannot be presented.

I voted for and strongly support Winchester participation in Metco. I write this letter before the polls have closed and therefore without knowledge as to the outcome.

I am deeply distressed that those people who have honestly and forthrightly opposed Metco and have stated their reasons have been besmirched by this use of half truth, untruth and innuendo.

Take the assertions concerning Brookline and Milton.

The leaflet asserted that, "In Brookline, the Metco program cost $714,065."

In fact, this is the overall Brookline per pupil cost, including debt services, multiplied by the 240 Metco pupils in Brookline.

The office of the superintendent of schools in Brookline advised me that the sprinkling of 240 Metco pupils through the 6,000 pupil Brookline school system has not added one cent to the Brookline taxpayer except for a few dollars per pupil for pencils, paper, similar supplies and text books.

The leaflet quoted state reimbursement to Brookline as $223, 837 but did not say that of this amount $140,000 is paid to support a program which benefits the entire Brookline public school population.

The leaflet said that, "In Milton the per Metco pupil cost is $2,008."

In fact, of schools in Milton, this is the per pupil cost for secondary school pupils in Milton.

There are 12 Metco pupils in Milton. The year's state payment to Milton on account of these 12 children is $13,689.

In Milton and Brookline, Metco expenses, including coordinator's stipends, are paid out of special non-appropriation accounts into which the state payments are deposited.

Many people have urged that political campaigning in Winchester be made both more extensive and more intensive. The anti-Metco leaflet was neither extensive nor intensive; it was just plain dirty.

Be Informed Now, Not Surprised Later

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

On Tuesday, March 4, the Parkhurst Parents' Association board met to discuss the proposed school budget. We addressed a letter to the School Committee expressing our hope that quality education for our children would not be sacrificed for short-term economies.

Your School Committee has gone through many months of review in pulling together the educational budget for the next school year. Many areas in this budget are extremely tight and you, the public, should be aware of what your school budget is and what effect this will have on your child's education.

We strongly urge town meeting members in particular and all other interested citizens to attend the open meeting where the school budget will be presented and discussed. The meeting will be held on Thursday (tonight) at 7:45 p.m. at the Lincoln School. Be informed now rather than surprised in September!

Margaret A. Wiseman, President
Parkhurst Parents' Association Board

Wheaton Group Expresses Thanks

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The Lexington-Winchester Wheaton College Group wishes to thank all who supported and assisted with its eighth annual wine tasting on March 5.

This group is particularly grateful to Mahoney's Rocky Ledge Farm and Nursery for the use of its facilities. The greenhouse provided a lovely setting for the benefit affair.

Vote On Metco Set Civilization Back

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Civilization took many heart-breaking steps backward when the people of Winchester voted no on the Metco issue.

Forty-five little children of God whose souls are the same color as our own, were denied our education, or our love, our welcome.

Another town-another people will receive them willingly. It will be our loss and their gain when they do so.

I have lived in Winchester for 10 years. My children were grown and therefore did not benefit from our excellent school system.

But gladly did I pay the school tax, knowing that one of the most important things we must do is to educate our children-not only academically but also to help them search for the truth so that they in turn can help to build a saner world to live in.

The no vote shows our children a sad example of the world as it is.

Elisa Ercolo Ercolini
22 Englewood Rd.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

We cannot leave unanswered the anti-Metco piece distributed by "Citizens for Responsible Education in Winchester" just prior to the election.

With no time for rebuttal, Crew, which failed to identify itself, heaped misleading half-truths and inaccuracies on the Winchester voter.

We feel obliged to set the record straight and insist that the School Committee recognize the influence this handout undoubtedly had on the vote.

Item: Contrary to the Crew handout, the School Committee is not committing your money. No money is committed that is not reimbursable.

The School Committee is not "committing your children" to anything other than going to school with black children. If that is the opposition's problem, why don't they say so?

Item: Brookline and Milton are reimbursed for every cent they have requested to support their Metco programs. Some communities have chosen to request less than the reimbursement to which the state entitles them. Our School Committee, however, is asking maximum reimbursement.

Item: The salary of the Metco coordinator is fully reimbursable by the state; it may or may not be $14,000—the amount is set by the School Committee. It is untrue to state that there are no qualifications for the position.

Library Films

March 16-18

"The Blacksmith" is an old Buster Keaton comedy of Buster fitting shoes on finicky horses who create hilarious problems for him.

"The Magic House" is a fantasy about children who are tired of chores and resent family interference.

"Moonbird" is an imaginative film of two small boys who venture out to catch the "moonbird".

On Sunday afternoon the family program is held in the story hour room of the junior library beginning at 2:30.

It is requested that at least one adult accompany each group of children. Tuesday afternoon's program at 2 p.m. is for school age children.

Alcoholics

Anonymous

Every Monday night at 8:30 p.m. at St. Eulalia's Church, 50 Ridge St., there will be a meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous. Everyone is welcome.

Item: Contrary to the Crew handout again, should the Metco program not remain remain in Winchester—for whatever reason—the position of Metco coordinator would be eliminated from the personnel structure.

The person occupying that position, if on tenure, would be retained only if he or she held a teaching certificate in some other curricular area and wished to displace a non-tenured person in that area.

Item: The funding of the Chapter 766 special education program and Metco are unrelated. In the six years of state funding, no Metco community has lost a penny of reimbursement.

Item: If Dr. Pharo did indeed state in executive session on Jan. 13 that Metco "is a social and emotional problem," the Metco opponents would seem to give considerable support to that contention by their eleven-hour actions.

Item: It is unfair to accuse the School Committee of not "seeking your opinions" when there has never been a more exhaustive and exhausting debate on an issue since Winchester last considered Metco.

Item: The contentions that "22 per cent of our secondary students are not being reached by the curricula" and "your children's SAT scores are steadily declining" are irrelevant to the Metco question.

Citizens for "responsible" education indeed! This piece is an affront to the political process, an affront to those who honestly sought information on an issue and an affront to the intelligence of the voters of this community. We hope the School Committee sees it for what it is.

Mother Of Five Returns To College, Finds Herself Accepted By Students

By Sally Applegate

Virginia Hoefling of 156 Forest st., housewife and mother of five, has joined a national movement.

This fall, like mature women all over America, she went back to college. She is earning a BA degree at Bradford College in Haverhill.

What happens to a woman when that magic moment she's been waiting for finally arrives, and her youngest child walks off to get on a school bus? Virginia Hoefling has five boys, and she had been waiting for years.

"I sat at home and felt miserable when he got on that bus. I couldn't believe myself! That was when I really started thinking: Now what are you going to do with the rest of your life?"

She met Vincent Hoefling when they were both at Fordham University in New York. Over the years they collected a family of five boys.

The youngest, Stephen, is now 16 and a sophomore at a Boston preparatory school. Frank, 17, is at Bunker Hill Community College. Charles, 19, is finishing prep school; and Raymond, 21, takes night studies in banking at Northeastern University.

Richard, 22, will be getting his degree in finance from New York University this spring. Oh yes, and Virginia Hoefling, age 43, will receive a BA degree in urban studies from Bradford College six months later. She smiles at the thought. "You can see I'm committed to private education."

During the years the boys were growing up, she often thought about returning to school but never found a program she considered worthwhile. Last April an ad in The Wall Street Journal for the urban studies BA program at Bradford College sounded perfect.

"I showed it to Vince, and he said, 'Apply. This is for you.' It really excited me, and I thought I had gotten to the point where I was too old to be excited about anything."

"I started at Bradford in September. When I walked across their campus I felt 20 years younger. Most of my classes were with the younger students, and they're great kids. I was really accepted as a person."

"Hearing I was back in school, so many people said to me, 'Oh, what an adjustment! That must have been awful!' Well, I never felt it was any kind of an adjustment. It was just so natural. I enjoyed the teachers. I enjoyed the kids."

"At home everyone in my family helped out and chipped in. You know, kids will help you when they know you depend on them. "Even the drive up turned out to be easier than I had anticipated — 35 quick minutes up

Rte. 93, heading north against traffic in the morning, and south against the traffic at night."

BS candidate Virginia Hoefling of Forest street is hard at work in library of Bradford College. (Photo by All Hall)

Growing up in New York City is what finally led Mrs. Hoefling into urban studies. "I know New York has changed. I still love it. Cities offer opportunities for life that are not present anywhere else. Our children need to live with people from all social classes, from all races, and I don't see it happening anywhere but in the cities."

"I think the cities can come back, and I see the urban studies program as a vehicle to help them come back," Mrs. Hoefling feels that lower property taxes in cities would encourage families to remain. She hates to see elderly people being forced out of the cities "for their own good."

"Too many old people are being taken out into the fresh air suburbs to 'live the good life' with their prosperous children, and they don't like it, but they don't know how to say no."

"Old people who used to walk down to a center to meet all their old friends in their home city, who used to enjoy walking to their neighborhood church every Sunday, find themselves transplanted to a suburb where everybody rides, and to a church where they know no one."

"They often live alone all day in their well-meaning children's homes, since everyone is away working or in school, or visiting their own friends. They lack human contact. It's a rarefied nursing home."

The youth of the city have their own special problems, and here is where Mrs. Hoefling's main interest lies. "I would like to see the penal code in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts reformed. A minor can be put away for things that would never imprison an adult, like truancy, or being an obstinate child."

"I don't think the penal code will be reformed by anyone except a lawyer. That is my ultimate goal, to become a lawyer and help work on a project that would reform the penal code."

Mrs. Hoefling will finish her 15-month program in December, after studying straight through the summer. She will then

She hates to see elderly people being forced out of cities 'for their own good' enter Suffolk University Law School in Boston, and start working toward that ultimate goal.

She enjoyed coming back to the small college atmosphere of Bradford. "The campus is beautiful, and that helps. Everyone is so approachable, from the president right on down the line. If you want to see them, you can see them, on the day you want to see them."

"It was so good for me to come back. I'd like to encourage other women to come back. Some women say, 'I could never take more than one course, I've been away so long.' Well, you can do that, but I think it is exciting to take on an entire college program. It gives you a real responsibility, and a sense of getting someplace, so you devote your time to it."

"Try it. Come with a commitment to learn, and you will learn more than you could have imagined. You will gain an insight into your own teenage kids by going to school surrounded by youngsters."

So spoke Virginia Hoefling, looking like a bit of a youngster herself.

'Our children need to live with people from all social classes, all races'

WHS Students Are Merit Finalists

Six students at Winchester High School recently received certificates of merit through the National Merit Scholarship Corporation in recognition of their final standing in the 1975 merit scholarship competition.

They are Jay Enstad, Mary Galante, Jeffrey Hobbs, Elizabeth Kennedy, Stephanie Littell and Susan Vitka.

Finalists, comprising less than one-half of one percent of the country's graduating secondary school seniors, will be announced in May.

Sheehy Son

Mr. and Mrs. Brendon M. Sheehy (Elizabeth Moran) of Andover announce the birth of their first child, a son, Brendon Mark, born Feb. 25 at Winchester Hospital.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Moran of 103 Wildwood st. and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sheehy of Belmont.

Open Meeting To Deal With Delinquency

The Winchester League of Women Voters in conjunction with its study of the Massachusetts court system is holding an open meeting for interested citizens on Wednesday evening, March 19, 7:30 p.m. in the Winchester Public Library.

Marie Kargman, lawyer, sociologist and marriage counselor, will present her views on family courts and how best to deal with the growing problem of juvenile delinquency.

Mrs. Kargman has served as a public defender at the Chicago Boy's Court, has done research at the Massachusetts Mental Health Center, and is chairman of the governor's advisory council on home and family.

Author of articles in professional publications and frequent guest on television and radio, Mrs. Kargman has produced family life programs for Channel 7. A marriage counselor for over 20 years, she has become concerned with the growing number of family-related problems.

Priscilla Baumann, chairman of the league's administration of justice committee, is in charge of the meeting. Meri Jordan, hospitality chairman, will serve coffee before the meeting. The public may attend.

Mark Daughter

Dr. and Mrs. Eugene J. Mark of 8 Winslow rd. are parents of their second child, first daughter, Laura Louise, born Feb. 26 at Winchester Hospital.

Grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Steven J. Mark of Kent, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Wilson of San Francisco, Cal.

Office For Children Will Be In Winchester

A community workshop was held at St. Charles Auditorium recently by the Mystic Valley Council for Children in an attempt to assess the needs for children's services in the six-town area, (Arlington, Lexington, Burlington, Wilmington, Winchester, Woburn).

Acting as child advocates, the Mystic Valley Council for Children is also mandated by the state to review and recommend proposals for funding. Each spring money is allocated from the state to spend on programs that the Council determines to be a need. Once funded these programs are also monitored and evaluated.

After an explanation of the general function of the Council by the Community Representative, Bob Good, the audience was divided into individual workshops so that members of the community could voice their problems, concerns and needs. The workshops and their leaders were as follows:

"Your Child and Chapter 766"—Jerome Lynch, assistant superintendent of Woburn Public Schools; Adolescent Needs—Robert Cohen, Group Social Worker, Arlington Youth Consultation Service;

Unmet Health Needs—Nancy Earsy, Health Advocate; Day Care—Karen Butters, Director of Children's Center in Woburn.

The workshop was concluded by the coordinator of the Mystic Valley Help for Children Program, Alan Malatesta.

He explained the individual advocacy function of the program and the availability of information and referral services.

As of March 17 the Mystic Valley Council for Children and the Help for Children Office will be located at the First Congregational Church in Winchester Center.

A Review

Princess Captures Hearts

By Lisa Contompas

Princess Winnifred the Woe-be-gone not only "swam the moat" she captured the hearts of all who attended the musical, "Once Upon A Mattress," this past weekend.

Winchester High School's Curtain & Cue, with the fine backing of the music department, performed to capacity crowds both Friday and Saturday nights, in addition to a Thursday afternoon audience.

The plot revolves around the idea that the fairy tale version of "The Princess and the Pea" does not tell it like it was. The minstrel (Jay Addison) tells us that this version does and he should know, because he was there.

The court of King Sextimus the Silent (Jim Graves) and Queen Aggravain (Laura Parkhurst (fri.), Monique Phinney (sat.) is quite upset.

The Queen has declared that no one shall marry until her son, Prince Dauntless, (Jeff Hobbs) shares his marriage bed.

But first, she must find a bride suitable for her "darling baby boy." She gives the prospectives a test in various categories, but turns them all away.

It appears that Dauntless will not marry until these girls' sisters grow up, which looks especially bad for Sir Harry (Dale Bearden) and Lady Larken (Lisa Jeffery, (fri.), Anne Fairbanks (sat.). They have just discovered they are soon to be father and mother. Harry decides he had better go out himself to find the right girl for Dauntless, so that he and Larken may be married.

This is when our heroine, Princess Winnifred (Beth Parsons (fri.), Amy Anderson (sat.) comes in, or rather swims in, via moat. The entire court takes to "Fred," especially Dauntless, who delights in the fact that she swam the moat.

The Queen, needless to say, hates the girl and seeks out the Wizard (Steve Toomajian) to devise a test that "sound fair, looks fair, seems fair, but isn't fair." They hit upon the idea of sensitivity. They will place a single pea under 20 downy mattresses. If she cannot sleep because of it, then she is a true princess.

There are some fine singing numbers in the show, performed well by the members of Curtain & Cue. Especially memorable were "In A Little While," a duet by Dale and Ann or Lisa, "Shy," a solo by the leading lady, and "Song of Love," which had the audience in stitches.

A personal favorite was the "King, the Jester, and I," performed by Jim Graves, Jay Enstad, and Jay Addison. It was sung by the latter two, and pantomimed by the former, who is mute as a result of a witch's spell. Jim's facial expressions kept the audience laughing throughout the show.

Jay Enstad, as the jester, performed an enjoyable number, "Very Soft Shoes," in which he reminisces about his vaudeville father. (By the way, how did Deborah Anderson, the faculty director-advisor convince the boys to wear tights?)

The audience enjoyed a bubbling, steaming cauldron, thanks to special effects. The sets reproduced a convincing medieval castle. The set changes were quite frequent, but the actors and orchestra covered nicely for this.

The story was cleverly introduced and summarized by a ballet danced by Winchester High School students. And, yes, Winnifred does pass the test, with a little help from her friends. After all, who can sleep on top of a pea (and a mop, and a bucket, and a mandolin...)

Alison Brown
Ralph DeConto
Plan June Rites

Mr. and Mrs. Philip G. Brown of Scotia, N.Y., announce the engagement of their daughter, Alison Nancy, to Ralph Andrew DeConto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Edward DeConto of Stevens street.

Miss Brown, an alumna of Burnt Hills Balston Lake High School, New York, was graduated summa cum laude from Green Mountain College where she was treasurer of her class, a member of Phi Theta Kappa and listed in "Who's Who In American Junior Colleges."

She is a candidate for a BA degree with honors, in elementary education, from Boston College in May.

Mr. DeConto attended Austin Preparatory School in Reading, Winchester High School and East Coast Aero Tech School in Lexington. He is a candidate for graduation in May from Cape Cod Community College where he is majoring in law enforcement. He is employed by the YMCA in Hyannis as a swimming instructor.

A June 7 wedding at St. George's Episcopal Church, Schenectady, N.Y., is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. O'Neil of 9 Chisholm rd. are parents of their second child, first son, Jeffrey Paul, born Feb. 25 at Boston Hospital for Women. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur V. Cavagnaro of West Somerville and Mrs. Anna C. O'Neil of Medford.

Candlelight Rites

Ruth Salter Is Bride Of Paul Martin Honke

The Parish of the Epiphany Church was the setting for the recent marriage uniting Ruth Salter and Paul Martin Honke.

The 4 p.m. candlelight rites were performed by Rev. John J. Bishop and Rev. Ralph B. Putney. A reception followed in Hadley Hall of the Parish of the Epiphany Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Salter of 3 Wedge Pond rd. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin T. Honke of Washington, D. C.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her sister, Mrs. Kendrick W. Lentz of Winchester, was matron of honor.

Martin T. Honke, father of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers included the bride's brother, Thomas P. Salter, and Kendrick W. Lentz, brother-in-law of the bride, both of Winchester.

After a wedding trip to St. Petersburg, Fla., the couple is at home in Bethesda, Md.

The bride, a graduate of Winchester High School and Northeastern University, was an English teacher at Coolidge Junior High School, Reading, before her marriage.

Her husband, a graduate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, is an engineer with the Department of Transportation in Washington, D. C.

St. Patrick's Day Tea Features Belleek, Cake

By Elizabeth
Star Correspondent

"Sure an' you'll stay for a fine cup o' Irish tay."

And stay I did to accept the invitation delivered in the rich Irish brogue of the old country to attend an Irish tea party one fine St. Paddy's Day.

The green candles were lit on the Irish linen-covered tea table belonging to Miss Doretta McManus, a retired kindergarten teacher.

Long active as a national and state officer in the ladies auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, she once served as national historian and has continued her interest in research on Irish customs.

Our hostess poured mild imported Irish tea into tiny shamrock decorated cups from her extensive collection of both antique and modern Belleek china.

Miss McManus was enthusiastic when she described her collection of the world's most delicate china. "It's not much thicker than cream when it is poured into a mold," she said.

The clay which goes into the making of this fine ivory china is gathered near her ancestral home in County Fermanagh, where she traced the registry of her family name to about 1070.

Originally starting with a gift cup and saucer, she has added hundreds of pieces of Belleek to her collection. She has found many rare and unusual findings by prowling through antique and second hand shops in Irish cities as she travels.

Smith Club To Show
'Fahrenheit 451'

Wednesday at 8 p.m. the Winchester Smith College Club will present "Fahrenheit 451" at the Winchester High School auditorium.

Proceeds will benefit the Smith College scholarship fund.

The science fiction movie features Julie Christie, Oskar Werner and Cyril Cusack.

Tickets may be purchased at Mill Pond Travel, 10 Converse pl. through Elizabeth Freeman or at the box office.

Fruitcakes, shortbreads, tea pastries, scones and crumpets and other goodies with British Isle overtones were served on Belleek and Waterford plates.

Seedcake is a classic found in many variations all over the isles. This version claims authentic Irish origins.

Irish Seed Cake

1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground allspice
1/4 cup butter
1 teaspoon caraway seeds
1/2 cup dried currents or raisins
1 cup mashed potatoes
2 large eggs, well beaten

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, salt and allspice. Rub in the butter.

Add caraway seeds, currents and mashed potatoes, mixing well. Add eggs.

Place in well greased flat pan (8 by 8 inches) and bake in preheated hot oven (425 degrees) for 30 minutes.

Cut into squares and serve hot. Makes nine pieces.

Writer, Theologian Will Discuss American Ethics

Catholic theologian, writer, editor and teacher Michael Novak will present the final lecture in the winter adult education series "Windows of the Mind: Six Views," Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Winchester High School.

Novak's provocative subject will be "Ethics in America?" or "When the Saints Go Marching Out."

A prolific writer, Novak is the author of 14 books, including "The Experience of Marriage," "A Theology for Radical Politics," and "The Rise of Unmettable Ethics."

His articles on religion, politics, philosophy, and ethics number in the hundreds, and have been published in "Commonweal," "America," "Critic," "The New Republic," and numerous other magazines.

He has also served as contributing editor of "The Christian Century" and "Christianity and Crisis," and as Associate Editor of "Commonweal."

Novak's educational background includes an AB degree from Stonehill College, a BT degree from Gregorian University in Rome, and an MA in the history and philosophy of religion from Harvard. He has also been awarded several honorary doctorates.

He has taught at Harvard, Stanford, Old Westbury, Carleton College, and Union Theological Seminary, and was voted a "most outstanding" professor and one of two "most influential" professors by senior classes at Stanford in 1967 and 68.

Most recently Novak has served as consultant on the humanities at the Rockefeller Foundation.

The "Windows of the Mind" lectures are sponsored by the Winchester Interfaith Education Committee and Winchester School Department and School Committee.

They are open to the public at a minimal charge. Senior citizens will be admitted free.

Rev. Davis To Preach Sunday

Rev. Walter B. Davis will continue his Lenten sermon series Sunday at the First Congregational Church. This week's topic will be Spirit and Church.

Worship and church school classes for nursery through grade 6 will be at 10 a.m. Children attend the first part of the service with parents, then go to their learning areas after a children's talk.

Following church service an adult education seminar will be held in Chidley Fireside. A discussion on the world food crisis will be led by Robert Ericson, Ruth Kelley and Emily Chandler.

A "2nd Hour for Children" will begin with refreshments at 11 a.m. This will be followed by a creative activities time for children of all ages. Choir rehearsal for grades 2-6 concludes at noon.

The youth chorus for grades 7-9 will rehearse at 5 p.m. Lenten Family night will follow.

From 6-8 p.m. the third in a series of total church family Lenten nights will be held. Participants are asked to bring bread, cheese, fruit and beverage will be provided.

Kindergarten children will sing grace. Live drama will be given by the Forum. This will include family participation and discussion. The junior choir will entertain.

At 8 p.m. the Inquirers Class for Friend of the church will meet.

Members of the Forum and Nonagon are sponsoring a ski trip Saturday. This is open to all church families. Contact Jon Dayton or Rev. George W. Easton to make reservations. They report more are needed for "our group discount."

St. Mary's 9th

Graders To Meet

On Tuesdays

In an effort to provide a more meaningful course of study, St. Mary's office of religious education, surveyed ninth grade students enrolled in the religious education program.

Based on the survey results, some changes are being inaugurated.

The overwhelming majority of students request a 1 1/2 hour class every other Tuesday. Therefore the next class will be March 18 from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Students will assemble in the parish hall promptly at 7 for a showing of the film "I Beheld His Glory."

The film has been chosen based on the survey result which indicated students are interested in the man Jesus and the Bible.

A discussion period will follow in classrooms with individual teachers.

Cool foods before you put them in your gas or electric refrigerator. It takes more power to cool foods in the refrigerator than it does if you let them cool down to room temperature first. Place your refrigerator against a cool kitchen wall. If it is next to a range or other heat causing appliance, the cold food storage appliance must work overtime. Your gas range pilot light is most efficient if you regulate the flame height until it is blue with just a trace of yellow at the top. Always keep the assembly clean.

Belgian Art On Exhibit At Congo. Church For Lent

The Vinton Room of the First Congregational church will be the location of an art exhibit during Lent.

On display will be the complete set of pictures depicting the stations of the cross, given to seven Winchester churches by the country of Belgium as a token of friendship.

The story goes back to 1944 when Col. Hanlon from Winchester was billeted with the 502nd Regiment of the 101st Airborne Division in Hemroulle, Belgium awaiting battle. Snow had fallen and to make camouflage for his men Hanlon asked the major of Hemroulle to provide sheets to cover the dark uniform of the paratroopers.

The Hemroulle citizens gave up their sheets, about 500 in total, and enabled the Americans to be successful in their mission. Hanlon promised the villagers their sheets would be returned.

In response to this promise, the Hemroulle Friendship committee was formed. Over 500 sheets were collected from the townspeople in Winchester and Hanlon delivered them in person to Hemroulle, Belgium after the war.

In 1951 Dr. Albert E. Navez, Consul of Belgium in Boston, presented each of the seven Winchester churches a picture. Those churches were: The First and Second Congregational churches, Crawford Memorial Methodist, First Baptist, Parish of the Epiphany, Unitarian church, St. Mary's church.

The entire collection may be viewed through the end of the month during hours the church is open.

Members of the art exhibit committee are: Mrs. Nancy Van Roosen, Mrs. Laura Cochran, Mrs. Muriel Penna, Mrs. Mary Lou Eugley and Mrs. Mary Gay Deskin.

Rev. Storer To Preach Sunday

Rev. Robert A. Storer will preach Sunday at the Unitarian Universalist Church, 478 Main st., on the topic "For Adults Only."

The sermon deals with the need to recognize that life at best is brief and must be treated as a school every day. A discussion period will follow.

Storer recently returned from Texas and Florida.

In San Antonio he assisted with a production of "Anastasia." Silent film star Pola Negri coached the women in the cast.

Those churches were: The

JV Hoopster Record 9-11

The junior varsity basketball team of Winchester High school coached by Cliff Wheeler ended the season recently with a record of 9-11 (9-9 in the league).

The record, however, is not a true indication of the performance of the team. Seven of the losses were by six points or less. The team, comprised mainly of Sophomores, showed tremendous improvement over the year, due mainly to hard work and a lot of desire.

There were two real highlights during the year. The first was defeating Lexington at Lexington 85-74 after losing to them previously by 33 points.

This ended Lexington's 38 game winning streak. The other highlight was defeating Woburn 64-53 in the last game of the year after having lost to them earlier by 24 points.

The scoring was led by Dan Heffernan, who totaled 241 points in 19 games for an average of 12.7 a game. The rest of the scoring was evenly divided by about 10 players averaging between four and nine points a game.

Defense and hustle were keys to the JV's success along with a tremendous team togetherness as 12 to 13 players saw considerable action each game. This experience should prove invaluable for next year's varsity team.

The point scoring found the Sachems getting 1171 for an average of 58.6 per game to 1218 and a 60.9 average for the combined opposition. They had a fine 57 percent shooting record from the foul stripe.

Girls' Gym Team Has 6-3 Record

The girls gym team at Winchester High School ended the season with a 6-3 record.

Four girls qualified to compete in the state individual championships. They are Lee Costello (senior), floor exercise; Dolly Porter (junior), balance beam; Kim Shawcross (junior), uneven bars; and Jean Edwards (sophomore), balance beam.

According to senior and head manager Ann Lyon, the girls did a great job this season and realize they will miss seniors Francis Patti and Sally Burrows, co-captains; Lee Costello, Sue Higgins and Sue Vitka.

"But the team has strong sophomores and juniors," says Ms. Lyon, and "Winchester looks forward to another winning season with juniors Andy DeSanctis, Mimi Began, Dolly Porter, Kim Shawcross and sophomores, Cindy Blanch, Lauren Cummings, Kitty Smith, Jen Edwards and Martha Cresse.

Manager Lyon thanks Martha Paceth for her assistance.

The individual scoring records of the players who played in more than half the games were:

	G	FG	FT	TP	Av
Jim Burns	20	70	32	172	8.6
Rick Pearl	20	32	15	79	4.0
Tim Powers	17	33	28	94	5.5
Bob McCabe	18	23	3	49	2.7
Fred Jones	14	45	15	105	7.5
Dan Heffernan	19	68	105	241	12.7
Ken Swanson	20	59	29	149	7.4
Scott Swanson	19	4	5	13	0.7
Jim Oldach	14	30	3	63	4.5
John McCarthy	18	28	13	69	3.8
Mike Bergin	11	35	13	83	7.5
Jack Nolan	14	1	0	2	0.2

Others who played in just a few games included Bill Tunnicliffe, John Hogan, Jerry Polcari, Peter Santo, Nells Von Gemeren, and Todd Cronan and Wayne Mills, who played with the varsity team.

Parents, Faculty Play Basketball On April Fool's

On April 1, at 7:30 p.m. in the Winchester High School Gym, the Parent Faculty Association will hold an April Fool's celebration, a basketball Funtastic.

This game will feature the faculty playing against the parents. Proceeds from the event will be used to support extra-curricular student activities.

Clifton Wheeler of the WHS faculty is coordinating the faculty team.

The PFA is looking for parent players. Contact Lane McGovern at 12 Dartmouth St., Truman Dayton at 1 Ardley pl., Joan Bird at 8 Lawrence St., or Phyllis Williams at 18 Mystic ave. and let them know what position you play best, says Roberta Levinson of the association.

Little League Registration

Winchester Little League will hold its annual registration of children who plan to enroll in the baseball program this Saturday at Winchester K of C Hall from 9 to 12.

Any child who will be at least 9 years old, and no older than 15, on Aug. 1 is eligible for Little League play in either the senior, major or minor league level, depending on age and ability.

Information sheets and registration forms are available at the Winchester Sport Shop, the Winchester Hobby and Toy Shop and Renton's Market.

Ed Pierce of 53 Thornberry rd., sophomore and accounting major at the University of Connecticut, Storrs, Conn., recently played defense at the lacrosse game against Washington and Lee. He has played on the Huskies varsity hockey team.

DeMaio Named Tri-Captain

Steve DeMaio of 8 Laurel Hill la. was one of three Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Me., juniors recently named tri-captains of the Polar Bear 1975-76 varsity team.

Unable to wrestle most of the past season because of an injury, DeMaio won three out of four matches in the 152-lb. division.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. DeMaio, he is a graduate of Browne & Nichols School, Cambridge.

Pee Wee A's Finish In First Place

The Winchester Youth Hockey Pee Wee A's finished the season in first place and won the divisional championship, the first time a youth hockey team achieved this honor.

The team has been coached by Jack Noble and Bill Ferry.

Team members include: Jay Berardi, Steve Bosco, Joey Donlon, Brian Donnellan, Eddie Ducharme, Billy Ferry, John Ferullo, Ned Fortin, Janny Hines, Justin Kermond, Jerry Kimball, Jeff Lavey, Steve Noble, Mark Ockerbloom, Jeff Stackpole, Steve Sugrue, Jim Surette and Marshall White.

A banquet for the boys and their parents is planned for March 25.

Early Birds

In Early Birds bowling, the Starlings, Jane Johnson, Jackie Wert, and Carmella Clemente, recently earned first place.

The Penguins, Michelle Ferrera, Ann Matrondola and Joan Ferrari, earned second place.

Bea Tonello had high game, 172, and high series with 450.

The Sparrows and Eagles tied for high three games with 1233.

Winchester Speedskaters Win Silver, Bronze Medals

Several Winchester boys and girls, members of the Northeastern Speedskating Association, recently traveled to Pittsfield to compete in a speedskating championship meet.

The races were part of Pittsfield's 31st annual winter carnival.

There were 225 youths from the eastern part of the USA and Canada who competed for honors.

John Boyle of 28 Garfield ave. competed in the midget boys class, ages 10 and 11. He won two silver medals and one bronze.

He tied for second place with the 1974 National Champion from Baltimore, Md.

The championship went to a Canadian who nosed out Boyle by two points in the final event.

Mary Boyle, in her first registered meet, competed in the pony girls class, ages 8 and 9.

Also competing in the pony girls class was Laurie Glynn of 20 Churchill rd. This was her first registered meet.

Robbie Glynn, competing for the first time in the pee wee boys, ages 6 and 7, was the winner of a bronze medal.

Nancy Monteith of 22 Clematis st. competed in the midget girls class, ages 10 and 11, in her first attempt at a registered meet. She came away with four ribbons.

The skaters relaxed at the indoor swimming pool later and enjoyed a pizza party.

The youths all attend the George Washington School.

Clinic Conducted For JV, Junior High Players

Winchester High School basketball coach Vandy French and his assistant Cliff Wheeler conducted two days of basketball clinics during the February vacation.

The clinics were for junior varsity players and junior high school players.

Major offensive and defensive skills were stressed by the coaches. The boys worked on these skills in drill sessions and in games.

The coaches were impressed by the enthusiasm and ability of the players. The following participated in the clinics in addition to this year's JV team:

McCall players: Don Allard, John DeGrotte, Joe Sprague, John Waite, John Barcus, Mark Landry and Chris Landry.

Lynch players: Glenn Mills, Brian O'Connor, Al Pointes, R.J. Brosnan and Mark Vernaglia.

Stevenson Awarded Varsity Letter

Mike Stevenson of 65 Nelson st. was recently awarded his second varsity letter in hockey at Norwich University, Northfield, Vt.

A center on the Cadets' first line this season, he scored 26 goals and had 27 assists, for 53 points, the second highest point total on the NU team.

A 1971 graduate of Winchester High School, he was an all-New England goalie in soccer last fall. He is majoring in biology at the military college.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Stevenson.

Ice Skating Races Scheduled March 16

Bernard Boyle of 28 Garfield ave. is vice-president of the Northeastern Skating Association, Newton, which is holding ice skating races for youngsters in the metropolitan area in conjunction with the MDC recreation division on Sunday at 2 p.m.

This is the seventh annual metropolitan novice speed skating championship. It will be at the Cronin MDC Revere Rink.

Prizes will be awarded to first, second and third place finishers in each final event. Trophies will go to the high point winners in each of the 14 divisions.

Registration will be at 1 p.m. Sunday in the rink lobby. There will be a fee.

There will be two final events for each class. Heats will determine who will skate in final events.

For more information contact Bernard Boyle.

Squirt Lions Split Games

In two recent contests the St. Eulalia Squirt Lions downed the Billerica A team 5-0 at Billerica High School and dropped a 6-1 decision to the Wakefield AA squad at Melrose Hockeytown.

Jim D'Antonio got the Lions going early in Billerica when he scored from Greg Diffley and Andy Guleserian.

Diffley followed with a goal, assisted by D'Antonio and Joe Sciacca.

The score rose to 3-0 when Tim Keaveney found the mark with assists from Tim Casey and Steve Dionne.

In the second period Diffley registered his second goal from Mike Griffin who closed out the scoring with an assist from Diffley.

For the remainder of the game the Lions were content to protect their lead and preserve a well-earned shutout for goalies Jackie Davies and Chris Hoffman.

In the Wakefield game a combination of sloppy defense in the St. Eulalia end and some inaccurate shooting at the Wakefield net turned the score of a relatively even game into a one-sided 6-1.

V-O Apple Jacks Remain First

In the Vinson-Owen bowling league, the Apple Jacks took six points and are now solidly in first place.

Jean Day took high single with 108 and Anna Pierce and Jean Day tied for high triple with 282.

The Sugar Smacks took high team single with 355 and Apple Jacks took high team triple with 1017.

Strikers at the last session were Mary Hackett, Lee Arsenian and Florence Giangrandy. Angie Lionetta got five spares, two in a row.

Joining the 100 Club this past week were Jean Day with 108 and Maria Dulchinos with 100.

Letters From Readers

Teachers Work 42½-47½ Hours

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

This letter is a continuation of our March 6 response to a comment about teachers on Feb. 27. In that letter I represented information concerning Winchester teachers' salaries in relation to cost of living and what constitutes a teacher's work load primarily on the secondary level.

In this letter I would like to inform the editor and readers as to what makes up an average work week of a teacher on the elementary level.

During the instructional 30-hour week, the average elementary teacher conducts classes 21½ hours; spends 1½ hours supervising recess activities; has approximately 2½ hours that can be used for planning if his or her presence is not required when a teaching specialist (art, music, phys. ed.) is present; has 2½ hours for lunch; and has 2½ hours on most Tuesday afternoons for the scheduling of the following activities: scheduled workshops, curriculum meetings, remedial work for students, conferences with specialists (speech, reading, counselors, learning disabilities), report card and other parent conferences, principal's meetings, team planning and teacher preparation.

The average elementary teacher puts in 7½ hours before and after school performing duties similar to those of secondary teachers. In addition to this most teachers put in, on the average, another 5 to 10 hours preparation time outside the professional day.

The elementary teacher's work week then adds up to a minimum of 42½ to 47½ hours, not including the continuance of professional studies etc. Obviously, this is well above the 30 hour week alluded to in the column. I do hope this will inform and enlighten the public as to the role of the elementary teacher in Winchester.

Frances Allou Gershwin, President
Winchester Education Association

TMM Names Were Lost Or Ignored

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

First, let me congratulate your newspaper for being responsible for the unusually large turnout of voters in our town election.

Your comments, good and bad, served to incite and breakdown somewhat the normal apathy of our town elections. I feel you helped most candidates by pointing up the issues.

Second, although it may seem like sour grapes, unintentionally, some of our "best" TMM candidates failed to get elected:

The alphabetical listing of names, causing the alignment of voting machines to drop candidates names into the lower level, was very evident in this last election, when, for instance, Jack Noble, in Prec. 5, who won top honors for School Committee, and Ed O'Connell, in Prec. 4, failed to make it as town meeting members!

Winchester voters seem to start from the left and push the first levers they come to until the mechanism stops them after voting the number of vacancies indicated.

With the exception of Dick Maggie in Prec. 1, all defeated candidates for town meeting member were either the last names on the top line, after the first 11, or were relegated to the second or third line, where they were "lost," or ignored by the voters.

It is my understanding the new town charter specifies that names positions are designated by "lot" where there is more than one candidate for an elected position.

If so, there is no constructive point to making an issue of it for the next election, or any election conducted after the charter is in force.

My sympathies are for the "lower echelon" of last names. Perhaps we should hope that, next time, the first shall be last!

James R. Stewart Jr.
7 Winslow rd.

Pro-Metco People: Look To Future

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Shock, deep embarrassment for Winchester and a terrible vague fear for what this means in terms of the environment in which we are raising our children—these are but a few of the reactions which the many, many people who worked for Metco must now somehow deal with.

What we dared to hope would not happen has happened, and if any good can come of it we must now search for that, for our own sakes but moreover for the sake of this community.

Above all we must keep alive among ourselves, and communicate to the larger community beyond Winchester's narrow limits, the clear realization that the voices of reaction, timidity and insular self-interest which carried the day do not speak for all of Winchester.

There is a growing, thriving body of people here—young and old, newcomers and life-long residents—who are no longer bound by the ultra-conservative tenets of old-line Winchester politics.

This Metco decision is a sad and discouraging blow for many, but we must look to the future with reason and hope and this community will become a much healthier place in the future.

Faith Waltman
34 Rangeley rd.

Finance Card Misled Voters

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

We regret the decision of the Finance Committee to vote unfavorably on the Metco question and to notify the entire community by postcard of its action.

In light of the Finance Committee's statement at town meeting to the effect that Metco had no impact on our local tax rate, we are at a loss to understand why the Finance Committee felt compelled to make such a recommendation.

If it was acting upon a legal obligation to do so, why couldn't the statement have been "no recommendation" as it was for the Beano question?

Since there was no attempt by the Finance Committee to qualify the recommended NO vote, either on the card, or in The Winchester Star just before the election, we feel the voters were seriously misled on this very sensitive issue.

You cannot underestimate the effect of an official communication from the "Town of Winchester, Finance Committee" received in every home. It is therefore impossible to judge the Metco vote without taking this into consideration.

We hope the by-laws will be changed under the new charter so that this will not happen again.

Mrs. Lewis Thompson

Same Battle For Different Reason

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

We wish to make this a mutual letter for brevity only.

Both of us were opponents of Metco purely for the following reasons. Busing is not the answer to desegregation or education and is financially unsound.

The Star indicated that Mrs. Constance Papas ran her campaign on an anti-Metco platform. This is not so and we wish to take issue with that statement.

Mrs. Papas, a member of CREW (Citizens for Responsible Education in Winchester) ran her campaign on this basis only. We are not members of CREW nor do we wish to be considered as such.

We found ourselves in the same corner fighting the same battle for different reasons and merely joined hands for mutual aid.

Our contact with CREW and Mrs. Papas indicates to us that for the mutual benefit of Winchester we may often in the future be found battling shoulder to shoulder from the same corner but for different reasons.

No Two Transportation Systems Are The Same

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

With regard to your observation in the Feb. 20 edition of The Star that there is a group in Winchester considering the possibility of getting a mini-bus system operating here, and the Chelmsford Dial-A-Bus is somewhat similar to that proposed for Winchester, I must state that is not the case.

If our group has a primary purpose, it is to prevent what is happening in Chelmsford from happening here.

Presently, we are developing an action plan. This plan is far from complete.

I do think that I can safely state that our initial efforts will be directed towards a definitive assessment of the transportation needs of Winchester.

After we have a comprehensive picture of those needs, we will attempt to design a system which will satisfy them. Obviously it is impossible to predict now what form that system will take.

Based on planning guidelines available to us, it is most unlikely the Chelmsford program will be successful. Chelmsford has neither the population density nor the large generators which are thought to be necessary.

In addition, though this is fairly easily changed, the Chelmsford service is not operated during the peak demand periods.

It is essential that your readers understand that each demand-responsive transportation system must be designed for its service area and no two systems are the same.

★ Charter

The budget has been a major area of revision. The new charter provides that the town manager start preparing his budget 120 days before the start of town meeting.

By March 1 he must have the budget in the hands of the Finance Committee. (Dates and number of days can change according to the town meeting wishes.)

Charter Chairman Hewis expects no "turmoil" in town government. "The only noticeable change is the town manager."

"By the end of this year the town manager will have some authority we haven't had before." The elimination of some elected boards is the only other noticeable change, Hewis said.

Probably not of great interest to the public will be the notice of the budget which must be given to the public in advance of town meeting.

Selectmen Take Steps To Hire New Town Manager

With the passage by Winchester voters of the new town charter, selectmen will be taking steps to hire a town manager.

Monday night they decided to appoint a screening committee of at least five residents to seek out candidates for the post.

In making their plans, selectmen made it clear they want to have a committee which will work "completely independent of selectmen."

The committee, they feel, should include an attorney, a former selectman, former public officials from various town boards and a former town employee.

Selectman Lawrence T. Smith and selectman-elect Barbara Hankins, who was in attendance and asked by chairman Vito Giarrizzo to offer input on the subject, felt that a member of the Charter Commission should also be on the committee.

Selectmen Arthur E. Dunbar and John J. Sullivan disagreed stressing the need for a completely separate body. "We want no controversy," said Sullivan.

Selectmen said they will seek assistance from the Personnel Board in establishing a salary range for the town manager position.

Giarrizzo said he feels the selectmen's budget should include travel and advertising expenses for the screening committee in carrying out their job.

He directed each selectman and Mrs. Hankins to return next Monday with at least two names of people who might serve on the screening committee.

The committee, they concluded, will be charged to solicit candidates, review their qualifications and conduct interviews. They will finally offer three names to selectmen who will make the final selection.

Beano

In anticipation that the electorate might approve Beano for Winchester, Edward Donnelly, executive secretary to selectmen, was ready with information on the state Beano licensing procedure.

He noted all authorizations and paperwork for Beano games are handled by the Massachusetts Lottery Commission.

Applicants for a license must obtain application forms from the Lottery Commission by contacting the Beano Division at 15 Rockdale st., Braintree. Such forms must be returned to the Beano Division.

Final approval for licensing will be handled by the Division.

There is an annual fee of $50. The Lottery Commission sets and receives all fees.

After all these steps are taken, applicants must obtain approval by the local licensing authority, which in Winchester will be selectmen.

Application is then mailed to the Lottery Commission for final approval. The actual license is delivered to the requesting organization by lottery personnel.

Discussion revealed that no one-day licenses for Beano will be issued.

Veterans Agent

Members of veterans organizations met with selectmen Monday night to convey their displeasure that John O'Hearn of Medford, administrative assistant in the selectmen's office, is serving as interim veteran's agent, a post O'Hearn accepted following the death of Daniel Doherty.

Principal spokesman for the veteran's organizations was John Collins, member of the VFW.

Collins said Winchester veterans "need advice from someone who is familiar with their problems. World War II veterans need more attention."

He said a veteran's agent should be a Winchester resident and a veteran himself. He should have "empathy" for veterans covering a 50-year span. This includes the Vietnam War veteran who is the "most abused," he said.

"We need a person who is mature, who has gone through similar experiences, who is aware of veterans' problems," said Collins.

The veterans groups "would like to offer our candidates for the job," said Collins who stressed the agent should be available "fulltime."

Chairman Giarrizzo assured the veterans that O'Hearn is a veteran and on duty fulltime at the Town Hall. Though part of his time is spent on workmen's compensation, veterans work is to take priority.

Giarrizzo, who said the appointment of O'Hearn is temporary, noted selectmen are not only following the law they are adhering to the "spirit of the law."

Giarrizzo said the matter "is still under investigation" and assured Collins that before a permanent appointment is made, the job will be posted.

Dean's List

James W. Blackham 3rd, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Blackham Jr. of Canterbury road, is on the dean's list at Boston College.

He is a senior in the school of management. He attended Winchester High School and is a graduate of the Windchendon School, Windchendon.

Flames roar through steeple of First Unitarian-Universalist Church in Arlington Center last Friday. Church was destroyed in blaze caused by workman's torch. Winchester firefighters helped at the scene. Winchester police officers directed traffic in the center.

Youth Hockey Adds Midgets To Spring Play

Tryouts for Winchester boys who wish to play in the Middlesex League spring hockey league will be this week.

The league will play six games at the Burlington Ice Palace.

Midgets will report to Coach Tony Celli at the Arlington MDC rink on Saturday at 7 a.m. Midgets are boys born in 1959 and 1960.

Mites will report to Coach Ken Binding at the USA Rink in Winchester on Saturday noon. (Boys born in 1967, 1968, and 1969.)

Squirts will report to Coaches Alan Ross and Ken Donaghey on Saturday at 1:10 p.m. (Boys born in 1965 and 1966.)

Pee wees will report to Coaches John Falla and Jack Noble next Thursday at the Gore Street MDC Rink in Cambridge at 7 p.m. Second tryout for pee wees will be at the USA Rink in Winchester on Saturday, March 15, at 2:20 p.m.

Bantams will report to Coaches Paul Mahoney and Bill Coppins at the USA Rink in Winchester on Saturday, March 15, at 3:30 p.m.

Helmets must be worn by all candidates. A nominal ice fee is charged.

Boys are asked to report one half hour early to allow time for registration.

PWP Plans 2 Activities

The Minuteman Chapter of Parents Without Partners will have two activities this month.

On Sunday at 8 p.m. the monthly meeting will be at the Unitarian Church in Winchester.

This is the annual election meeting.

After elections there will be a wine and cheese social.

A "spring fling" will be on March 22.

The Tony Alvino Trio will play from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

For more information call Nancy Strader of 35 Myrtle ter.

INTRODUCING

Hurlbert Buick-Opel

IN LEXINGTON

Paul Hurlbert, owner of Hurlbert Datsun-Peugeot in Reading, is now a full-service Buick-Opel Dealer, also. Mr. Hurlbert has recently purchased "COLONIAL BUICK", a Buick dealership which has been in business since 1928. So, in a way, Hurlbert Buick-Opel, the area's newest Buick-Opel dealership, is really one of the area's oldest Buick-Opel dealerships. That means that you, the customer, can now have the best of both worlds.

Paul Hurlbert opened his Datsun dealership in Reading just four years ago. Within 18 months, Hurlbert Datsun was the top selling Datsun dealership in Massachusetts. And last year, Hurlbert Datsun outsold every other Datsun dealer IN ALL NEW ENGLAND.

We're not sure we can make Hurlbert Buick-Opel the top selling Buick-Opel dealer in New England, but we're sure going to try. How? By offering our customers better operating hours, better service, better deals and guaranteed customer satisfaction. Let's face it . . . it's a rough, tough economy and we're new at selling Buicks. You just know we'll try harder to please you. (By the way, it'll be a couple of weeks before we get our new signs up. So for now look for the sign: COLONIAL BUICK when you visit us.)

Scenes From Committee Meeting

Speaker appeals to School Committee during Monday's meeting in the auditorium of Ambrose School, next to Sanborn House. About 400 persons listened intently to the 3 1/2 hours of speeches by committee persons and members of the public. (Photos by Arthur MacDonnell)

Committee person Catherine Fallon introduces resolution calling on Winchester to accept 45 primarily black Boston children for education in town's schools.

School Committee Chairman Stephen R. Parkhurst (right) is congratulated by resident for his vote in favor of Metco. Following committee vote Monday, spectators formed a line to shake hands with committee members.

FIRE, POLICE REPORTS

Breaks Continue; Drivers Go Without Paying For Gas

There were several breaks this week in Winchester.

On Sunday there was a break at 25 Squire rd. Articles taken were a strong box, jewelry worth $1000 and a portable radio.

On Saturday there was a break at 61 Lorena rd. Pillow cases were stolen and guessed to have been used to carry off an 18-piece sterling silver set and jewelry.

There were several breaks at Parkview Apartments. Stolen were cameras and equipment, binoculars, credit cards, a color television set, a woman's leather coat, cash and two guns: a 25 Colt automatic and a 22 high standard revolver.

According to Police Lt. John McHugh, all units entered were near the elevator.

On Friday there was a break at 542 Washington st. A camera was taken.

The Old Colony Gas Station and D. Homs's Esso Station both reported drivers requesting gasoline and then driving off without paying.

At the Old Colony a middle-aged man drove up in a Cadillac and left without paying $8.38. At the Esso station, two youths in a Buick received $10 worth of gasoline without paying.

Thursday police responded to a call that a car was on fire at 92 Lawson rd. The vehicle belonged to a Stoneham resident who was notified.

Also on Thursday there was a fight on Rangeley road involving a Woburn youth who was accosted by Winchester youths while he was making a delivery for a market.

On Saturday a Pilgrim road resident complained about neighbors fighting. Police responded, knocked on the door of the neighbors and received no answer. They remained in the area. All was quiet.

There was a call from the Winchester Public Library Saturday that there were jimmy marks on a rear door leading to the children's section of the facility.

While walking with her granddaughter this week, Mrs. Viola Pratt of Wendell street had her purse stolen by a young girl who was described by witnesses as "very pretty." Police checked the area but were unable to find the girl.

Last Thursday afternoon a Harvard street resident complained that eggs had been thrown at her house on two occasions.

There were broken windows this week at Muraco School, Ambrose School and in the vicinity of the Vinson-Owen School.

One bike was stolen this week and two stolen cars were recovered.

Winchester firefighters' chief responsibility this week was offering mutual aid to Arlington when the Universalist Church of that town burned to the ground.

On Monday they gave mutual aid to the Woburn Fire Department for three hours when there was a fire at the Barker Lumber Co.

Local firefighters responded to a few residents experiencing flooded basements in the Thornberry rd. and Carriage la. vicinities.

There was a car fire at 10:37 p.m. on Aberjona drive Tuesday.

There were also two false alarms, one on the Winchester-Woburn line while firefighters assisted at the Barker Lumber fire; the other at Main and Salem streets on Tuesday.

Voke Program Has Everybody On Skates

Through the efforts of the physical education department at Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School and the cooperation of MDC officials at the Saugus ice skating rink, a good many more skaters will be gliding on the ice next winter because of what they're learning this season.

H. Edward White, who heads the physical education department and serves as Northeast's athletic director, initiated the novice ice skating program.

"Physical education is more than calisthenics or tossing a basketball around," White asserts, "although these things are necessary, too." But he looks at physical education in a larger sense - "as a learning experience."

In the past two years, White has attempted, with apparent success, to engender enthusiasm for physical education among the students by instituting unique approaches to the regular program.

"I don't want to be innovative for the sake of innovation," he explains. "I want the students to really learn that physical fitness can be a means of enjoyment as well as a practical experience."

So last year it was an "everybody-in-the-pool" program, where the students learned some valuable lessons in simple water rescue techniques to be applied in summer and winter.

This year it's an "everybody-on-skates" exercise, and surprisingly many of the students had never tried this pleasurable simple sport before. A lack of opportunity as well as a lack of money being the main reasons, White explains.

"More and more public skating rinks are available now than ever before, so the opportunity has increased. But to take advantage of the opportunity, ice skates are needed, and that takes money."

When he started the program which takes groups of students to the MDC rink in Saugus three times a week, White discovered that many didn't own and never owned skates. "It was obvious they couldn't afford to buy them."

So White contacted Domenic Jeffrey, Wakefield businessman, active in the Wakefield Youth Hockey Association, who provided skates for these youngsters, and the lessons began.

Chris Querze, left, of Winchester is among hundreds of students from Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School learning the basics of ice skating as part of the physical education program. Instructor Dennis Bisso lends a helping hand.

Not all were complete novices, and instructors Dennis Bisso, Richard Kelliher and Christine Corkum worked with them in groups and individually, depending upon need.

Some are concentrating on improving skating skills so that they might be able to play hockey.

Others are concentrating just on staying upright until their feet can learn to obey mental commands long enough to glide along the ice with reasonable assurance.

Any Peggy Fleming or Bobby Orr types in the group? "Maybe not," White smiles, "but for all of them skating is no longer a spectator sport."

Senior Choristers Will Make Debut

The Winchester Seniors Choral Society will make its first public appearance at Metcalf Hall, Unitarian Church on March 17 at 1:30 p.m.

A musical program in the spirit of the day will be provided under the direction of Mary Ranton Witham, assisted by Betsy Ewing.

The choral group organized in November, 1974, has been invited to entertain at the March meeting of the Winchester Seniors Association. Singing music on an Irish theme, the following choristers will participate: Sarah Horne, Gertrude Berquist, Eva Morrow, Claudet Forsman, Dorothy Kaulbach, Gertrude Fitzgerald, Caroline Joslin, Leonor Rich, Marion Wright, Sabina Brandt, Beth Tremberth, Louise Griffiths, Justine King and Betsy Ewing.

Lisa Jeffery, soprano, Zo Zerwith, flutist, and Michael Cammarata, violinist, all high school musicians, will combine with the seniors in producing the lifting music of Erin.

William W. Jeffery, a popular lyric tenor and musician, will sing a solo and lead the audience in singing Irish melodies. Because the program will appeal to all ages, the general public is invited.

Selectmen Plan Tour Saturday

Winchester's Board of Selectmen will conduct an orientation tour of town facilities on Saturday morning.

The tour will begin at Town Hall at 9 a.m. At 9:45 participants will go to the highway garage on Lake street.

At 10:15 the tour will continue at the water and sewer shop, also on Lake street.

From 10:45 until 11 a.m., Wildwood Cemetery will be the focus of the tour.

And from 11 to 11:30 a.m., participants will visit the central fire station.

The main purpose of the tour is to give town meeting members an opportunity to learn how some of the major town departments operate. The public may also attend.

At the highway garage, water and sewer shop and central fire station, town members will be able to view equipment which is to be replaced and be given reasons why.

Town Seal

Selectmen accepted the advice of town counsel Douglas Randall and rejected a request from Michael H. Berlow of Myron Berlow Home Accessories to reproduce the Town Seal on a six-inch metal plate to be sold at the shop.

Selectmen are concerned that Winchester service station operators failed to attend the recent Planning Board hearing which focused on the proposed sign-by-law. Even though the meeting was posted, advertised and publicized in The Star, "they probably didn't know about it," said Arthur Dunbar.

Karaan To Lead Board Of Health

Vartkes K. Karaan of the Winchester Board of Health was named by his associates to be chairman for the coming year.

Other board members are Dr. Lawrence F. Quigley, N. Bruce Hanes and Dr. Warren J. Taylor, who was appointed board of health physician-agent.

Niblock Son

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Niblock of Winchester are parents of a son, Andrew Wells, born Feb. 14.

Few Objections Voiced Over Board's Proposals

Small attendance and little dissension marked the Planning Board's public hearing last Thursday night. Chairman Michael Boodakian told 35 persons his committee wanted to "get comments, take them into consideration, evaluate them, and make a report at town meeting on March 23" on Swanton street rezoning, zoning by-law amendments and 21 new sign by-law.

Planning Committee member William Cummings said the rationale behind Swanton street rezoning is to "limit further growth on Washington street, bring lots and zoning lines to a logical conclusion and into clear focus."

Article 25 would make all business lots on Swanton street from Washington street to the river on the south side (150 feet back) general residence except for the corner on Holland street which will remain business.

Also excepted is the area from Washington street to Nino's Market, which will stay business.

On the other side of the street, the area from Holland street to the bridge, would stay residential except for the hardware store and the opposite corner where the old bakery was. According to Chairman Boodakian the area has not expanded since 1924 and there is little point in it remaining business.

Joseph T. Margrabia Jr., owner of Jo-Mar Corp., 7 Spruce st., and Joe Forrester, owner of the barber shop next door, were critical of the proposal.

According to the proposed rezoning, their area would become residential while their businesses would remain under a non-conforming rule.

According to Margrabia this non-conforming waiver would have him and Forrester "locked right in with its restrictions regarding the base of operation and expansion."

Under the waiver the businesses would not be able to expand and the owners, if they wanted to sell, would have to sell to the same type of business. Margrabia resented the fact that Nino's Market, Swanton delicatessen and the hardware store would remain untouched.

"This would result in a tremendous economic impact for me. I bought the land in good faith and had projected the future growth of my company when I purchased it."

Since the railroad is directly in back of his property he questioned the worth of the building as a private home anyway.

Chairman Boodakian noted that Margrabia and Forrester's predicaments were "isolated cases" and suggested they contact Town Engineer John Garcia or the Planning Board.

Noreen Arcari of 23 Nelson st. voiced objections to Section 9 of Article 25 which proposes "to change land which is situated 150 feet from the southerly side of Swanton street from an existing general residence district to a general business district."

The proposal changes the land, presently zoned for 150 feet back from the street, to 200 feet back. "This would bring it back to the yards of several people on Oak street," explained Mrs. Arcari. She said this would entice large businesses to come to the area while residents "would have no say as to who the land would be sold to. This way it is less attractive."

Planning Board secretary Otto Schaefer Jr. conducted the hearing on 13 proposed by-law amendments.

Primarily technical corrections, only Michael Saraco of 34 Farrow st. found fault. He took exception to the Planning Board's intent to defer amendment 8 referring to Section 6.25 of the zoning by-law adopted last year.

Section 6.25 states the Board of Appeal may deal with the "side or rear" of a building; Amendment eight deletes those words, automatically including the front of a building under the board's jurisdiction. Saraco, who wants to enclose his front step because "the weather comes in when I open my front door," said this deferment prevents him from approaching the board.

Planning Board member William Cummings conducted the part of the hearing dealing with the proposed sign by-law.

According to the by-law no sign may be placed or altered without a sign permit issued by the building inspector.

It will consider as a sign virtually anything which conveys a message. Exceptions include government buildings, hospitals and other charitable organizations.

The by-law would prohibit free standing signs, billboards, and moving signs (except time and temperature signs), any sign over 300 square feet in area, any sign extending more than 12 inches over a street or sidewalk, any sign attached to a pole or tree and all political signs except at a candidate's headquarters.

Also banned would be gasoline revolving signs, roof signs and any sign projected more than 12 inches from the face of any wall or above the highest line of the main roof of a building.

Nor will the by-law allow a sign to be placed as to cast reflection on any dwelling building or unit, interfere with traffic because of its location shape or color, or be confused with or obstruct the view of an official traffic sign, signal or marking.

There are included in the proposal provisions for maintenance of signs. Other provisions deal with unused signs, signs for professional people, for sale and for rent signs, contractors and real estate signs.

No store would be permitted more than one sign unless the store has another entrance. In such a case a secondary sign may be erected but it will not be permitted to exceed 50 percent of the maximum permissible size of the sign on the store front.

In industrial zones where a building has more than one occupant each tenant may erect one sign. But total footage of all signs may not exceed 10 percent of the footage of the building front.

No sign may be lighted between midnight and 6 a.m. except those for police, fire stations and Winchester Hospital. This includes interior signs shining through windows or doors.

Signs erected before the proposed by-law becomes effective must comply with the law within five years. All signs erected after the by-law must comply immediately.

One exception to the compliance requirement is that all signs must be made to comply with the illumination provisions of the law within a year of the law's adoption.

Cummings, who noted the Planning Board had met with the Board of Appeal and the Finance Committee said Planning added two amendments.

The first, dealing with the prohibition of free standing signs, will allow doctor and home business signs over one or two feet (it has not been decided which).

The second is in regard to allowable signs, Section IV, Number 1: One non-illuminated sign displaying the street number of name of the occupant of the premises or both, not exceeding one square foot in area and mounted flat against a wall of the principal building.

According to the Planning Board's amendment, "and mounted flat against a wall of the principal building" will be deleted to include, say, mailboxes.

Selectmen Reluctant To Act On Town-Owned Properties

Selectmen met recently and voted 3-2 to support "unfavorable action" on the sale of any town-owned properties at the present time.

The motion, made by John J. Sullivan, received support from William Chapman and Lawrence T. Smith. Voting against the motion were chairman Vito Giarrizzo and Arthur E. Dunbar.

Recalling that the December special town meeting rejected the board's study and recommendation to make $32,000 in repairs to town-owned properties, Sullivan said "too short a time" has gone by since then. He feared a "hasty decision" until a thorough study is made.

Sullivan and Chapman agreed that "a lot of homework" has to be done on the disposition of the properties and to determine if they should be restored, demolished or sold. Giarrizzo reminded selectmen of the tenor of town meeting "to get out of the real estate business."

Town engineer John H. Garcia presented a written report to selectmen on the subject. He noted that seven properties are located in the conservancy-institutional district and will, have to be considered for rezoning to a residential district. The one exception would be 26 Highland avenue.

He suggested that drainage easements be retained on the 26 Highland avenue property because the easements handle the overflow from the reservoir during the rainy seasons.

He further suggested possible right-of-way and easements for utilities for the back land on the 22 Highland property.

This week the School Committee and Planning Board communicated with selectmen concerning the town-owned properties.

The School Committee voted to notify selectmen they have no further interest in properties at Fletcher street, adjacent to Wyman School; at 10 Marshall rd., adjacent to Mystic School; at 22 and 26 Highland avenue at 5 Alben st. and 6 Reservoir st., all near the Washington School.

They also said they have no further interest in the Low property on Alben street and the property shown on Winchester Plan of Land, Aug. 22, 1970, also known as McCall parcel 7504.

The School Committee noted that while they recognize they have no jurisdiction over future use of these lands, they recommend selectmen retain the Assembled Homes property at 22 Highland and the Low property as a conservancy area.

The Planning Board indicate their desire for selectmen to sell to the general public the land and properties at 5 Alben st., 6 Reservoir st., and 22 and 26 Highland avenue.

They further recommend that "only adequate land to meet zoning requirements be retained with 22 Highland avenue and that it be sold only after the town's litigation has been resolved."

Other Matters

Selectmen appointed Ruth Larson to be assistant treasurer-collector, effective March 4. This appointment was made on the recommendation of Carol A. Thomas who recently was elected treasurer-collector.

"Ladies Home Journal" contacted selectmen recently asking them to give certain information about Winchester as one of several suburban communities featured in a forthcoming article, "America's Most Successful Suburbs." If town officials chose to enter Winchester for possible selection, they were expected to send information by March 15 covering community pride, community physical attractiveness, housing, businesses and services, transportation, local government, community services, taxes, criminality agreed not to accept the offer inasmuch as the "timing is inappropriate."

Stop & Shop Moves Forward With Mall Plans

Stop & Shop representatives and Winchester town officials are reaching an agreement to pave the way for the supermarket chain to build a proposed shopping mall on Cullen land in the Cross-Swanton streets area.

After public hearings and additional meetings among members of the Planning Board, Conservation Commission, Water and Sewer personnel and selectmen, Stop & Shop officials met with selectmen Monday night to review final plans.

A major concession by Stop & Shop is their giving the town title to the Aberjona River area presently zoned as "general residence" district.

There will be drainage easements granted to the town at no cost, construction of drains by the developer will be at no cost to the town, and Stop & Shop has agreed to place wings on the Swanton Street Bridge over the river to facilitate water passing under curves in certain roadways to inhibit speeding.

They will thin trees near the river's edge and make provision for landscaping to make their project attractive.

They have promised to instruct drivers of trucks going to and leaving the site not to use Loring avenue. John D. McCarthy of Stop & Shop said that 90 percent of the trucks delivering to the area will be Stop & Shop's own vehicles. River street will be the main access route to the mall, said Stop & Shop officials.

Stop & Shop has also agreed that a fence along the river will have at least two gates providing access for the Fire Department personnel and equipment in case of emergency.

John D. McCarthy, Stop & Shop attorney, will be drawing up a final "letter of understanding" with a plan attached after Stop & Shop architects and town engineer John Garcia meet soon to iron out minor unresolved questions.

Early arrival of Canadian geese brings out young couple and their dog last Friday at Wedge Pond. Twelve of the geese arrived at 8:46 a.m., according to Bill Conlon of the Water & Sewer Dept. They are three weeks early this year, sign of an early spring, Conlon says. (Photo by Arthur MacDonnell)

Maple Road Relocation Moves Ahead

A construction firm is now staking out the location for the new Maple road next to Winchester Hospital.

The road is being relocated to permit the hospital to expand its facilities. In a letter to the hospital's neighbors last week, Administrator Reese E. James said:

"The plans and specifications for the relocation of Maple road have been approved by the town engineer and the contract has been awarded. Frank Reago & Sons, a local construction firm, was the successful bidder out of eight firms invited to bid on the job."

"The firm is presently in the process of staking out the exact location of the new road. We have asked Mr. Reago to carry out the project with a view of saving as many trees as possible."

James also said in the open letter that the hospital has offered the shrubbery and plantings from around the homes to be removed to George Washington School on Highland avenue.

He said the school principal has accepted the offer, which will "further improve the landscaping of the school building."

The letter continued that plans for construction of a new electrical distribution room have been completed and will go out for bids this week.

"We expect that construction will begin sometime in the middle of April with completion projected for late summer or early fall of this year," Administrator James said.

The open letter concluded: "We retain a note of urgency for the completion of the parking garage so that at the earliest possible date employees' and visitors' cars can be removed from the streets around the hospital."

"Our plans have continued to move forward and at this date we are projecting the start of construction to be early spring of 1976 with probable completion within that year."

County Funds, Topic Of Public Hearing

There will be a public hearing on March 19 at 1 p.m. at the County Commissioners' meeting room of the Superior Courthouse, East Cambridge.

The purpose of the meeting will be to determine priority needs for the use of general revenue sharing funds by Middlesex County.

According to a communication from S. Lester Ralph and John L. Danahy, Middlesex County Commissioners, such funds total $2,662,813 and are proposed to be used to "reduce the fiscal 1976 appropriation of the Cambridge Jail and Billerica House of Correction."

League To Discuss Warrant Articles

The League of Women Voters will sponsor a discussion of the articles which appear on the town warrant next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Orange Room of the Lincoln School.

Town meeting members and other interested citizens may attend to learn more about the matters which will be taken up by the annual town meeting which begins Monday, March 24.

League panel members Donna Kennedy, Ruann Warford and Ina Rowan will present background information on selected articles. A general discussion among members of the audience will follow. Sponsors of particular articles will be present to answer questions.

A second discussion meeting will be held March 20, at the home of Mrs. Ralph Seferian, 335 Highland ave., at 9:15 a.m. The same panel members will be present. Coffee will be served and babysitting will be provided.

For information, contact Mrs. Robert Keefe, 24 New Meadows rd.; Babysitting reservations must be made by March 18.

Citizens Seek Recall; Legal?

The group of residents which put the Metco advisory to a referendum has informed Town Clerk Elsie M. Nelson they will file signatures to obtain recall petitions.

Mrs. Nelson said she will not decide what to do about a possible recall until she obtains signatures. Nor will Town Counsel Douglas Randall issue a ruling on the legality of recall until he has been asked.

There is uncertainty over the legality of recall because Winchester is now operating under a new charter that went into effect when the results of the March 3 annual town election were certified.

While some aspects of the charter went into effect immediately, others do not become law up to two years from the date of passage.

There was no recall procedure under the old Winchester charter. The new charter contains no date of passage for the recall procedure.

But the charter does state that signatures must be obtained from the town's eight voting districts.

Winchester does not have eight voting districts and won't have until the selectmen redraw the town at the end of the year. The town now has six precincts. To some this indicates recall may not be sought until establishment of the new districts.

For a recall, 200 or more voters must file an affidavit with the town clerk for each official whose recall is sought.

A statement of the grounds on which the petition is based must also be filed. The new charter, however, does not state reasons for recall—such as malfeasance or criminal activity. Thus recall may be sought on any grounds.

But the charter states: "At least 25 names of voters shall be from each of the eight districts into which the town is divided."

Following submission of those names, the town clerk gives the petitioners recall blanks. Separate blanks must be obtained for each official whose recall is sought.

Petitioners then have 20 days to obtain the names of 15 percent of the voters of Winchester (no more than 25 percent from a single voting district).

If the officials whose recall is sought does not then resign within five days, the selectmen are required to call an election after 35 days.

The ballot for the election would be in two general sections: 1) Should the official be recalled; and 2) candidates to succeed the official (whose names are placed on the ballot in normal fashion).

If the voters do not approve to recall a particular official then the ballots for the candidates are not even counted.

Only four members of Winchester's six-person School Committee are eligible for recall under the new charter.

WBA Sponsors Meeting Of Act

A meeting of Aberjona Citizens for Transportation (Act) will be held Tuesday, April 1, under the auspices of the Winchester Business Association.

The public is invited to attend. Gary Watros of the Department of Transportation will represent Act.

Watros will be principal speaker. He will explain about the new committee formed to try and improve the town's public transportation.

The WBA, which feels improved public transportation is essential for a healthy downtown, is inviting members of the Board of Selectmen to attend.

Also planning to attend is Arthur Pratt of the Council on Aging. He acts as liaison between the council and Act.

WBA emphasizes that the meeting is a public forum to which residents may come and discuss the pros and cons of the various suggested ways to improve the town's transportation that have been made in the last few months.

The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m.

Town Tour Is Rescheduled For Saturday

The annual tour of town facilities by selectmen will be conducted on Saturday.

The tour was rescheduled due to inclement weather last Saturday.

The tour will begin at Town Hall at 9 a.m. At 9:45 participants will go to the highway garage on Lake street.

At 10:15 the tour will continue at the water and sewer shop, also on Lake street.

From 10:45 until 11 a.m., Wildwood Cemetery will be the focus of the tour.

And from 11 to 11:30 a.m., participants will visit the central fire station.

At the highway garage, water and sewer shop and central fire station, tour members will be able to view equipment which is to be replaced and be given reasons why.

The main purpose of the tour is to give town meeting members an opportunity to learn how some of the major town departments operate. The public may also attend.

Budget Rises 11%, 200 At Hearing

The proposed Winchester school budget is $8,597,353.

This amount, which is 10.9 percent more than last year, is primarily for salaries, said chairman Stephen Parkhurst in his presentation to about 200 townspeople at a school budget hearing last Thursday at the Lincoln School.

The large audience was noted by Parkhurst as the greatest attendance at a budget hearing in years.

Parkhurst drew attention to contracts for teachers, secretaries, custodians and principals which will expire in June and August next year.

The only contract to be negotiated this year, he said, will be for food service workers. The salary costs are estimated at $6,896,000, noted Parkhurst. This total was $504,000 more when the budget was initially prepared, but reduced after much review.

Major costs in the budget include an estimated additional $240,000 for Chapter 766 "which has precluded us from strengthening other programs," said Parkhurst.

The building maintenance budget of $253,630 includes an additional $78,000 to enable the School Department to correct problems of erosion, improper drainage and to repair roofs, downspouts and school grounds, he said.

There is an allocation of $10,000 more for fuel costs, Parkhurst noted, but the capital outlay budget of $29,190 reflects a reduction of 27.5 percent.

Parkhurst told the audience that due to low enrollments, there will no longer be Latin I and German I offered at the high school. Students already enrolled in these courses will be able to continue on to the higher levels, he explained.

Another area of change includes reducing the number of classes per week for physical education from five to three. By doing this, Parkhurst said, three-fifths of a teacher will be saved.

The student-teacher ratio in English classes, he said, will increase, but there will still be smaller sections for slow learners.

The Max-Ed program at the high school, he noted, will be continued "because of economics."

He explained if students were to take academic courses instead of Max-Ed during two free periods, there would be a need "to hire additional teachers."

Also, explained Parkhurst, plans are to no longer hire one-day teacher substitutes. If a teacher is absent, the class will be dismissed. If, however, a teacher is absent for more than a day, a substitute will be used. This plan will save "$10,000," said Parkhurst.

Major budget cuts effect the high school, noted Parkhurst who said "We will not be doing as good a job with the high school slow learner."

He acknowledged the school staff needs to do more for general students, the ones who do not plan to go on to higher education. "We hope to strengthen this program in 1976," he said.

In future years, the School Department and School Committee hope to strengthen music and art programs, especially at the junior high level, said Parkhurst.

The athletic programs, said Parkhurst, are "identical to last year." This budget, which amounts to $152,103, is reduced by $8,103 from income such as the home football games.

Though this program includes no additions or deletions from last year and has been approved by the Finance Committee it does show a 15.2 percent rise due to the cost of living.

The cafeteria budget ended with a cash balance even though 10 percent more meals were prepared this year over last year, said Parkhurst.

The assembly generally was empathetic to the position of the School Committee in its attempts to keep the budget down.

TMM Justin James cited the recession and its effect on industry and the community, the $4 increase on the tax rate, the effect of step increases and contractual agreements which "have us hamstrung." He said, "I plead with you all to be as thinking as you can be next year."

TMM Sally Kincaid, a member of the Finance Committee who said she was speaking as a citizen, noted areas where "we are not hampered by contracts and negotiations."

New Sign By-Law Up For TM Action

The Winchester annual town meeting for 1975 will convene Monday at 7:45 p.m. at the senior high school.

Articles expected to bring forth greatest debate appear to be on matters pertaining to town-owned properties, the school budget, a new sign by-law and disposition of the town's waste.

Other articles of particular interest include rights and responsibilities of secondary school students; the dog leash law; and transferring the Swanton Street Bridge to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Also, town meeting members will consider articles to authorize the transfer of land to the Winchester Housing Authority for a senior citizens center; and the budget for those departments under the jurisdiction of selectmen.

Town-Owned Properties

Town meeting members will vote to authorize the Board of Selectmen to secure bids for the sale of certain parcels of properties held by the town for school purposes but which the School Department notes they no longer need.

Monday night selectmen took positions on disposition of each of the town-owned properties as follows:

14 Reservoir st. On a 4-1 vote (Arthur Dunbar voting no) selectmen will recommend restoration of this property.

They noted if town meeting disapproves, the street will have to be extended in order to give proper frontage to the property which now has a 2½ story house on it.

10 Marshall rd. On a 4-1 vote (Dunbar against) selectmen will recommend spending $522 for emergency repairs and retaining this property.

Fletcher street. Selectmen voted 3-2 to sell this property which is adjacent to the Wyman School and expected to be one of the first to close if school enrollments continue to decline.

22 Highland ave. Because this property is currently in litigation, selectmen will recommend indefinitely postponing. Their vote was unanimous.

26 Highland ave. In a 4-1 vote (Dunbar against) selectmen decided to recommend the sale and removal of this house which is now boarded up due to a fire about a year ago or to demolish the dwelling. They want to keep the land for access to backland which may possibly be used for conservation purposes.

4 and 10 Alben st. Selectmen voted 3-2 (Dunbar and Vito Giarrizzo against) to package these two properties into one and retain them. They will recommend spending $2,000 for restoration of the properties.

5 Alben st. and 6 Reservoir st. Selectmen, in a 4-1 vote (William Chapman against), will recommend town meeting approval to sell both properties.

Debate on this is expected because special town meeting members in December refused to authorize spending money for repairs to town-owned properties. The climate of the membership was the town should get out of the real estate business.

Sign By-Law

On a recommendation of the Planning

Jack Farrell surveys the filth in Judkins Pond on Skillings road. Annual Aberjona cleanup Saturday will remove most of this junk. But Farrell hopes to start a year-round cleanup campaign. Story, page 20. (Photo by Arthur MacDonnell)

Board, town meeting members will be asked to approve a by-law which will prohibit free standing signs, billboards and moving signs, signs extending more than 12 inches over a street or sidewalk, and signs attached to poles or trees, in addition to all political signs except those at a candidate's headquarters.

Also banned will be gasoline revolving signs, roof signs and any sign projected more than 12 inches from the face of any wall or above the highest line of the main roof of a building.

There is also a proposed provision for maintenance of signs.

The selectmen and members of the Finance Committee deferred taking positions. Finance did indicate, however, they feel "outright prohibition of free-standing signs constitutes an unreasonably harsh restriction on homeowners and small businesses, and might well prove something of a deterrent to the improvement of the central business district."

Solid Waste Disposal

After four years searching for a solution to comply with Environmental Protection Agency regulations, Clean Air Standards, and at the same time take care of the town's disposal of waste, the Solid Waste Disposal Study Committee is expected to recommend building a transfer station.

After meeting with selectmen recently they decided to have C. E. Maguire Co. provide an estimate and conceptual design for such a station on a similar project in Salem.

The Finance Committee recently approved taking $200,000 out of the stabilization fund to pay for the station.

The Emergency Finance Board of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts has notified town officials of their approval for the town to use $200,000 from the stabilization fund for the solid waste transfer station project.

Students Rights

Town meeting members will vote to accept following rights and responsibilities for public secondary school students:

- The right of freedom of expression, with the responsibility to keep such expression from disrupting the educational process, and to allow other points of view to be expressed;

- The right to assemble peacefully with the responsibility to obtain prior approval of school officials;

- The right to be free from dress code, with the responsibility to observe reasonable standards of health, safety and cleanliness;

- The right to attend school if married or pregnant with the responsibility, in the case of a pregnant student, to be under the supervision of a physician if deemed necessary.

The law was enacted with a home-rule amendment which states the law's provisions will apply only to cities and towns which vote to accept them.

The law has the support of the state Board of Education, Mass. Teachers Assn., Mass. Secondary School Principals Assn., Mass. Assn. of School Superintendents;

Also, the Mass. Assn. of School Committees, state Secretary of Education, American Federation of Teachers, Parent-Teacher-Student Assn., Civil Liberties Union, Winchester School Committee and Winchester Finance Committee.

Dog Leash Law

There are two provisions in an article to amend the dog leash law. The first recommendation to town meeting by petitioners is to extend the law from 12 hours to 24 hours. The second provision is to increase the daily fee at the dog pound from $2 to $4.

Selectmen support this article. The Finance Committee supports increasing the daily fee but not the number of hours dog owners must keep dogs leashed.

In another article, selectmen will be asking town meeting members to approve an amendment to the dog leash law which will increase the annual fee for a dog license by $1, which shall be kept by the town to assist in the support of enforcement of the dog control law.

Actually, the town has been charging the additional $1. The amendment would set the record straight. Approximate income on the additional $1 is $1,700 per year to the town.

Swanton Street Bridge

Selectmen are bringing an article before the town meeting to transfer to the state the Street Bridge.

The state, which, according to Selectmen Dunbar has 600 bridges under its control, would have the responsibility for snow and ice control, maintenance and cost of operation of street lighting, maintenance of roadway approaches including guard rails, fences and pavements, and maintenance of retaining walls.

The Finance Committee calls for favorable action on this article.

Seniors Center

Through an article presented by the Council on Aging, town meeting will consider approval of a transfer of land known as the Skillings Road site to the Winchester Housing Authority for a senior citizens center, contingent upon the approval of the application of the Housing Authority for funding of construction costs.

The Finance Committee, Housing Authority and majority of selectmen recommend favorable action.

Only Man Kills For Sport, Environmentalists Tell Class

By Ruth-Elle Flax

When Phyllis Knopf of 233 Main st. recently asked children in Ambrose and Wyman schools what the most dangerous animal was, they answered unequivocally, "Man."

Mrs. Knopf wasn't surprised. "Kids are amazingly knowledgeable nowadays. They seem all fired up about doing something about preventing animal extinction."

So is Mrs. Knopf interested in preventing animal extinction. Member of the Winchester Environmental Protection Association, she was asked by elementary schools to help make students aware of the 100 endangered species in the United States, part of the 1,000 endangered species throughout the world.

Mrs. Knopf said she asked the children if they knew what extinct meant. Most of them did, and noted that dinosaurs were extinct.

Mrs. Knopf stressed that dinosaurs were extinct because they couldn't adapt to their rapidly changing environment. "The problem today is that man is creating the changes in the environment of the animals."

Mrs. Knopf explained that destruction of their habitat is basically the reason for the high number of endangered species.

The American alligator is fast becoming extinct because its swamp lands are being destroyed by man. San Francisco's continual building has left the garter snake homeless there.

"As people push farther into the uninhabited parts of the country, the American bald eagle has been left no privacy," continued Mrs. Knopf.

She explained these birds, America's symbol, are "lonely," and thrive on solitude. Pesticides, especially DDT, have polluted water and killed fish-eating birds such as the American brown pelican. The chemicals result in pelican egg shells becoming so thin that unborn birds have no protection and ultimately die.

The children were told that whales and wolves are endangered because of overhunting by man. Although there are laws in effect to restrict hunting, poaching, "illegal shooting," virtually nullifies the laws.

Fake fur has helped quench people's desire for fur coats, but "a lot of people want real fur without realizing what it means," lamented Phyllis Knopf.

She feels "wolves have a nasty reputation they don't deserve. People have always had a primeval fear of wolves from myths."

Mrs. Knopf had the children look at the wolves' side of the story. When people began to settle the prairie they eliminated the wolves' prey and put livestock where the wolves' game used to be. "Wolves attacked the farm animals because they had to eat something!"

According to Phyllis Knopf, the Eskimo culture has the right idea. "They like wolves between 100 and 200 years for another species to take over the role of a now-extinct species. "And sometimes no species ever does," she added.

Mrs. Knopf urged the children to "be aware of the destruction of habitats in our own backyard."

She didn't have to go far for an example:

'Even Most Insignificant

Creature Important Ecologically'

and know that it's the wolf who keeps the caribou strong."

Caribou, member of the deer family, are chased by wolves. If the pursuer notices his prey faltering, he will pounce, knowing that the caribou, one of the most nimble animals, won't grow tired unless it is sick.

"Wolves don't kill for sport. Only man does that," explained Mrs. Knopf. "They (wolves) are quite wonderful, a lot like dogs. They're not vicious either. There's never been a case on this continent where a human has been killed by a wolf."

Mrs. Knopf tried to make her listeners aware of the needless "butchery" which man undertakes in his endless pursuit of fur, leather and jewelry.

She told them how people shoot dozens of caribou and after inspecting them, take antlers from only a few, leaving dead carcasses strewn over the ice.

And she told them that a whale is killed every 14 minutes, principally by Russians and Japanese, for oil and other products which could be made out of something else less expensively.

Mrs. Knopf said she was proud the United States ended its whaling Dec. 1, 1971. "But we only killed half of one percent of all the whales anyway."

She tried to impress on the children the fact that although "people think the human species is the most important, even the most insignificant creature is important in the ecological system."

"Every species has a place in nature. Where one species is killed off, there is a job that won't get done."

Phyllis Knopf explained that it takes the foxes which inhabited Winchester town forest 10 years ago have vanished thanks to children's beebees guns.

She explained that people don't have to sit still and allow animal species to become extinct.

Through a children's campaign to save the whales called Project Jonah, children can write poems and letters or draw pictures which will be forwarded to Russia and Japan.

"Project Jonah is supported by all the big conservation organizations of the world," explained Mrs. Knopf.

Children may write Box 472, Bolinas, Calif., 94924 or 12 Dacotah ave., Toronto 128, Ontario, Canada.

Or they may use the Audubon Society's conservation program and magazine for children as a means of protest.

They may also enter into the fight to save the bald eagle by sending commemorative stamps to Bald Eagle Fund, Florida Audubon Society, P.O. Drawer 7, Maitland, Fla. 32751.

Commemorative stamps larger than the five or 10-cent variety must be in perfect order.

Sold to philatelists, proceeds will help save the vanishing bald eagle.

According to Mrs. Knopf persons may aid in preserving endangered species by refraining from buying Japanese and Russian products or anything made out of an endangered species.

Referring to the whale, Phyllis Knopf summed up the result of a too-early death of any species: "The sad thing about letting them become extinct is that we still don't know everything about them and we may never know at the rate we're going."

Northeast Students To Build Second House

The second student-constructed house will be built next fall in Saugus by the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School.

The house-building project was suspended for the current year due to economic conditions. But now the students will construct an expanded Cape-style home on Clifton avenue, Saugus.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Berrett of Saugus will provide the land, building materials and necessary subcontracting. Northeast students will provide skilled labor under supervision of instructors.

According to a procedure established by the district school committee, applicants for the student-built house project were sought by public advertising and had to meet certain requirements.

Names of seven eligible applicants were placed in a hat and drawn by members of the Northeast student council.

Applications had been received from residents of Saugus, Chelsea, Woburn, Stoneham, Reading and Wakefield, Mr. and Mrs. Berrett's name was drawn first.

Last year the Northeast students built a custom home in Stoneham for a Chelsea family.

Site preparation and foundation work for the Saugus house will be completed by the owners in mid-August so that Northeast students can begin work early in September with a completion date of May, 1976.

Northeast instructors in the construction trades consider the house-building project a vital part of student training and experience.

The program was established and is regulated strictly by the District school committee. Gerard P. Donahoe is the elected representative on the committee from Winchester.

100-Year-Old's Birthday 'Nothing Special; See You In 100 Years'

As far as William H. Starratt of 21 Town way is concerned, his 100th birthday will not be a day set apart.

"One day is just like another," he said while his daughter, Ruth Wylie, whispered that 25 friends and relatives will be on hand for a surprise party.

A 10-year resident of Winchester with his daughter and his granddaughter, Jane, Starratt was born in Annapolis Royal, Nova Scotia, on March 24, 1875.

At 16 years of age Starratt discovered that working on his father's farm was not for him. His father knew the captain of the S. S. Savona, a full-rigger cargo ship, and arranged for his rebellious offspring to be a cabin boy.

Starratt scrubbed floors in the captain's quarters through England, Wales and the United States.

He left the ship around 1893 to settle in Beverly, where he worked at the United Shoe Machinery Corp., now the USM Corp.

During his 50 years with the company he traveled throughout the United States and retired as the manager of the Manchester, N.H., office.

Mr. Starratt met his wife, Sarah E. (Davis), another Nova Scotia native, in Beverly. They raised three children: Capt.

(retired) USAF T. Robert Starratt of Florida, Hilda Rones of Hingham and Ruth Wylie. Although reaching 100 years of age if of little significance to Starratt, the world around him evokes definite views.

On mini-skirts: "I'd just as soon have them shorter."

On men on the moon: "It's beyond me!"

On women's liberation: "I thought they were always liberated."

On America's politicians: "They do the best they can."

On being 100 years old: "I've got nothing to do with that. I just take what comes."

Mr. Starratt spends quiet days at home reading National Geographic, books about ships, watching the news and Lawrence Welk.

Mrs. Wylie noted that her father enjoys going out to eat. Mr. Starratt nodded. "There's never been anything much the matter with my appetite."

With a fondness for antiques, he has collected old clocks, china and glassware mostly from around New England.

Mr. William Starratt sat comfortably, his hands folded loosely on his lap and a smile of contentment on his lips.

With seven grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren, he looks much younger than a century.

"See you after the next 100 years!" he called.

William H. Starratt of 21 Town Way. At 16 he went to sea on the S.S. Savona, a full rigger cargo ship. Now he is a century old.

School Board Meets

Sub-Committees To Study Aspects Of Enrollment

Declining enrollment, textbooks for St. Mary's pupils and fringe benefits for para professionals were discussed by members of the School Committee Monday.

Supt. William C. MacDonald said Winchester's steps in dealing with declining enrollment are in line with those recommended by educators.

He said the new enrollment study committee has been broken into subcommittees to study such aspects as capacities of various buildings, possible redistricting and changing to a middle-school educational plan.

Arranging for some kind of loan of textbooks in stock to students of St. Mary's School appeared heading toward resolution when the committee directed Supt. MacDonald to write a policy permitting individuals, rather than the school, to receive the loan.

The School Department would not purchase the textbooks. They would be taken from unused books in stock.

Conflicting state and federal laws dealing with aid to private schools was detailed by Committee member Robert S. Frank.

Supt. MacDonald said the problem is solvable. He will meet with representatives of St. Mary's and develop a system agreeable to all.

The committee reconsidered an earlier decision to give lunchroom attendants a permanent part-time status and rejected the proposal on the grounds there isn't money in the budget to pay for the fringe benefits which would accrue.

Asst. Supt. Henry Perry said budget cuts and reduction in personnel preclude extending the benefits this year. The committee agreed.

The 25 attendants get $2.33 an hour. They wanted the new status so they could get holiday pay, snow day pay, sick leave and two weeks' vacation.

CSA Defers Action On School Budget

A special executive board meeting of the Community Schools Association was held March 14 at the home of president Lucille Grassi.

According to member Mrs. Sue Sweeney, many CSA members had been present at the public hearing of the school budget the previous evening.

"An updating of the progress of the school budget was discussed," said Mrs. Sweeney, "but no decision has been made to take any action on the school budget."

The school budget was the topic of discussion at the monthly meeting of CSA in February held at the Lincoln School.

Superintendent of Schools William C. MacDonald and Jack Fallon, director of administrative services, divided the format into different sections and spoke individually on various aspects of the budget.

Mrs. Sweeney said they noted that Chapter 766 "will play a predominant role in the budget this year."

They also noted major areas of concern include staffing, loss of teachers and the athletic program.

At the monthly meeting of the group in March, held at the home of Mrs. Grassi, guests included Andrew Allen, Parkhurst School principal; Robert Forest, Ambrose School principal; and Catherine Fallon, School Committee member.

General business included various aspects of reports of officers and standing committees.

Noting that the Finance Committee and the School Committee are still $65,000 from agreement on the school budget, Chairman Stephen R. Parkhurst said the committee is sympathetic but there is no money to pay for the extended benefits.

Committee member Richard Pharo said to extend the benefits to all para-professionals would cost $15,000. "It's too late to add this year," said Committee person Catherine R. Fallon.

Chairman Parkhurst said the committee will consider the request next year.

Mrs. Fallon told the board she recently attended a meeting of the Community School Association and the members expressed a desire to keep the present teacher-pupil ratio in the face of budget cuts.

Parkhurst said a progress report on playgrounds will be made at the annual town meeting. "It's evident we'll be talking substantial money," he said inadequate drainage at schools has cost considerable erosion and that problem must be corrected before school playgrounds can be improved.

"It's up to the School Committee to determine which site to do first," he said. The work will be done under the Park Commission, however.

Student representative Andrew DeMars reported on a new constitution at the high school the result of a survey.

The present student council and class officers would be replaced with a 50-member student union. Five officers would be elected by the school at large and each English class would name a representative.

The union, common at colleges, would eliminate conflicts between class officers and the student council, would be more flexible by permitting union members to work on individual projects, DeMars said.

The survey also showed student concern with the academic level of the school and with discipline under the open campus system. DeMars said discipline is better now.

The student leader said a pro-open campus publicity campaign is planned.

A social studies presentation was made by the school system's social studies department heads. Committee member Mary G. Pronski said there should be more teaching of town government.

The committee discussed the grievance of a woman teacher asking for disability pay because of her inability to collect maternity leave since she taught up until 24 hours of the delivery of her baby.

While the contract with the teachers permits maternity leave pay, it does not permit such a request, Committee member Robert S. Frank said the request should not be granted since it is not written in the contract and it would set a precedent.

The committee agreed.

Town Counsel Douglas A. Randall met briefly with the committee and expressed the opinion that a recent court case involving the committee has concluded.

"There is really nothing of issue at the moment," he said. "The case to a certain extent has concluded."

The committee had been accused of violating the state's open meeting law.

Committee Action Correct

If the voters of Winchester had gone to the polls and approved a Metco advisory question to the School Committee, and the committee had then rejected the concept of Metco, its actions would have been correct.

Some people in Winchester have a mistaken view of what leadership is. They feel leaders are elected to follow the dictates of the public.

That is a twisted notion. Leadership means taking a position after gathering all the information—no matter how unpopular that position might be.

The Winchester School Committee did just that when it voted to stand by its earlier Metco votes. The committee knew there would be an outcry against it considering the failure of a Metco referendum.

But the committee members felt they knew more about the situation than did the voters. That is an entirely correct assumption for two reasons: The committee conducted exhaustive hearings on the subject and inconsistencies in voting figures coupled with misleading information on Metco distributed the day before the referendum point up the public's lack of knowledge on the question.

The committee was not legally bound by the results of the referendum, as some people believe. The referendum was advisory.

Had the public been exposed to all the information about Metco as were the committee members, the question might have passed instead of failing 3,482 to 2,260.

Many feel a majority of the town meeting members were initially against Metco but after hearing seven hours of debates on the subject changed their minds. Metco passed town meeting 114 to 73. The Board of Selectmen, too, saw the wisdom of Metco and supported the proposal, 3-2.

Nor was the Finance Committee unanimously opposed as some believe. The board was split, voting 5-no to 4-yes. Though the Finance card stating its recommendations on the ballot questions, mailed to all residents, didn't say so, Finance's vote was not based on financial reasons.

Metco is a "social issue not a fiscal issue," member Richard A. Richmond commented in January when the committee originally discussed the matter. Richmond's thoughts were echoed by other committee members.

Yet, apparently many voters were persuaded against Metco on the basis of Finance's postcard. The anti-Metco literature distributed townwide didn't help much either. Coming as late as it did without allowing for public rebuttal doubtless influenced many Winchester voters against Metco.

Pro Metco persons have denounced the literature as containing misinformation.

The School Committee in its decision took all this into account. It broke no law. It violated no ethical code. It didn't break its trust with the public.

The committee was following a noble and difficult course. It deserves the support of the community and nothing less. The committee members are hard working and dedicated.

They are not self serving. They are community serving. Their action should serve as a good example for many persons in Winchester, particularly a few town meeting members who vote according to what they think their precinct wants.

But how do they know what their precinct wants? They guess. A more meaningful course is to vote what you as a leader want. That's why we have leaders. There are enough followers around.

The words of Stephen R. Parkhurst, chairman of the School Committee, should be chiseled in stone some place where all representatives of the people can read:

"Come what may, ladies and gentlemen, in the years to come I will always look back on this occasion as one in which I did what I had to do."

And so did the other four School Committee members supporting Metco, as did the single member opposing. They exemplify what leadership is all about.

As Edmund Burke said: "Your representative owes you, not his industry only, but his judgment; and he betrays instead of serving you if he sacrifices it to your opinions."

A little more faith in our School Committee would be welcome.

Writings On Bathroom Wall Tell Story Of Loneliness

By Pauline Dishmon

Graffiti is considered by some to be vandalism. To others it is an art form and a means of communication.

I'm not sure about the art part, but I agree graffiti tells something about the writers and does communicate messages.

I didn't always have empathy for wall writers. I used to look down on them, but a few years ago while taking a course in typography at Boston University my attitude changed.

The first week I went to class I also visited a ladies' latrine at the university. While seated within one of the stalls, I noticed a message on the wall. It read:

"To the washer of this wall: Please don't wash this wall. I am a lonely person and last year this wall gave me some small degree of happiness. What does the writing hurt? Let people communicate."

My eyes moved to another message. "Funny how everyone figures walking down Commonwealth Avenue that everyone else is really going some place to meet someone and that it's only me that's going nowhere by myself. Maybe we should stop pretending. We don't know that there are other lonely people."

The next week when I visited the ladies room again I was thunderstruck by the additions on the wall.

It was then I copied the original two comments and those added during subsequent weeks. It was like a daytime serial. Each week I visited the ladies room whether it was necessary or not. I wanted to see what was happening on the wall.

The following are messages on the theme of loneliness. This turned out to be the major topic of discussion:

"I'm lonely also. Many times I'm alone and not lonely, but right now I am with many people and I am so lonely. I'm looking so hard for a person in Boston who is the right type, someone who will be my friend."

"Fear is the lonely person's greatest hang-up. If we weren't afraid of people repelling us, we wouldn't be lonely. Approaching a stranger with friendliness (of an excessive amount) is just too big a change to take with the ego. Fear of getting shut down is what it comes to. But writing on this wall is a method of communication without taking a chance."

"I think it's neat that all of us 'lonely ones' express ourselves here. Yet what good does it do? Actions speak so much louder than words no matter how scary it is to initiate them."

"Dear Lonely People: You seem to communicate so well writing on this wall. If you would do the same when you meet people you'd find many friends. And don't be so lonely. Sure B.U. is a big place, but there are so many wonderful people. You just have to reach out and not be afraid to approach strangers. Talk to people. Confide in those you really know. You're probably surprised to find so many responses on these walls. But you see you got responses because you communicated by writing. Communicate by talking and you will find many friends and others who feel the same way you do."

"No one wants to be cold and most people are warm and friendly, but you must be warm and friendly and approach them. Communicate."

If you made a club you wouldn't be lonely any more. Giving to others is the best thing in the world. I wish more people would try it. Loneliness is Hell."

"If we weren't afraid of loneliness we would all live on a separate island."

"The hardest thing of all is to make yourself stop feeling alone. You have to make the first move. People who feel lonely (myself included) when they write, the essence of their writing is emptiness. Writing, in a sense is much like loving. You must sincerely want to touch people in order for there to be meaning. Don't be afraid. There's nothing to be afraid of."

"Fear is man's (women included) prime motivating factor."

"Loneliness is defeat — solitude is victory."

"Life goes on within you and without you. Embrace it and live."

"This final writing conveys something of what changed my mind about graffiti messages:

"Before I came in here I would never have thought I could learn more about people in this bathroom than in my sociology course I just came from. I stayed here for 20 minutes and I wasn't even constipated."

I might add there were some other suggestions by writers, but I would have to bleep many of the words if I were to state them in this column. Therefore, they are omitted."

It is true that graffiti is unsightly. It costs much time and money to restore cleanliness and attractiveness. But the BU writings on the bathroom wall showed me the value in graffiti.

I am sure the suggestions of students to the original wall writers provided motivation and assurance. They must have gained confidence and became less afraid to meet new people."

Writing, as a means of expressing emotion, is good for the soul. It is an outlet and release for a crying heart. It is a kind of safety valve for one of the lonely ones. And we all fit into that category at one time or another."

Since the BU episode those several years ago, I have grown to have a completely different attitude toward graffiti writers. Instead of looking at the damage to the wall I think of the writer who is a human being crying out to be recognized. He or she is saying "Here I am. Notice me. I'm somebody."

Even the words of obscenity no longer bother me. I look upon them as expressions of emotional hurt or anger."

The son of a friend of mine operates a restaurant. Before opening, he installed blackboards for graffiti messages in the rest rooms. And he makes sure there is chalk available."

Not only does this keep the wallpaper in its original attractive state, he also gains many laughs and serious moments from the messages of patrons. Good idea."

Finance Booklet Valuable; Friends Of WHS Hockey?

Town meeting members should be grateful this year for the Finance Committee booklet giving the committee's recommendations on warrant articles.

This booklet, which costs about $3,500, should go a long way toward helping TMMs in grasping understanding of articles.

The booklet is easy to read, easy to understand, full of valuable explanations and background information—altogether a great job.

We might be sorry to see Chairman Barbara Hankins leaving Finance for Board of Selectmen.

One of the difficult aspects of being a town meeting member has been the lack of information given the meeting. Because of this lack, the members have to ask so many questions valuable time is used up, members become discouraged at the great amount of time needed to reach a decision on the simplest articles and interest in the meeting declines.

Considering how much of the town meeting members' time has been wasted in asking the most basic question, this booklet should indirectly save us all a lot of money.

Let's hope subsequent Finance Committees keep it up. Actually, last year's booklet was a step toward a more comprehensive report.

Clara Hewis's recount of the selectmen's figures was scheduled to be done last night. Because the Star goes to the printer at about 5 p.m. on Wednesdays we can't tell you the result until next week.

But don't look for any surprising changes. Ms. Hewis lost to Mrs. Hankins by about 200 votes. With machine totals, it's almost impossible to pick up or lose more than a few votes in a recount.

Last Wednesday night the friends of the high school hockey team held a banquet at Sons of Italy Hall.

Friends or enemies I don't know. The speeches went on for nearly three hours and still the hockey players didn't receive their accolades.

I was really beginning to wonder whose night it was supposed to be: the politicians or the players.

There was one funny line during the marathon evening. Coach Dave Berman was telling about Winchester's loss to Reading early in the season.

During a break in periods he told one player he looked horrendous out there on the ice.

"Gee thanks, coach," the player said. "I didn't think I was playing that well."

Saturday is the annual cleanup of the Aberjona River begun six years ago by Harry Boodakian. It's too bad we have to have such an event, that people can't take their tires and washing machines and beer bottles to the dump.

I asked Jack Farrell, who heads the cleanup this year, whether he thinks there is more or less trash being taken from the river every year.

He said it's about the same, but the cleanup forces don't seem to be able to make any permanent progress. What is needed, Farrell believes, is a year-long campaign to get people to respect their waterways.

If the cleanup is just able to keep up with the debris dumped into the Aberjona by careless persons every year, just think how much progress we could make if their attention could be turned to cleaning other areas.

We made an odd error last week. Sometimes the errors we make are obvious.

Selectman William Chapman may have a good idea when he says don't sell properties at 8 and 10 Alben st., but instead clear the land and plant and grow trees for use in various sections of the town.

Why do people drive 20 mph in 30 and 40 mph zones? Do they enjoy leading a motor vehicle caravan?

Selectmen used good judgment in voting against a Methods and Procedure recommendation for a new position for a junior accountant at $12,000 since much of the accountant's work, as proposed, will be the responsibility of the new town manager.

Is anything being done about the parking violations around Winchester Hospital these days?

Memo to Selectman John Sullivan. We know you're Irish. You don't have to dress like St. Patrick on March 17.

If your tap water is brown for a few days don't worry about it. The Water Dept. is flushing out hydrants.

Cartoon in the current Saturday Review: One man to another, "The way things are going, I've become nostalgic about last month."

A Winchester Theatre double bill recently had some of us wondering. "The Ultimate Thrill" and "The Night Visitor." But they turned out to be and "PG" and even "G" rated.

A slip of the finger? We received some copy this week referring to Winchester Youth Hockey as Winchester Youth Hockey.

Just what does Chicano mean anyway?

But sometimes they seem perfectly all right unless you were there.

This is exactly how it appeared:

The School chairman also received the greatest laughter of the evening when it came time for committee members to state positions.

Noting the flank of televisionman Robert S. Frank spoke....

And this is how it should have appeared:

The School chairman also received the greatest laughter of the evening when it came time for committee members to state positions. Noting the flank of television cameras and lights, Parkhurst took a comb out of his pocket and combed the few strands of hair on his head.

Committeeman Robert S. Frank spoke....

The Star has a relatively new electronic scanning process which takes the reporter's typewritten copy and puts it through a machine which sets the copy in type.

The copy doesn't go through a typesetter. It's a fascinating process to watch, seeing the typewritten copy appear on a monitor and watching a proofreader-copyreader check it over.

Then a tape is made of the copy. The tape is fed through a computer and reproduced via photography on a galley. I've simplified the system in my explanation. It's really much more complicated than that and I don't fully understand it.

It does make for some odd errors, however.

School Committee member Cathy Fallon, Norton Demsey, Henry Perry and Nina McCully recently attended a problem-solving session on how Winchester should deal with its declining school enrollment.

The Synectics seminar in Cambridge is a "highly structured form of group-process discussion-leading techniques," Mrs. Fallon said.

Winchester's school enrollment decline and what if anything we should do about it was presented to a class as a real-life problem.

Some interesting ideas came out of the seminar. A few of them:

Develop the concept of elastic schools—"flexible enough to expand and contract with needs of population and economy"; make education more "sinful, illegal, fattening and immoral—e.g., more attractive to the taxpayer"; use some schools temporarily for other things (offices, day care, senior citizen center, other community use); develop mobile classrooms.

"Money has polluted the American political system and threatens to ruin it entirely."

That's the grim word from Paul Guzzi, our new secretary of the commonwealth. He is asking support for bills up for hearings next Tuesday on two basic public financing proposals.

A bill to fund statewide candidates, cosponsored last year by Guzzi and Speaker David Bartley, was defeated in the House by six votes.

Remember the Vietnam War? Well the folks at the Pentagon who brought us that exercise in insanity would also like to bring us a Cambodian War.

Congress might just have other ideas though.

About the Pentagon a cynic might comment: How painfully slow man learns.

But a realist would say: Man does not truly learn at all.

Saturday is the town tour for all those interested.

Hit And Run

Heard around Town Hall: Capt. Michael Connolly (Fire Dept.) is elected to the Water & Sewer Board and W&S Supt. Bill Conlon leaves for a three-day disaster course.

Reading assessors have indicated they intend to revalue in the light of recent court decisions. The Winchester assessors still plan to wait and see.

The Star recently had a telephone call from a woman (she couldn't have been a reader) who didn't know non-whites are not included in Metco.

Current at-large members of town meeting retain their seats until the next annual election. So some Finance members who didn't win seats this year have another chance.

We received the following notice from Employment Security: "Please do not print news release 'Knowing the facts about the 40-plus workers,' or make the following correction: The third paragraph should have read 'level of competence' not incompetence."

Is it possible that some members of the Park Commission really didn't know their board is being eliminated? No wonder it's being eliminated!

Norman King, new sexton at the Parish of the Epiphany, reports a shortage in the church tool inventory. He needs a hammer, screw drivers, wrenches, saws, chisel and pliers.

There is still a question as to what an auxiliary police officer can and cannot do. This week selectman Lawrence Smith will be meeting with the chiefs of the Police Department and the Auxiliary to define the work of auxiliary officers.

Frank's Agonizing Has Just Begun?

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Trust in our public officials in these times of stress cannot be dismissed lightly. We have witnessed the highest officer in this land topple in disgrace because he did what he thought he had to do and lost the faith of the people.

I submit that by the process of election (aside from the referendum), the voters of Winchester have done exactly what was suggested to them by Mr. Parkhurst, chairman of the School Committee.

They have clearly indicated that their support was for the candidates who opposed Metco — even to the election of Mr. Frank, who was obviously believed and trusted when he promised to reconsider if he found that the position of the townspeople was in opposition to his own.

In the context of the newly elected School Committee, Mr. Frank's vote is, indeed, the "swing vote."

By subjecting himself to recall, he is not living up to the expectations of many who worked for him because they truly wanted him to serve, and by not following the will of the people on the Metco issue he is not living up to his word.

To that end, I would suggest that Mr. Frank's agonizing has just begun.

Officials Put Principle First

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

We would like to commend the School Committee for their decision to go ahead with plans to participate in the Metco program.

We feel they have acted in the best interests of the town and our children. It is heartening to live in a town where elected officials put principle above popularity.

Committee Courage Renews Faith

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

To: The Winchester School Committee — My family and I wish to commend you on your March 10 vote in favor of the Metco Program. We have always thought of Metco, not as a political issue, but as a human issue.

We fully appreciate the enormity of each individual member's decision to stand by his or her convictions, in spite of the overwhelming possibility of serious repercussions. Your courage has renewed our faith in humanity.

Please know that you have our fullest support.

Sour Grapes On Editorial Page

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I am quite disappointed in your column on the voter response to Metco. You either want yourself or denigrate the voter; and I doubt in this case that either is deserved.

The Metco issue has been a much-discussed—and very polarized—issue in this town. It has also been an emotional issue, with many arguments, such as that on the floor of the town meeting, changing few opinions.

I could propose to you that the results of the election represent a negative "Vote of confidence" in the School Committee. But I believe that would be wrong, as I believe you are when you say that it is a vote against blacks.

You deserve a vote of commendation for your front-page articles on the Metco issue prior to the election. These, I felt, were presented very impartially—even the more so in the light of your apparent position on the subject.

You lost, as many of us do in votes which do not go our way. While you now must live with a situation you may find undesirable, I don't feel that a "sour grapes" position on the editorial page constitutes responsible reporting.

David F. Beaber
53 Samoset rd.

Referendum Vote Was A Protest One

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Despite the pro-Metco strategy to foster the belief in Winchester and Massachusetts that our recent election showed a racist vote, what people outside of Winchester do not realize is that for a long time many residents have been opposed to School Committee policy.

1. The voters were misinformed. (This is a nice way of saying the electorate is both stupid and ignorant and incapable of judging slanted information from both sides.)

2. The town meeting vote was more indicative of what the people wanted. (The vote proves that town meeting members are not voting for what the majority of their constituents want. Town meeting members will say they had more calls for than against Metco. This is true and the reason for it is simple. The automatic label of racist and bigot was appalling to most people so they remained silent until the opportunity of the referendum was provided.)

3. The School Committee feels it must represent the 48 per cent of the voters who did not care enough to go to the polls. (This is the most ridiculous of their assumptions. It could be argued that those who did not vote were the smartest. They already realized the futility of their vote.)

Now examine the vote of the people:
1. The majority voted against Metco. (Which I believe means anti-School Committee.)

2. Mr. Noble, the School Committee candidate who received the largest vote, was against Metco.

3. Mr. Frank, with the second largest vote, promised to reconsider his pro-Metco vote if the electorate showed it was against Metco. (This promise was forgotten in one week and is a perfect example of what this letter is all about.)

4. The third largest vote went to Mrs. Pappas, who was against Metco. So please School Committee Members, consider the referendum vote for what I believe it was—a protest vote—and reduce this tax burden before we are totally consumed by education costs.

Marjorie R. Blakely

SC Gets Applause

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

We applaud the School Committee for a brave and upright decision.

Welcome to Metco.
Andrew and Sandra Morrison

Dismayed On Metco

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

This is a shortened version of a letter we sent to the School Committee members.

Dear Sir:

We are dismayed at the logic (or lack of it) used by those committee members and Metco proponents who spoke at Monday's meeting. Mr. Pritchard stated that although 61 percent of the votes cast were against Metco, only half of the registered voters participated, therefore the results should be interpreted as a 30 percent opposition.

This has to be the most mind-boggling double talk ever uttered by an elected official, and unfortunately this was expanded upon by the other proponents who tried to neutralize the referendum results with references to the timing of the Finance Committee card, the authenticity of the Crew handout and its effect on a supposedly uninformed public.

No proponent touched a genuine issue with the exception of some of Mr. Frank's comments at the end of the discussion.

There were genuine issues brought up by speakers against Metco participation. Many, including Mrs. Philliou and Mr. Noble, mentioned the high per pupil cost and the over $50,000 that doesn't reach the student but is expended for transportation and coordinator's salary, our economy and the serious financial straits of our Commonwealth.

How can we count on the state's promise to reimburse us for the Metco cost when they cannot pay present obligations?

Historically, they pay for new obligations by omitting payments of older low priority items.

As town and state taxpayers we pay dearly for these programs.

The great majority who oppose Metco are not racist paint throwers but are thoughtful townspeople who have not been considered in recent committee deliberations.

Please don't disappoint us again by taking our vote so lightly. Richard P. and Mary K. Williamson

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I am asking you, Mr. Robert Frank, School Committee Member, to resign from your position for the following reasons:

1. Misleading the public. You stated that if a substantial majority of voters decided against Metco you would reconsider your vote. The largest voter turnout in modern times for a town election is not substantial? Then I don't know what substantial is. Metco failed in five out of six precincts. When more than 61 percent of the people vote against Metco then I don't know what substantial is.

2. You stated your vote had no effect, so you voted with the majority of the School Committee. That tells me at least two things:

a. You have no influence with your fellow School Committee members. b. You go along with the gang, like a young child being led. This isn't the kind of person who should be in elected office.

3. You stated that last minute campaign election literature may have affected the results by possibly 250 votes. You and I both know the Metco question has been in town for many years and people's minds have been made up long before the last weekend of the election. Please give the voters of Winchester some credit for intelligence.

4. The Metco question was raised by the people in favor of it. So let's set the record straight. They wanted it, they worked for it and they lost because the majority didn't want it. This country is founded on the ideals of democracy, meaning the people, not a small elite group, are free to make decisions affecting their destiny.

5. I believe you no longer can govern effectively for the above reasons. The town needs people of their word—not followers but leaders.

Joseph V. Bentley
Town Meeting Member
Prec. 4

Voted For Frank But Against Metco

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Metco is coming to Winchester. To accept or reject the program is no longer an issue. Now the task is to successfully carry out the program, including an accurate analysis of what it really is costing us.

Proponents of Metco, including the School Committee, were fond of saying the program wouldn't cost the townspeople anything since all expenses were reimbursable by the state. Overlooked or forgotten was the fact that money coming from the state ultimately comes out of taxpayers' pockets, including those who live in Winchester.

We were part of a sizable number of townspeople who, on the one hand, voted for Committeeman Bob Frank even though we knew he favored Metco because we were impressed by his overall ability.

On the other hand, we voted against the Metco proposal itself. Our anti-Metco votes were based on resistance to yet another state-funded program in a deficit-ridden Commonwealth that has shown little or no ability to exercise fiscal discipline.

We trust the School Committee now will show as much concern for the town's beleaguered taxpayers as they have shown for disadvantaged Boston school children.

The School Committee must manage its budget so the townspeople are confident their hard-earned tax dollars are carefully and intelligently spent.

Bernard J. Doherty Robert A. McIndoe
38 Glen rd. 14 Glen rd.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

On March 3, the voters of Winchester went to the ballot to vote on a "voluntary" program.

Do you know what happened to their vote? Nothing. To the Winchester School Committee the vote was irrelevant, insignificant and casually tossed aside.

The voters of this town have been accused of being ignorant, racist, misinformed and apathetic, but for whatever their reason, when 61 per cent of the voters pulled the no lever on Metco, that was their private and personal decision.

The five members of the School Committee say they voted their conscience. They evidently have no conscience when it comes to the voters of this town who in good faith voted them into office.

A democracy of the people, by the people and for the people? Where? Certainly not in Winchester.

The School Committee contends they are exercising leadership. They may call it leadership, I call it dictatorship.

What will the people of Winchester do? Will we stick our heads in the sand and pretend it didn't happen? For the sake of ourselves, our children and the principles this country was founded on we must not let our efforts for a democratic society be cast away.

How can a School Committee which sets the curriculum for our children and teaches them democracy in class be allowed to flaunt that same democracy in practice?

God help our children who look up to us if we allow this to happen. The voters have spoken. Now let us stand up and be counted for our vote.

Charlotte Suprenant
10 Norfolk rd.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Last week's Star quotes School Committeeman Robert Pritchard as questioning the vote on Metco because 55 percent of the registered voters did not bother to vote on the question.

After all, he represents more than "just the 27 percent who voted against Metco." And yet, Mr. Pritchard has had no difficulty voting as a committeeman with the mandate he received in 1972 by a rousing 19.8 percent of the registered voters in an election where 71 percent of the registered voters did not bother to pull the lever.

The Star also refers to a "line by line" analysis of the anti-Metco literature by Committeeman Pritchard. Presumably he felt that the misleading nature of such literature called into question the significance of the townwide vote.

I know of no emotionally laden issue which hasn't brought its share of questionable election statements. To reject a vote on that basis is to give up on the electoral process.

For the School Committee to have adopted a "D—n the Torpedoes, Full speed ahead!" attitude is legally correct, and perhaps even justifiable. But for them to arrogate to themselves special knowledge of the hearts and minds of the voters is elitist in the extreme.

Miss Butterworth Weds Paul Bono

Sharon V. Butterworth and Paul B. Bono were united in marriage recently at the First Baptist Church.

The candlelight ceremony was performed by Rev. Howard Krueger. A reception at the Bear Hill Country Club in Stoneham followed.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Butterworth of 3 Forest cir. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bono of Norwalk, Conn.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an old-fashioned styled gown of silk satin. Her headpiece was a halo of baby's breath and she carried pink and white roses.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Janet Marino of Waterbury, Conn., was matron of honor. She wore a dusty rose crepe gown with antique lace trim. A halo of baby's breath and pink roses adorned her head and she carried a bouquet of white and pink roses.

Bridesmaids were Laurie Bono, Norwalk, Conn., sister of the bridegroom; Patricia Dobbins of Norwich, Vt., Mrs. Sandra Dietz of Brockton and Sonia Czajkowski of Wellesley. They were dressed identically to the honor attendant.

The bridegroom's brother, John Bono of Mohegan Lake, N.Y., was best man. Ushers

Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Bono

DAR Safety Chapter To Honor Students; Look At Iron Works

On Monday, the Committee of Safety Chapter DAR will meet at the home of Mrs. Ernest A. Phillips Jr., 52 Yale st. Dessert and coffee will be served at 1:30 p.m. by the social committee.

The program will include honoring the Good Citizen Girls and a talk on the Saugus Iron Works.

Mary O'Connor, a senior at Winchester High School and Donna Marie Miassarian, a senior at Stoneham High, will be special guests of the DAR as Good Citizen Girls of 1975.

Mrs. Elmer Emmett, speaker, will describe the background history of the Saugus Iron Works, the oldest vestige of the iron industry in America, dating back to 1646.

The Iron Works contain the reconstructed blast furnace, forge, and the rolling and slitting mill. It also includes a museum and an exhibit showing the development of the iron and steel industry in America from its beginning in Saugus to its present-day status.

The Restoration and museum are open to the public from mid-May to mid-October. This topic of historical data will be particularly pertinent to our American Heritage in this bicentennial year.

Mrs. Winn Named Outstanding Young Leader By Jaycees

Maureen Winn of 10 West Chardon rd. is one of 10 named by the Boston Jaycees to receive outstanding young leader awards.

A victim of multiple sclerosis, Mrs. Winn is coordinator for disabled student services at Boston University.

She will attend a special banquet on April 4 at the Sheraton Boston Hotel where she will receive her award.

Awards are given on the basis of personal achievements and individual contributions to community and profession.

Mrs. Winn, who has been featured in The Star on several occasions for her work in reform legislation aimed at helping handicapped individuals, is a part-time student at the University of Massachusetts where she is working toward a degree in public and community service.

She is president of the Massachusetts Council of Organizations of the Handicapped.

She is also on the board of trustees of the Massachusetts chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, and is a director of Atoms in Lexington. The latter is a social group which meets monthly in the area for persons who have multiple sclerosis.

Recently she participated in three-minute television tapings on architectural barriers which will be telecast this Saturday and Sunday during an MS telethon. These tapes are sponsored by the Easter Seal Society, said Mrs. Winn.

Other Jaycee award winners represent the fields of politics, education, law, medicine, arts, business, religion, sports and media. Selectman John J. Sullivan is a past winner of a similar award.

McCall Parents Sponsor Musical 'Li'l Abner'

The McCall Junior High School Parents' Association is sponsoring the musical production, "Li'l Abner," on April 11 and 12 at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Casting is completed. The cast and crew have been rehearsing daily. Students are designing and making sets for the production. Dot Santos of Cabot street is the show's director.

Bea Gonnella of Wilson street is choreographer.

Students, parents, grandparents and townspeople may attend. Ticket information may be obtained from Joan Bird of 8 Lawrence st.

McCall Junior High School is preparing for "Li'l Abner" to be presented at the school April 11-12 at 8 p.m. From left: Mark Krikorian, Stu Downs, Stephen Galante and director Dorothy Santos, a parent.

Red Cross To Award Aquatic Scholarships

The annual Red Cross national aquatic schools for high school boys and girls have been announced by the American Red Cross.

These schools, 10 days in June, teach first aid, water safety and basic swimming instruction. Two of these schools are in New England: one in Brookline, N.H., from June 10 to 20, and the other in Hanson, from June 8 to 18.

Applicants must be at least 17 years old. Because of conflict of dates with school sessions applicants should be seniors who in June are on released time.

For these sessions the Winchester Red Cross Chapter has announced two full scholarships for qualified high school applicants.

In making the announcement, John F. Looney, chairman of the scholarship committee, said, "This is a wonderful opportunity for any boy or girl to become expert in water safety and swimming instruction. We shall be glad to hear from any applicant."

Application forms for the Aquatic Schools may be picked up at the Red Cross Chapter House at 21 Church st.

For scholarships, separate application forms must be filed at the Chapter House to reach the committee before April 1.

Rich Scholarship Forms Available

The Leonor M. Rich Scholarship award committee is making applications for this award available at the Winchester Senior High School guidance office.

The award was established in 1972 in honor of Dr. Leonor M. Rich when she retired as principal of Washington School. It is available to any member of the graduating class who previously attended the school for at least three years and now plans higher education.

Further details are available with the applications, which must be returned by April 18.

Attitude Survey In Final Stages

By Sue Sweeney

The Winchester School Attitudinal Survey Committee is busy at work on the final stages of its survey.

During the past six months, several committees of volunteer Winchester residents have spent a great many hours planning a survey of the attitudes of Winchester residents regarding matters related to the school system and preparing a questionnaire to be used for that purpose.

Chairman William McCarter states, "We hope to have the questionnaire printed by mid-April."

"At that time, it will be mailed to all households in Winchester. Hopefully, the questionnaire will be returned promptly so that the results can be tabulated and a final report prepared for final distribution in the spring."

Lynch Auction Is Tomorrow

The cafeteria of the Lynch Junior High School is being filled with wares of all kinds in preparation for the fifth annual auction tomorrow evening, at 7 p.m. Preview is scheduled for 6 p.m.

Items to be auctioned under the direction of Walter Szary, auctioneer, include antiques, appliances, bric-a-brac, art work, jewelry, and furniture. Books, records, toys, and baked goods will be available.

Last-minute donations may be dropped off at the school today or tomorrow.

Students assisting the Lynch Parents Association include: Marissa Gulino, books and records; Martha McCully and Brad Holmes, transportation; Chuck Govostes, refreshments; Marcia DeSantis, runners, and Willie Miglia, toys and games.

Each year over $1,000 has been netted by the Parents Association from this event.

Proceeds from last year's auction were used to provide equipment for intramural sports, assist clubs and activities, rent buses for field trips, and pay for the rental of full-length film classics.

The eighth annual internal wine tasting, sponsored by the Lexington-Winchester Wheaton Alumnae Group to raise scholarship funds, was held recently at Mahoney's Rocky Ledge Farm. From left are William C. H. Prentice, Wheaton College president; Paul E. Gray, a college trustee; Nancy Budd and Peggy Sudbury, co-chairmen of the evening and Priscilla Gray.

Artist Exhibition At Boston Gallery

Valia Downes is participating in a joint exhibition with Constance Greason at the Community Church Center Gallery, 565 Boylston st., Copley Square.

Paintings, drawings and prints are included in the exhibition which begins March 16 and continues through the 30th. Valia Downes is exhibiting at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts in the national printmakers show sponsored by the Boston Printmakers, of which she is a member, and the DeCordova circulating exhibition program which will continue through 1976.

Previous exhibitions in the Boston area were at the Institute of Contemporary Art, Boston City Hall and Brockton Museum. In addition, she has participated in the national invitational show at the Brooklyn Museum, the international show in Seattle and the international show at Rivier College in New Hampshire.

In 1964, she received the Richard Mitton gold medal award for modern painting.

The First National Bank of Boston, Simmons College, New Hampshire Art Assoc., California College of Arts and Crafts, Bonwit Teller in New York and private collectors are among the owners of her works.

Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Monday through Thursday and Saturday 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Annual Egg Hunt Is On Saturday

At 10 a.m. on Saturday the Recreation Department will sponsor the third annual Easter egg hunt at West Side Field for ages 1-8.

All children should bring their own paper bags in which to place candy.

Those who are five and under should be accompanied by an adult.

Duran Birth

Mr. and Mrs. William Duran Jr. (Andrea Henry) of Woburn are parents of their first child, Joshua David, born in the Boston Hospital for Women on March 7.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henry of 3 Wildwood st. and Mr. and Mrs. William Duran of 17 Loring ave.

Let's Not Have An Isolated Community

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I wish to express my admiration and appreciation of the Winchester School Committee.

I have confidence that each member of the committee has convictions, integrity, and courage. They work for the good of us all. I respect their decisions, for I believe they are reached after a thorough investigation of the entire issue.

Let us in Winchester continue to support our public servants, to be grateful for their time and effort.

Let us be able to keep affection for one another in spite of differences of opinion or misunderstandings.

Let us not have an isolated community but a town wherein we are proud to be part of a larger community and in which the larger community is proud of us.

Robert A. Storer
Minister Emeritus
Winchester Unitarian Church.

School Committee—Enlightened Elite?

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I am greatly disturbed by the disservice done at the School Committee meeting Monday night.

The vote I can understand, since it was comparable to the positions taken by the School Committee prior to March 3's referendum.

However I am dismayed to learn that I did not know what Metco was about, and therefore I and other citizens of Winchester had to be protected from our ignorance by an enlightened elite.

For this crass judgmental error by the School Committee we deserve an apology.

Conversely, for the misguided individuals, hopelessly few in number, who harassed and intimidated the members of the School Committee, and did alleged physical damage to their property, I apologize, and trust that all of my fellow citizens will do likewise.

If the School Committee's vote was a show of resistance to intimidation we now know that they will not be swayed by personal threats.

However with that point answered, I ask the Committee to reflect that we citizens were smart enough to have elected them to represent us, and are intelligent enough now to know that we want a charter form of government, that Beano is acceptable and Metco is not.

Upon reflection I believe the School Committee will accede to the wishes of the people of Winchester.

It is not too late to do the will of the people. Prompt action could avoid a severe and prolonged divisive period for our town.

Free People Own Guns, Slaves Don't

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

"There are no guns in this house" - put that sign on your front door if you feel there is no need for fire arms.

You should realize, of course, it would be an open invitation, informing degenerates bent on rioting, plundering, robbery, murder or rape, that you and your family are defenseless.

Then understand that strong unconstitutional gun laws will put this sign on your front door!

The second amendment states that "the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed" and has survived numerous past misguided attempts to control guns, rather than the criminals who use them.

Free people own guns. Slaves don't.

Bicentennial Group Looking For Crafts

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

As part of the Bicentennial Committee, our group is working on the preparation of a kit to be used in first and second grades of the various elementary schools in town.

Our theme is centered on the craft work of the early Americans of Winchester; as such we have researched the possibility of the following as appropriate and workable under the original guidelines: corn husk and dried apple dolls, whirligigs and whimsey diddles, whittling, bread making, patchwork, candlemaking, weaving and rug braiding.

Perhaps some of your readers would be interested in sharing their knowledge in any of the suggested areas with us. We would be grateful for any suggestions and assistance, especially in the areas of whittling and early American toys.

Please contact Alice Curran, 586 Washington St.

Interested Citizens Urged To Join Act

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

On March 20 and 21, the Environmental Protection Agency will hold public hearings on its proposed transportation control plan at the Transportation Systems Center, Cambridge.

Obviously, the impact of the plan will be greatest on Boston. It will, however, have a significant effect on Winchester.

The obvious impact will be on the town facilities—the Town Hall and the high school, for example—and for employers of 50 or more people—Winchester Hospital, for instance.

A secondary impact will be on Winchester residents who use "single-passenger vehicles" for commuting. Some of these people will switch to public transportation.

They would rather fight but, they will, inevitably, switch and some means will be necessary to get them to public transportation.

The tertiary impact will come from residents of other towns who will be attracted to Winchester by our better than average public transportation. These people will impose a further overload on our existing public parking facilities.

Among the means for reduction of single-passenger vehicles mentioned in the proposal are shuttle-bus service connected to mass transit facilities or connecting separate facilities and dial-a-ride service.

These means are presently being studied by the Aberjona Citizens for Transportation (Acp). We encourage the participation of all citizens who are interested in working toward a solution to the transportation problems that presently do and in the future will affect every resident of Winchester.

Questions Data On Teachers' Pay

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Some years back, I read a book entitled "How to Lie with Statistics," and ever since that time I have been sensitive to the manner in which numbers are presented to back up a belief or contention. The letter from Frances Gershin (Star, March 6) was no exception.

Without addressing the issue of teachers' pay or skills, the hours they are required to work, particularly relative to those in other occupations, deserves attention.

Using her figures (except for the lunch half hour), a teacher works 44.5 hours per week or 8.9 hours per day. A 40-week year is mentioned, but this year most teachers are expected to be available for 180 teaching plus one orientation day. That amounts to 36.2 weeks or 1.611 hours.

A worker in another line probably works only eight hours per day for 240 days per year (allowing 2.5 weeks vacation and 8 holidays) for a total of 1920 hours. This works out to 309 hours or more than 19 per cent higher than the claimed number for the teacher.

The side issues of continued education (teachers usually receive pay raises for such work) and extra-curricular activities (often paid for directly) are well matched by dedicated people in other jobs and professions.

In summary, without addressing the issue of pay and agreeing that working together will move us toward a goal, it is not clear to me that this is best accomplished by misleading presentation of data by the teachers' spokesman.

Hospital Event

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I had a recent experience which, because of its significance to the community, I want to share with The Star's subscribers.

During a stay as a patient at the Winchester Hospital a week or two ago, I either lost or misplaced my wallet containing personal papers, keys, credit cards and some folding money. Things you would really hate losing.

I am extremely pleased to tell one and all that a week after my discharge from the hospital I received a telephone call from their cashier's office, telling me that my wallet had been found by a member of the housekeeping staff and turned in to her supervisor and would I please come up and claim it. You probably guessed it.

The contents of the wallet were intact and returned to me just as though I had never been separated from them!

This kind of employee integrity is a credit to Mr. Reece James' administration and to the hospital's hiring practices, as well as to its employees and supervisors. Winchester is, indeed, fortunate to have this great institution in its midst.

Girls Scouts Thank Businesses, Groups

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The Winchester Girl Scouts would like to thank the following community businesses and organizations for helping us celebrate Girl Scout Week:

Richard Usen of Locatelli Realty Co. and Burns Associates Realtors for providing the Girl Scout gallery with its splendid location in the old Surety Bank offices; Fitzgerald Fuel, Burns Associates Realtors and the Winchester Public Library for showing troop displays; and the general public for the interest and enthusiasm given to girl scouts in our town last week.

Brownies, juniors, cadettes, seniors and their leaders deeply appreciate all the time and services willingly donated to support scout activities during this special week and all year long.

Senior Citizen Wants To Entertain

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

It has been my pleasure on numerous occasions to entertain for the senior citizens not only of Winchester but of many other cities and towns.

As this is my hobby, I would like to continue always.

When dinners arranged one day a month, why can't the senior citizens be a part of the festivities? Such is not the case.

There must be plenty of talent amongst them. There are people outside of those present who take over.

I would suggest before we start to dine that whoever is in charge ask the group if anybody would like to entertain. After all, it is our day. Let us enjoy it while we are here among you.

On several occasions I have offered my services and have been given the brush-off by those in charge with the excuse we have no time or I must ask somebody else. Now these people are all my friends and I know they always like to hear me entertain.

The only answer I can give them is I will if they let me.

So as soon as the senior citizens have their lunch they take off right away and wait for another month to come around.

As for not having time, that is a poor excuse to give. There will be time when we have all passed away.

Thank you for publishing this letter.

K Of C Breakfast

The annual Communion breakfast of the Knights of Columbus, No. 210 of Winchester, was Sunday at the Immaculate Conception Parish.

Members gathered on Cross street, and led by a police escort paraded to the church. Mass was celebrated by Father Murray, the pastor, assisted by his associate priests, and a special guest, the recently appointed Auxiliary Bishop Ruocco of the Merrimac Valley.

Immediately following the mass a breakfast was served by Jimmy and Rose, caterers to approximately 200 members, many of whom brought their sons as guests.

After breakfast, Rep. S. W. Saltmarsh Jr. served as toastmaster and presented speakers.

Among them were Selectmen Sullivan, Dunbar and Glarizzo. In introducing Father Murray, who is also the council chaplain, the council gave the pastor a standing ovation to welcome him home from the hospital.

He expressed gratitude for the council's visit and said he would give way to his seminary classmate, Bishop Ruocco.

The bishop said faith should be spread among the family, in business and government. He reminded members that this was the message of Christ to his apostles as they were instructed to go out into the market place and spread the word, that we should overcome temerity, come out from behind closed doors and preach faith at any price.

He dwelt on the Pope's message of renewal, that it starts with the person, the members of the Knights of Columbus who are in the front lines.

Grand Knight Mawn concluded the meeting by presenting awards to members who had attained 50 years in the order and also to those who had reached 65 years of age and at least 25 years as a member.

Rev. Munn To Talk At Lunch

Rev. Sherill Munn of the Second Congregational Church will be guest preacher for the March 26 Lenten lunch in Ripley Chapel at the First Congregational Church.

The Lenten Luncheon Ministries is open to members of all congregations in Winchester and any others.

After a light luncheon at noon in Chidley Hall, a service is led by a Winchester clergyman, beginning at 12:30 and ending promptly at 12:50. Seekers

Unitarian Church

Palm Sunday Service Featuring Music

Music will be an important part of the Palm Sunday service at the Unitarian Church.

The Senior Choir will sing "Seven Words of Christ on the Cross," a simple dramatic composition written by Schuetz in 1645.

The narrative passages are sung by Betsy Ewing, Joanne Ichisin, Margaret Ritchie, Steve Davies, Charles Morgan, Peter Rosenburger and Jack Zarker.

To celebrate the renewal of life with the coming of spring, there will be carols sung by the Children's Choir, directed by Susan Cowan, and madrigals by the Folk Singers Group and the Senior Choir.

The Winchester String Orchestra will accompany the organ prelude and the choir's presentation of Hayden's "Come Gentle Spring."

Its members include Judy McDermott, Michael Cammerata, Judy Marko, Sally Kincaid and Kitty Labor. The recorder soloist is Heidi Petersen.

The program is under the direction of Luther Enstad with Julie Collins, organist.

After the service a hymn sing will be held in the Symmes Room.

Epiphany Choir Plans Special

'Friday' Worship

The senior choir of the Parish of the Epiphany will present Daniel Pinkham's "The Reproaches," conducted by Victoria Sirota, in connection with the Good Friday service March 28 at 8 p.m.

The practice of singing "The Reproaches," according to Rev. John J. Bishop "probably had its origin in Constantinople in the second century and was subsequently introduced to the Western Church at Rome."

Bishop says "The Reproaches" has been sung on Good Friday in one Sistine Chapel.

The particular composition to be presented employs a full chorus, semi-chorus and organ and was written in 1960.

Pinkham studied under Piston, Copland, Honegger and Berber. He has taught at Boston Conservatory, Boston University and Harvard University.

He currently teaches at New England Conservatory and is organist at King's Chapel in Boston.

The service is open to the public.

Malden Catholic Plans Dinner

Malden Catholic Associates' sixth annual dinner dance will be April 5 at the Dorothy Quincy Suite, John Hancock Hall, Boston.

There will be a catered roast beef dinner, dancing till midnight to the Tony Bruno Jr. Orchestra, an open bar and prizes.

Tickets may be obtained by calling the school.

Temple Shalom

March 21 Friday evening services at 8:15 p.m.

Bat Mitzvah of Barbara Paru. Hasidic music presentation. Sermon: "Religious Routes to a Mad or Messianic World."

Children To Demonstrate Triumphant Entry Of Jesus

Children of the First Congregational Church will demonstrate "the triumphant entry of Jesus on a donkey" during worship at the church this Sunday.

Worship and church school classes for nursery through grade 6 are held at 10 a.m. Children attend the first part of the service with their parents and go to their learning areas after the children's talk.

Rev. Walter Davis will continue his Lenten sermon series on "What I Believe." This week's topic is "Christ and Reconciliation."

New members will be received into the church.

Following church service an adult education seminar will be held in Chidley Fireside. A discussion on "Ethics in America" will be led by Leonor Rich and Fred Redding Jr.

A "2nd Hour for Children" will begin with refreshments at 11 a.m. followed by a creative activities time for children of all ages.

St. Eulalia CYO

Schedules Dance

St. Eulalia's CYO will hold a dance on Saturday from 8 to 11 p.m. at the church, 50 Ridge st., for ninth graders and older. The band will be the "What Next." There will be an admission fee.

Country Store

The St. Camillus Sodality is sponsoring a country store on Thursday evening, April 10 at 8 p.m.

It will be in St. Camillus auditorium, 1175 Concord Turnpike, Arlington. Doors open at 8:30 p.m.

Alcoholics Anonymous

Every Monday night at 8:30 p.m. at St. Eulalia's Church, 50 Ridge st., there will be a meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous. Everyone is welcome.

On March 27 at 6 p.m. there will be a seder supper prepared and planned by the church school staff for all families to celebrate Maundy Thursday.

The program will be a passover experience followed by the service of Tenebrae (shadows) and holy communion in the sanctuary at 7:30 p.m. Children are invited to attend with their families.

Lenton Study

Groups Meet At First Congo.

Three study groups meet weekly at First Congregational Church. Rev. George T. Easton leads one on "Focus Your Faith Through Value Clarification."

The group utilizes a variety of methods to help participants reflect on life in the categories of ideas, feelings, actions and values, and how these are related to faith. It meets each Monday.

Rev. Walter B. Davis meets with two others. The Bible search group, on Thursday, is designed for those who would like a systematic study of the Scriptures. On Fridays, the book, entitled "Pilgrims & Pioneers" written by the late Dr. John Lobingier of Winchester, is being read and reviewed. All three groups meet in the Church Library from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Christian Science Church Services

Sunday, March 23
"Matter" will be the lesson sermon at 11 a.m., also Sunday School (under the age of 20) and child care at 114 Church st.

Girls BAYS League To Have 3 Teams

Winchester girls will have three teams this spring in the Bay Area Youth Soccer League (BAYS).

There will be an A team coached by J. Driscoll for girls in grades 10-12; a B team coached by P. Franchi for grades 7-9; and a C team coached by J. Earlam for grades 4-6.

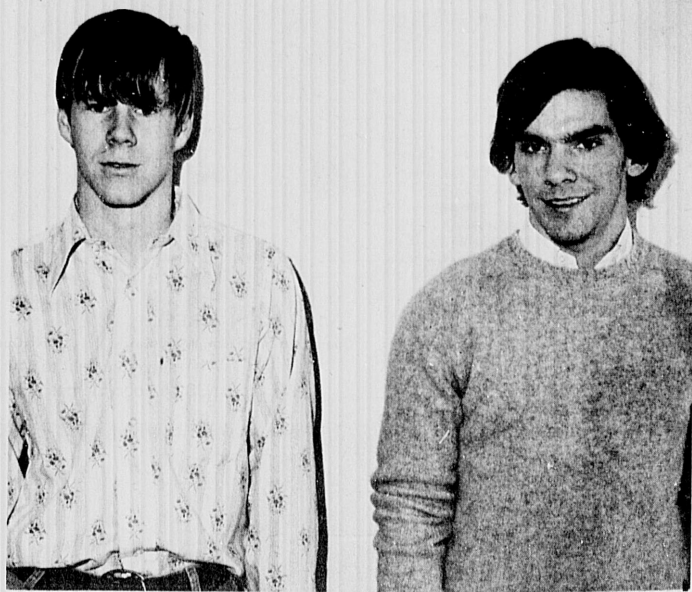

Tryouts for these teams will be held on March 22 at Ambrose School Field.

Since each coach will only carry 20 players, competition for places is expected to be keen.

The B team will tryout at 9:15 a.m. The C team will tryout at 10:45 a.m. The A team will tryout at 1:30 p.m.

The A team will meet on Tuesday evening; the C team on Wednesday evening, and the B team on Thursday evening of the following week.

The meeting time for all groups is tentatively set at 5:30 p.m. Coaches can confirm the times and will be pleased to answer questions about the coming season.

Richard Coakley (left) and Gerry Kivney are the new co-captains of the Winchester High School hockey squad, announced at last Wednesday's friends of high school hockey banquet.

Parents, Faculty To Play Fun Ball

Plans and practice are underway for the Winchester High School Parent Faculty Association sports event of the year, the April Fool's "Funtasketball Game," featuring parents and high school faculty.

Among the parent players who will be seen in action will be Lane McGovern, Kay Bigelow, Jack Noble, Mary Pronski, Truman Dayton, Donna Goodman and Joan and Bill Bird.

Coach for the parents team will be Jim Phillips.

Those who want to be cheerleaders should contact Donna Goodwin of 18 West Chardon rd.

Tickets for the game, to be held April 1 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gymnasium, may be obtained at Cradock's Apothecary, Star Stationery and from Parent Faculty executive board members.

Resteghini Named To List

Paul J. Resteghini of 6 Carriage la, was recently placed on the dean's list at Bryant College, Smithfield, R.I.

Kivney, Coakley Named Cpts. Of High School Hockey Team

By John F. Parrell

The Winchester High School hockey team was honored at a dinner last week at Sons of Italy hall sponsored by the mothers of tri-captains Tom Brennan, David Brenton and Peter Frongillo and attended by nearly 100 well wishers of the team.

Head table guests included School Dept. Supt. William Mac Donald, Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr., who served as toastmaster; Selectman John J. Sullivan, Mrs. Mary G. Pronski, who represented the School Committee; WHS Principal Vincent Larocco, Coach Dave Berman and Mrs. Berman.

Invited guests included Dr. and Mrs. Charles Berman of Belmont, parents of Coach Berman.

The boys did justice to an ample catered dinner. There was a lengthy speaking program by head table guests. Presentation of the Winchester Youth Hockey awards was by John Falla, president of the organization.

These included the William Cruwys trophy to captain Peter Frongillo as the boy who had done most for the team and a scholarship to defense player Jim Beaton.

Coach Berman thanked the players and their parents for excellent cooperation during the season. He reviewed the schedule briefly and pointed to the victories over Burlington and Melrose as the high spots.

Although the team's record was only 8-9-1 it could have been at least three or four games better with a goal at some crucial moments.

He presented players' trophy to Peter Frongillo and the coach's award to Kevin O'Neil. Tri-captain Tom Brennan, Gerry Kivney and Tri-captain Frongillo were given mementos of their selection to the Middlesex League All Star team.

Letters were presented to all varsity team members including Brennan, Brenton and Frongillo, Steve Murphy, Dave Dolan, Jim Beaton, Gerry Kivney, Don Allard, Kevin O'Neil, Mark Cullen, Richard Coakley, Bill McLean, Jim Graham, Art Johns, Larry O'Grady, David Putnam, Mike O'Leary and Jack McInnis.

Co-captains named for the 1975-76 season were announced as Gerry Kivney and Richard Coakley. Coach Dave Berman and his assistant, Kevin Cruz, were presented with gifts by the tri-captains to show the appreciation of the players.

Kathleen Conley Passes Fourth Skating Test

Kathleen M. Conley, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Conley of 21 Laurel Hill lane, has passed her fourth in a series of eight tests in figure skating as administered by the United States Figure Skating Association.

Miss Conley, who is a member of the Winchester Figure Skating Club, is training under Tina Noyes of Lexington. Miss Noyes is a USFSA gold medalist and former Olympic and National Champion.

The fourth figure test is administered in two parts. The first part consists of actual tracings of specified "school figures" a minimum of three times with a high degree of accuracy.

The second part involves a freestyle program of skating including various jumps and spins as defined by the association's rules.

Miss Conley's success in skating has been due to her diligence to keep up with the demands of this disciplined sport, said V. Paul Migliore of Melrose. She has little time to spend on things other than school and her paper route — which helps to pay for some of her skating expenses — and of course practicing her figures, he noted.

Her goals are quite specific. Before she enters college, she wants to pass her eighth and final test — the Gold Test — for which many skaters aspire, but few ever attain. After that, skating will become of secondary importance to her education, but something she'll enjoy doing always, said Migliore.

Soccer Tryouts Set Saturday

Soccer tryouts for 11 year olds will be held Saturday at MacDonald Field from 9 to 11 a.m.

All boys who participated in tryouts two weeks ago are welcome to attend again, said A. von Lazar of 91 Church st.

Twenty-two players will make the final selection of the team that will represent Winchester in 10 games against five towns.

In case of rain, tryouts will be held Sunday at noon.

For more information contact von Lazar.

Squirt Lions Tie Peabody

In two recent games against top teams of the region, the Winchester Youth Hockey League, the St. Eulalia Squirt Lions managed a 2-2 tie with last year's state champion Peabody AA team, but dropped a 5-0 decision to the well-disciplined Reading AA squad.

The young Lions played one of their best games of the year against Peabody at Saugus Hockeystown, with the first line of Steve Tucci, Steve Dionne and John Kisi putting on a fine display of two-way hockey.

The first period ended with Peabody holding a 1-0 edge.

Early in the second period, Kisi blocked a Peabody attempt to clear the puck from their zone. Dionne picked up the loose puck and fired a slap shot which rebounded to Tucci, who then backhanded the puck into the open side of the net.

The action swung from end to end, with St. Eulalia goalie Jackie Davies making several glove saves and the Lion forwards being denied on many chances around the Peabody net.

Peabody moved ahead 2-1 in the third period, but Tucci salvaged the tie with an unassisted goal in the dying minutes when he blasted home a loose puck after entering the game as a sixth attacker.

The St. Eulalia forwards outskated their Reading counterparts, but had difficulty penetrating the quick and strong Reading defense.

Speedskaters Win Honors

Several boys and girls from Winchester went to Bridgeport, Conn., recently to compete in the Atlantic coast speedskating championships.

Some 138 boys and girls from the eastern seaboard competed for championship honors. Two Winchesterites came away with the Atlantic coast championship. John Boyle, 28 Garfield ave., topped the midget boys class, age 10 and 11, and Beth Nowell, 515 Washington st., came away with the pee-wee girls title, age 6 and 7.

Competing in the pee wee boys class, Robbie Glynn of 20 Churchill rd. won third place for overall points.

Also competing from Winchester were Mary Boyle, Laurie Glynn and Nancy Monteith.

Some of the above skaters will be competing in the North American championships at Lake Placid, March 21, 22 and 23. They will be competing against the best skaters from the U.S. and Canada. This meet is considered the most important speedskating meet of the year, topped only by the Olympics.

Hard work paid off for the Montvale School of Gymnastics girls team recently in two compulsory meets.

In a compulsory meet each girl must do some routine as her competition on each of the four Olympic events similar to the school figures for skaters. Because the routines are the same, perfection is the name of the game.

Qualifiers at the Stoneham meet was Sarah Gagon, 11, of Winchester.

In the second qualifying meet Jennifer Edwards, 15 of Winchester, qualified.

The Lakers got a real scare as the Bucks led the game until there were two minutes remaining in the game. Key baskets by Ken Goodrow and Bruce Cambell enabled the Lakers to pull out the win. Jeff Cahill was high scorer of the game with 24 points.

Knicks 70, Jazz 60
J. M. Gagan scored 32 points and Jim Oliver scored 28 to lead the Knicks over the Jazz 70 to 60. Quick footed Rick Pentaleo scored 26 points to lead the Jazz in scoring.

Celtics 54, Lakers 32
The stage was set, the Lakers 9 and 4 and the Celtics 8 and 5. The position of first place would be decided in the last game of the regular season. From the tap off there was no doubt that the Celtics were going to win as they scored 11 unanswered points. The Lakers never could make up the deficit.

Jeff McGoldrick led the C's in scoring with 18 points. Brad Cowen scored 8 straight points for the C's as the downfall of the Lakers had finally happened. Jim Khor scored 18 points in the losing effort for the Lakers.

The lectures will be in the Tufts Dental Health Sciences Building, 1 Kneeland st., Boston.

★ Budget

She suggested step increases "be foregone this year." The $90,000 savings could be "translated to 45 cents on the tax rate," she said.

She urged the School Committee to consider granting non-negotiated increases only in cases of merit.

TMM Mary McQuillin pointed to cases where teachers would be eligible for both step increases and cost of living increases. "Give one or the other, not both," she suggested.

Responding, Parkhurst said: "We might well be more selective," adding this may bring forth more arbitration, "but we can deal with that."

Committee member Mary Pronski said the School Committee is talking with WEA about this matter now.

TMM John Twomey charged the School Committee allows tenured principals to deal directly with them about curriculum and content rather than with the superintendent of schools.

Parkhurst called the charge "ridiculous" saying "the superintendent is the day-to-day link with principals. The administration is not sidetracked," he said.

Parkhurst said the School Committee and only the School Committee decides on curriculum.

He also noted "teachers should reduce their demands if we are to keep the tax rate down and keep educational quality up as it has been."

Mrs. Pronski agreed with those who voiced unhappiness that Latin I and German I are being dropped.

She said only 11 or 12 students signed up for the courses in recent years and noted: "If 25 students ask for such classes, we are required to have them," she said.

TMM Arthur Hewis blamed low enrollments in Latin and German on "poor leadership on the part of the School Committee, administration or guidance counselors."

He charged that Winchester schools are not preparing students to become doctors or lawyers.

Parkhurst said there have been 17 students taking Latin at Winchester High School during the past three years. Those who don't take it in high school "can take it at college," he said.

TMM John A. Cheever said "The elimination of Latin is 30 years too late."

Hewis warned he plans to go to the Finance Committee to ask them to withhold Chapter 766 funds "until the legislature passes the state budget."

(Chapter 766 costs are refunded by "the state as are Metco expenses.)

In discussion of the athletic budget and possibly cutting some of the interscholastic activities, Parkhurst indicated the citizenry would object. "Maybe some year the sacred cow will go," he said.

TMM Elizabeth Henriques drew applause when she challenged the committee to go against the wishes of the town as they did on the Metco question and reduce athletics programs.

On a question about Metco expenses, Mrs. Pronski explained the school budget discussed at the hearing had nothing to do with Metco. The Metco budget will be separate and refunded by the state, she said.

Many of unsuccessful School Committee candidates who ran in the recent election were present and raised questions. One of them, Helen Philliou, said she would like to see citizens on a school management study group.

★ Finance

The article is a precautionary measure in case the town is required to revalue. The board will not spend the money if it doesn't have to. Assessors Chairman George Louis Andersen said.

Finance recommends unfavorable action on expanding the leaf collection program so residents could have the town collect their leaves after being raked into the street.

"There appears to be a need for large expenditures for additional equipment and possibly additional personnel. The Finance Committee believes this is not an appropriate year for the inauguration of such a new program," their report states.

Recommended favorable is an article from the Council on Aging for the transfer of land on Skillings road for a senior citizen center.

The board qualifies its recommendation contingent on funding from the state.

Finance recommends unfavorable action on extending the dog leash law to 24 hours but recommends favorable on increasing from $2 to $4 the daily pound fee.

Finance has deferred for now any recommendation on replacing the town incinerator with a transfer station. A special town meeting in February voted $20,000 for engineering studies.

Finance will wait for the Solid Waste Disposal Study Committee to make its report at town meeting before making a recommendation.

The committee recommends appropriating $112,000, half to be reimbursed, for reconstruction of Palmer-Lake streets.

The committee recommends favorable action on a student rights article submitted by the School Committee. "No financial impact can be associated with this article," Finance wrote.

The committee recommends favorable action on the sale of all town-owned residential property except the two properties at 22 Linden street and 22 Highland ave.

The School Committee has released the properties as no longer needed for future school expansion. The Board of Selectmen opposes their sale.

Finance also recommends favorable action on a Board of Selectmen article to have the state take over the Swanton street bridge.

The town meeting begins Monday at 7:45 p.m. in the new high school.

POLICE ACTION

Statues Worth $3,700 Stolen

Statues valued by the owner at $3,700 were reported stolen in a break at 25 Wedgemere ave. reported Friday.

Entrance to the house was through the cellar. Nineteen of 21 statues recently moved to the house from Boston were missing.

The owner said the theft occurred sometime since March 7.

Winchester police on Tuesday investigated the theft Monday night of a white pickup truck from the Bonnell Motors lot on Cambridge street. The 1974 vehicle was hot-wired.

There was a break at Celuso Fastener, 162 Cross st., reported Monday. Entry was by breaking a window. Tools were missing.

Eight speakers were reported stolen from Mahoney Rocky Ledge's outside display area Saturday night.

On Sunday St. Mary's School office was broken into by intruders using a ladder and entering through a second floor window. Two typewriters were stolen.

Last Thursday resident of 2 Willowdale road reported at 3 a.m. that Arlington police notified him car stolen earlier from his driveway had been recovered.

Last Wednesday resident of 12 Baldwin street reported a bicycle stolen from the yard.

March 11

Three Malden youths were arrested in Winchester at 10:27 p.m. on March 11 after they abandoned a stolen motor vehicle on Ginn road. Two were juveniles, the other was 17. Winchester police assisted MDC police in the apprehension of the boys.

At 10:35 p.m. police responded to a call that a car was afire on Aberjona drive. This turned out to be trouble with the carburetor and electrical system.

Also this date there was a break at 41 Wedgemere ave. with a color television and silverware stolen; and a break at Golf Cars Inc. (formerly Winchester Cartons) with $6,000 damage to four golf carts. According to Police Lt. Andrew Crawford, evidence indicated that intruders drove the carts around bumping into each other in dog-dog fashion.

March 10

On March 10 a storm window, 20" x 20", with an inner glass window, 6" x 12", at 1 Hawthorne rd. was damaged by a B-B pellet.

At 4:45 p.m. the same day police received a report that children were stealing plywood from a vacant house on Henry street.

There was a report from a Johnson road resident this day that someone was seen in bushes nearby with a rifle. Police responded but found no one to fit the description given by the caller.

At 6:50 p.m. Carl Marcy, signal maintenance supervisor for the B&M Railroad, notified police that unknown persons placed an iron belt behind the switchpost at the Winchester Highlands station on outbound main tracks. Failure of discovery, said Marcy, could have led to derailment of trains.

Family Courts, Juvenile Justice LWV Study Topics

Who is a juvenile? What is a juvenile court?

A juvenile is any person who has reached his or her seventh birthday but is not yet 17. A juvenile court is one which has jurisdiction over neglected and delinquent children and children in need of services; over adults who contribute to the delinquency of children; and over parents or guardians who neglect or abandon children or fail to cause their attendance at school.

There are four juvenile courts in Massachusetts, the oldest, Boston, having been in operation since 1906.

To learn what happens when a juvenile is arrested, to examine the workings of the juvenile justice system in Massachusetts, the League of Women Voters will hold discussion unit meetings next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Mrs. Priscilla Baumann, chairman of the administration of justice committee, explains this area of study is the current focus for the league's four-year-old, continuing study of Massachusetts' court system.

Members of her committee who will be present to provide background information are Mrs. Verity Feldmann, Mrs. Montgomery Aiken, Mrs. Margaret Sanderson, Mrs. Nora Spanjaard and Mrs. Frances Weiffenbach.

The March 25 meeting will be held at 7:45

Citizens Group Intends To Seek Recall Petitions

The anti-Metco group has expressed interest in removing Committee persons Stephen R. Parkhurst, the chairman; Richard L. Pharo and Catherine R. Fallon. The following is the text of the letter Citizens for Responsible Education in Winchester (Crew) sent to the town clerk's office. It was signed by Stanley J. Hewis, chairman.

"The executive board of Crew recently voted to proceed with a recall election of certain School Committee members under the provisions of Section 7-13 of the Town of Winchester charter.

"Affidavits required by the aforementioned section will be filed with your office on or about March 24, 1975.

"Since this is a new procedure for all of it is our hope that with this notification you will be able to proceed to obtain the required recall petition blanks so they will be available to us upon the filing of the affidavits.

"I will be available should you think it necessary or desirable to meet with you to cooperate and coordinate this process in order to eliminate confusion and improve our understanding."

Middleton Committee Tables Metco

The Middleton School Committee, according to member Anne Angers, has tabled the topic of Metco "for at least another year." This decision came after a "non-binding referendum" last Saturday which showed 995 of the town's citizens rejected plans for Metco's inclusion in Middleton schools.

Ms. Angers said 180 of the residents were in favor of Metco.

The electorate in this instance, she explained, includes all residents of the town, not necessarily registered voters. The Middleton population is from 1,700 to 2,000, she said.

She told The Star she was the committee member who proposed implementing Metco in Middleton. After presenting the idea to the committee, she said she received unanimous support of the other four members.

She blamed the rejection of the citizenry to Metco on "misinformation" brought into Middleton by outsiders and distributed by Cram (Citizens for Responsible Action in Middleton).

Their flyer, she said, was distributed on Thursday and Friday of last week just previous to the Saturday election. This didn't allow Metco proponents time to retaliate, she said.

The flyer, a copy of which is in The Star office, urges Middleton voters to reject Metco because of cost factors.

It refers to the Brookline Metco program and activities in other communities, including Winchester.

Ms. Angers said she contacted Brookline school administrators and Metco in Boston and learned the flyer contained misinformation.

The flyer says: "The Winchester Finance Committee has recommended to the people of Winchester to vote NO on Metco." (The flyer does not explain the committee recommended a no vote on a social and philosophical basis.)

Ms. Angers recalled bringing the Metco matter up to her associates last December. After a 5-0 vote of the committee, she said, there were three meetings held to explain Metco to the residents of Middleton.

There were just a few townspeople present at the first meeting. There were from 120 to 130 at the second.

The third "was atrocious," she said. There were about 110 present and "most of them were hostile."

She said it was her opinion "the Cram sheets did the most damage."

In closing she said she was told the same outsiders who advised Cram were no doing similar work in Georgetown and Beverly where the School Committees are considering implementation of Metco.

WINCHESTER NATIONAL BANK
7 Church Street
Winchester, Mass.
NOTICE OF SPECIAL MEETING OF
SHAREHOLDERS
A Special Meeting of the Shareholders
of Winchester National Bank will be held at its main office, 7 Church Street,
Winchester, Massachusetts, on April 15,
1975, at 4:15 p.m., for the following
purposes:
1. To consider and vote upon the matter of ratifying and confirming the Plan of Reorganization and Agreement to Consolidate The County Bank, N.A. and
Winchester National Bank with and into
The County Bank, N.A. under the charter of the County Bank, N.A. and with the title of Shawmut County Bank, N.A., and the execution thereof by the President and a majority of the Directors of this bank.
2. To act upon any and all matters incident to the foregoing and to transact such other business as may properly
come before the meeting.
Approval of said Plan of
Reorganization and Agreement to Consolidate by the Comptroller of the Currency is required for consummation of said consolidation. An executed copy of said Plan of Reorganization and Agreement to Consolidate is on file, and may be inspected during regular business hours, at the offices of the bank.
If the action proposed is approved by the shareholders at the meeting and the proposed consolidation is consummated, shareholders who voted against such action at the meeting or who gave written notice at or prior to such meeting to the presiding officer of such shareholders dissent from the plan of consolidation, are entitled to dissenters' appraisal rights as specified in 12 United States Code, Section 915.
By order of the Board of Directors,
Charles W. Craven
Secretary

DeMolay Notes International Week 1975

The Winchester Chapter Order of DeMolay is participating in a series of activities this week to celebrate International DeMolay Week 1975.

This week's activities have included a program for DeMolay mothers on Monday night; visiting the sick in Winchester and Woburn Hospitals on Tuesday; and dedicating Winchester and Woburn town memorials on Wednesday.

Today the chapter members are going on a visitation, tomorrow they will go out to dinner and on Saturday they will distribute ecology information.

According to Jim Graves of 6 Kenilworth rd., DeMolay is an organization for young men between 12-21.

New members have joined the Winchester chapter during the past few weeks with others on a waiting list.

For more information, contact Jim Graves.

★ T meeting

Selectmen's Budget
In addition to their regular annual operating budget, selectmen will be asking town meeting for additional funds to provide for a town manager to be appointed under the new town charter.

Besides a salary of about $25,000 for the town manager, executive secretary to selectmen Edward Donnelly provides the following estimates for the office of the town manager:

Office furniture, including a secretary's desk and chair, typewriter, six four-drawer files and dividers $3,000.
Telephone, office supplies and other expendables — $2,000.

Town manager's secretary's salary in grade S-9, $7,103. An additional $5,000 should be added, said Donnelly, in anticipation of supplementing the salary appropriation for the executive secretary.

Other Articles
The financial impact of some articles being brought before the town meeting is as follows:

Capital equipment, $160,541.
Main Street sidewalk, $7,300.
Improved street lighting, $16,826.

Modification of the traditional procedure of insuring warrants for state and federal elections: postage and printing, $765; labor for putting on address labels, $825; and advertising, $575.

Accepting four public ways (Russett lane, Thornberry road, Bigelow avenue, and Berkshire drive): $50.

(See separate stories on the school budget and School Committee and Finance Committee attitudes several on the warrant articles.)

Open Burning Authorized By Statute Until April 15

Open burning is permitted in Winchester from March 15 to April 15 since the town is part of the Boston Air Pollution Control District allowed to burn in that time.

According to William F. Cass, director of the district, the intent of the legislation is to allow for opening burning associated with the following activities:

- Domestic tree trimming and pruning.
- Domestic garden preparation.
- Commercial nursery tree trimming and pruning.
- Government nursery and forest tree trimming and pruning.
- Maintenance of existing access ways.
- Removal of driftwood from beach and shore areas.

Cass says the statute specifically prohibits open burning of grass, hay and leaves. His department interprets the statute to say that open burning associated with the following activities would not be consistent with the intent of the legislation:

- Residential, industrial, commercial and governmental land clearing for site or road development.

Brownies Give Plants To Seniors

Winchester Brownie troops 520 and 494 recently met at the Winchester elderly housing on Palmer street to present plants to senior citizens.

About 20 Brownies of the Vinson-Owen School area participated.

The plants were purchased six weeks ago and nurtured by the scouts. Each girl selected her own plant for presentation. Refreshments were served. Songs were sung under the arrangement of Joan Solomon of 18 Pilgrim dr. who played piano.

Jean O'Neill of 7 Wolcott rd. and Maria Dulchinos of 18 Berkshire dr. were in charge of decorating the pots.

Leaders of Troop 494 are Mrs. Dulchinos, Eithemia Zervogios of 31 Thornberry rd. and Carole Barlow of 9 Thornberry rd.

Leaders of troop 520 are Lil Murray of 88 Thornberry rd. and Mrs. O'Neill.

Adam And Eve Perform In 'Hamlet' and 'Gigi'

Adam Goodman, Winchester resident and fourth grade student at Lincoln School, danced the young Prince Hamlet in the Boston Ballet's world premiere performance of "Hamlet" at the Music Hall recently.

A short dance by Hamlet as a child (Adam Goodman) and Yorick, the Court Jester, Sanson Candelaria, is a whimsical display.

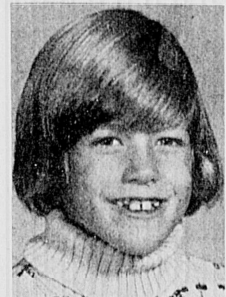

While Adam was dancing at the Music Hall, his sister, Eve, was performing in the Boston Conservatory's production of the musical comedy "Gigi."

Both Adam and Eve study music, piano and violin respectively. They also study with Edith Bolster and Doris Thomas both of Winchester.

Last November Adam was selected to play forward for the Pee Wee all-star soccer team.

His parents feel this reinforces a recent British theory that dance enhances soccer skills. There are several British professional soccer teams which have their players studying ballet.

Scouts Hold 6th Annual Aberjona River Cleanup

The Boys Scouts of Winchester and Woburn will hold their sixth annual Aberjona River Cleanup on Saturday.

Working together on foot and in canoes, the boys will remove debris from the stream and its banks.

Last year, 31 truckloads of trash were removed during the one-day cleanup.

In each of the past five years, the average haul from the river has been over 30 truckloads.

Jack Farrell, coordinator, explained this river cleanup project is an important part of the Boy Scout commitment to a cleaner environment.

The national scout program Save Our American Resources, encourages units to undertake major cleanup jobs of this nature all over the country.

This project by scouts is one of the largest and most effective ones in the New England region, Farrell stated.

He said it is necessary to schedule the cleanup early in the spring while the water level is still high enough to accommodate canoes.

"As in years past, we hope this will be a meaningful educational experience for the scouts who will see at first hand the results of littering and will think twice before littering, and for the public who are made aware of the litter problem each year by the boys' efforts," he concluded.

This year, scouts in 45 canoes will start at 8 a.m. to clean the river from Salem street, Woburn, to Wedgemere Station, Winchester.

Working in teams of two, canoeists will haul shopping carts, baby carriages, lawn mowers, oil drums, tires, lumber, car parts and hundreds of beer cans out of the Aberjona to one of six dump points.

Winchester and Woburn Park Department trucks will provide assistance by transporting trash from dumping stations to dumps.

Points will be given for trash collection at each dumping station. Prizes will be awarded to the top teams at the close of the event.

Younger scouts, who will collect trash along banks in burlap bags, will be eligible for prizes.

All participants will receive a special patch designed to commemorate the cleanup.

Adults will be stationed at all danger, dump and portage points along route.

At five portages boys will carry canoes.

At the high school playing field, where the river disappears into a culvert, canoe-carrier will transport six canoes at a time to the end of the culvert at Skillings road and Main street.

Winchester police will help control traffic at portages, particularly at the Main street bridge in Winchester center.

The Winchester Fire Department will send a truck to the finishing point to help boys clean the day's accumulation of mud and slime from the canoes.

Refreshments for workers will be available at the Cross street portage and at the chuckwagon at Wedgemere Station.

Winchester units participating in the cleanup are Troops 503, 507, 508, and 525. Woburn troops are 500, 504, 510, 523, 541, Explorer Post 35, a group of senior boys and girls, will be covering the event with motion picture and photographs.

Jack Farrell, troop 507 committeeman, will supervise this year's cleanup assisted by Joe Cahill, who will be in charge of point scores.

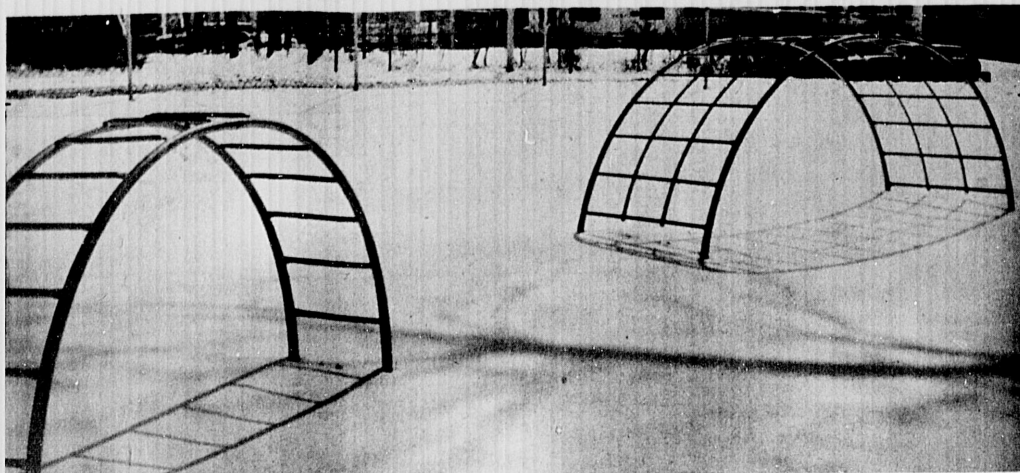

Among the many adults who will donate time and energy to the cleanup are Jim Maxwell, who will act as quartermaster; Joe Cahill, in charge of the bank beavers; Fran Selvitelli and Jerry Polcari, who will dispense hot dogs and hamburgers at the chuckwagon.

Don Van Roosen, scoutmaster of Troop 507, is head of a group of scouts responsible for a preliminary check of the river in canoes, using axes and saws to remove branches and saws to remove obstructing branches and insure clear passage on the day of the cleanup.

Joe Costello will provide snacks at the Cross street point.

Prizes will be selected and awarded by Dr. Reynolds; meal tickets were printed and donated by John Sutherland; financial support solicitation handled by Bob Cesari; and canoe clean-up at the end is in the charge of Ross Farrar.

Trevett Named Deputy Director Of Action Corps

Kenneth P. Trevett of 7 Woodside rd. has been named deputy director of the Robert F. Kennedy Action Corps.

Trevett was public information officer for the Massachusetts Department of Youth Services prior to the appointment.

The Robert F. Kennedy Action Corps is a private, non-profit social service agency committed to developing more effective ways of diagnosing and treating troubled children and their families.

The Action Corps currently has two children's programs, both in Lancaster.

Wellington Hall is a residential diagnostic unit for troubled boys and girls between the ages of six and 12. The Kennedy Children's Center is a residential unit for the longer term care of boys between six and 13.

A new unit for older emotionally disturbed and assaultive delinquents is to be opened later this spring.

Trevett will assist in the development of a community and public relations program, fund-raising, obtaining public and private grants and evaluation and supervision of on-going programs.

Trevett commented: "I am anxious to expand my knowledge of and involvement in children's programs. The movement of troubled people from custodial care institutions to smaller, more effective treatment facilities is an exciting advance in Massachusetts. My new position gives me an opportunity to play a larger role in the progress our state is making.

"The Action Corps was among the leaders in providing alternative services for neglected and delinquent youngsters," Trevett continued.

"We want to maintain the quality of our existing programs, but also expand our range of services to provide care for aggressive delinquent youngsters. High recidivism rates and violent crime are perpetuated by old-fashioned security institutions.

"We hope to provide an intensive care unit that can protect the public safety, but that also can provide a positive atmosphere for rehabilitation."

Trevett has been active in community affairs for several years. He chaired the United Way drive, is a town meeting member, served with the boy scouts and Little League, and is chairman of the Winchester Unitarian Church Social Concerns Committee.

He has run for the state legislature three times, most recently in 1974.

Molloy Promoted To Auxiliary Sgt.

Auxiliary Police Chief Robert Elliott has announced the promotion of Auxiliary Officer Howard Molloy of 29 Harvard st. to auxiliary sergeant.

Sgt. Molloy has been an active member of the auxiliary police since 1958 and brings a background of extensive experience to his new position.

He assumes command of squad three of the auxiliary police and will be responsible for the training of new members.

Auxiliary police training is coordinated through the Winchester Police Department. It is conducted by officers and men of the department.

Molloy is employed as a custodian at the Winchester Public Library.

APA Honors Former Chief

Former Auxiliary Police Chief Frederick Wier and Mrs. Wier of 59 Woodside rd. were recent guests at a dinner given in his honor by the Winchester Auxiliary Police Association.

Chief Wier retired in December after 25 years in the auxiliary police where he rose from patrolman to chief.

The buffet dinner, hosted by John Drougas of 354 Cross st., was held at Randall's Restaurant, Mt. Vernon street.

Guests included state Representative Sherman Saltmarsh, Police Chief Edward Bowler, Civil Defense Director Wilbur Otis and men of the Winchester Police Department.

Chief Bowler made a presentation of a framed testimonial letter and commemorative badge.

Rep. Saltmarsh, noting the need for concerned citizen participation in today's society, stated the town is a better place because of the unselfish service of Chief Wier and others who give time and energy to the community.

Otis commented on the cooperative efforts

Sewer Use Bill Awaits Passage

Winchester households and industries may soon be paying sewer use charges.

The sewer use charge is part of House Bill 205, now awaiting passage. The bill would change Winchester's assessed rates in the Metropolitan District Commission sewerage district from a sewer connection charge to a rate based on a per capita charge based on the population.

The Water & Sewer Board has endorsed passage of the bill. No opposition was registered against it at a public hearing at the State House last week.

The proposed MDC measure is aimed at establishing fair share charges to provide funding for sewerage projects and operations. The bill would shift municipal sewerage costs from local property taxes to individual users.

In a recent letter to the selectmen, Ernest A. Phillips Jr., chairman of Water & Sewer, said: "This will reduce our payments to MDC. In order to be eligible for certain federal funds, there are certain requirements in the bill—such as breaking out industrial sewage from domestic sewage, and the requirement that each town assess a sewer tax for its contribution to the district."

"But it is our opinion that this will result in reduced charges to Winchester from what we are now paying."

Winchester is one of 43 cities and towns in the sewerage district that will be imposing sewer use charges on households and industries if the bill is passed.

Under 1972 federal legislation, the requirement applies to the district as a whole in order for the MDC to obtain 75 per cent reimbursement for sewerage construction facilities, while the same provision also affects projects by individual municipalities.

According to the MDC, individual households' sewer use charge would probably be based on water consumption. However, sewer use charges for industry would be more involved, considering such factors as strength, volume and other characteristics of waste. The MDC hopes that this approach will make industry pay its share of clean-up costs.

The federal Environmental protection Agency said sewer use charges are intended to enable grant recipients to "be financially self-sufficient with respect to operation and maintenance of treatment works."

In addition to the sewer use charge, the MDC legislation would provide that assessments on cities and towns for capital costs be based on population rather than the number and size of local connections to the MDC system.

of the auxiliary police and auxiliary fire department.

A gift to Chief Wier from his former associates was presented by Albert Venuti, president of the Winchester Auxiliary Police Association.

Police Arrest 10 Youths At Church Dance

Ten Arlington youths were arrested Saturday night in the parking lot of St. Eulalia's Church, during a dance.

According to Police Lt. Andrew Crawford, Officer John Guarante was on duty in the parking lot and three police officers were inside.

Crawford said the youths who were arrested, some of whom had been allegedly drinking, acted in a disorderly manner and had been escorted from the church.

The Arlington youths made a barrier with their bodies in an effort to keep Winchester youths from driving from the parking lot, Crawford said.

Ultimately they surrounded Officer Guarante, who had a dog on a leash. When the dog began nipping at the youths, Guarante was able to arrest them, said Crawford, at 10:45.

The teenagers were taken to court on Monday. Their cases have been continued for trial. They are charged with idle and disorderly conduct.

There was a two-car collision at the intersection of Wildwood, Church and Central streets on Saturday involving two Winchester residents and another from Arlington.

James T. Callaghan, operator of one of the vehicles, suffered injuries to his head and side. A passenger in his car, William O'Leary, was injured on the side. The Arlington resident was unhurt.

There were additional minor accidents this week. One was at the corner of Loring avenue and Cross street. Another was at Main street and Hemingway street. A third was at Symmes Corner rotary. Tuesday there was a minor accident on Lake street. No personal injuries were sustained.

Parkview Apartments continues to be the scene of thievery. Last week articles taken from one apartment were found in another apartment and taken by police who believe the items were mistakenly dropped by thieves. This week, the apartment in which the articles were dropped was robbed of a television.

On Friday there was a break at 43 Glen rd., where wolverware was stolen. There was an attempted break at 26 Cabot st., where a rear door was jimmied but not entered.

Selectmen Name Screening Committee For Town Manager

The Board of Selectmen Monday met with their recently named town manager screening committee and asked the members to recommend two or three possibilities.

The new charter requires the selectmen to appoint a town manager by Nov. 1. Two weeks later the position of executive secretary will be abolished.

The seven members of the screening committee are Paul F. Amico of 18 Kirk st., a former selectman; Robert W. Armstrong Jr. of 15 Chestnut st., former selectman; David J. Ashton of 22 Myrtle st., a former selectman; Robert J. Grenzeback of 16 Mason st., former chairman of the Town Government Study Committee; Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr., a former selectman; John G. McElwee of 3 Longfellow rd., former member of TGSC; J. Edward Sharkey of 220 Forest st., former vocational school representative.

Selectmen chairman Vito A. Giarrizzo told the screening committee the new town manager must be a resident of the town. There is no salary set by the charter, he noted.

Screening committee member Amico asked the selectmen for guidelines, if the committee has to abide by the open meeting law and how much money would it need for expenses.

Amico said it's possible the committee will need out-of-state travel expenses if possible town managers from other sections of the country have to come to Winchester for interviews.

Town Counsel Douglas Randall advised the screening committee they have to abide by all the provisions of the state's open meeting law. The only time the committee may go into closed session is when actual discussion of personalities comes up.

The selectmen briefly discussed other aspects of the town manager transition, including a possibility Town Hall offices will have to be extended into the auditorium section as a temporary measure.

Selectman Lawrence T. Smith said it's the board's intention to have a special town meeting to approve the salary of the town manager.

Chairman Giarrizzo said the salary of the town manager would probably be more than the present executive secretary because the manager's duties will be broader.

Selectman John J. Sullivan said the screening committee could recommend two or three possible managers or make one definite recommendation. It's up to the committee, he said.

The selectmen's weekly meeting Monday was brief because the annual town meeting began later that night. They did discuss a few other items, including a notice from Mystic Fuel, Inc., that No. 2 fuel oil has decreased slightly in price.

The price reduction of $.0075 per gallon reduces the price to $.3650.

Removing a fire from the Aberjona River Saturday morning are these Winchester scouts and leader. Day was cold and rainy but many participated and much trash was removed from the river. More photos, page 11.

Less Taken From Aberjona This Year

There was a "significant reduction" in the amount of trash removed from the Aberjona River during the annual cleanup last Saturday.

"It was hoped by all those participating in this large effort that publicity, a growing awareness and concern for pollution and community concern were beginning to have their effect in producing a cleaner river," commented Scoutmaster Donald Van Roosen following the cleanup.

Last year 34 truckloads of debris were removed from the river. This year only 27 truckloads were removed, and the trucks were smaller this year, Van Roosen points out.

A bank beaver struggles with his load of trash toward a collecting point on Swanton street.

The following is Van Roosen's report on the cleanup:

Forty two-man canoe teams tackled the job of hauling out the usual collection of oil drums, lawn mowers, shopping carts, lumber, beer cans, dead animals, plastic containers.

Sixty bank beavers scoured the shores loading debris into burlap bags. Sixty older scouts and adults, including five members of Explorer Post 35, who functioned as official photographers, brought the total number of workers to over 230.

The timing of the cleanup is dictated by the height of the water in the Aberjona each year. Unless an early start is made, and before the Easter holidays, extensive detours would have to be made in several stretches of the river.

This has meant that the weather has been marginal most of the time. This year was no exception. At times there was hail, rain and always a chilling wind to make work wet and miserable for the scouts.

Seven boys either fell in or got so wet that they had to be taken home to dry out and warm up. In most cases they returned to work at other jobs.

No one seemed to mind the gray skies, chilling rain, or canoe upsets as they threaded their way through the fast turns, shallows, waterfalls and portages en route to six dump points along the four-mile course.

A snack station at Cross street provided a chance to wash up and eat. At the end of the course at Wedgemere Station the Chuckwagon dispensed hamburgers, hot dogs, soft drinks, ice cream, more candy bars, and hot drinks. In all more than 700 candy bars, 350 bags of potato chips, 65 pounds of hamburgers, 500 cans of tonic and 250 ice cream cups were consumed during the day's work.

Local businesses and organizations which gave money to purchase supplies and prizes included New England Plastic Corp., Diamond Antenna, J. H. Winn, Winchester Grange No. 343, Winchester Rotary, Cummins Industrial Park and EnKa.

The Winchester Park Department provided assistance in moving and setting up the Chuckwagon and providing three trucks for hauling away trash from the dumping stations.

Additional help came from the Winchester Highway Department, which sent one truck, and the Woburn Highway Department, which sent two trucks and a front-end loader to help remove collected debris.

The Winchester Auxiliary Fire Department helped clean canoes by providing a lieutenant and four men to hose the dirt off.

Points were awarded for trash collected at each dumping station and prizes awarded to highest scoring teams at the end of the cleanup.

Special patches were designed for the event and were awarded to all participants as they finished at Wedgemere Station.

Prize winners included Sean McCarthy and James Connolly, Troop 508 of Winchester, who won packs and frames for collecting the most amount of trash among the canoeists.

David Lindbo and Martin Lake, Troop 525 of Winchester, first place among the bank beavers, were awarded day packs. Second place winners were Tom Shirley and Paul Nadeau, Troop 507, in the canoe category and Chris Vrotsos and Dana Phaneuf, Troop 525, in the bank beavers.

Other canoe winners were Charles

Perenick and Paul Maxwell, Troop 507, third place; George Dulchinos and Eddie Moresco, Troop 525, fourth place; Tom Wilsack and Andy Wilsack, Troop 503, fifth place.

Pat Netichioni and Joe Nett of Troop 510, Woburn, won third place among the bank beavers; Mark Hamblin and Steven Harris, Troop 504, won fourth place; and Ben Post and Scott Cox of Troop 510, won fifth place.

Prizes ranged from camping stoves, Swiss knives, compasses and flashlights to transistor radios, pen and pencil sets, and free pizzas and ice cream cones.

Merchants donating prizes included Woody's Hairstyles, Bellino's Pizza, McCormack's Pharmacy, The News Store, The Sport Shop, Winchester Hardware, Brigham's, Baskin-Robbins, Winchester Appliance and Purity-Supreme Market.

Awards were given in the nature category for scouts bringing in wildlife: Ron Dokus, Jim Cullen and Tom Girard found two skunks. Jay Doyle and Butch Getty brought in two muskrats.

Troops participating this year were as follows: Woburn, Troops 500, 504, 510, 523 and 541; Winchester, 503, 506, 507, 508, 525 and 541. Explorer Post 35 contributed photography coverage.

Reflecting on the large organization, community involvement and support by business and civic organizations, Jack Farrell, who was project organizer again this year reflected, "We now have taken over 180 truckloads of trash from the Aberjona in six years."

"We hope parents will counsel their children to regard the river as an asset to our towns and not as a playground or dump. We continue to need the concern and cooperation of everyone to win this pollution fight as we seem to be doing now."

The scouts are anxious to take the message of conservation to any school, civic group or other organization interested in promoting community awareness and help. When a slide show is completed in a few weeks, Farrell will invite inquiries for a showing and presentation.

Easter Egg Hunt Saturday Morning

The Recreation Department's annual Easter Egg Hunt is this coming Saturday, March 29, beginning at 10 a.m.

The Star was incorrect last week when it stated the Easter Egg Hunt was scheduled for last Saturday. The error was The Star's and not the Recreation Department's.

Children ages 1-8 are invited by the Recreation Department to West Side Field to participate. The children should bring a paper bag to hunt for candy. Children under five years of age should be accompanied by an adult.

$8 Tax Rise Likely Opening Town Meeting Session Quickly Passes Many Budgets

Town meeting members at the opening session of the 1975 annual meeting Monday night approved spending $6.6 million for budgets.

One of the largest single amounts was $717,354 for fire protection.

Other budgets passed include $372,030 for highways; $314,785, snow and ice; $309,530, library; and $231,314 for parks, playgrounds and waterways.

The education and school athletics budgets were postponed and will be first on the agenda next Monday when town meeting reconvenes at Winchester High School at 7:45 p.m.

Streamlining

Town moderator Raymond Kenney opened the meeting by talking about streamlining town meeting action and reducing the number of sessions without jeopardizing debate.

He said he checked with representatives with other towns similar to Winchester and discovered two basic reasons why they appear to get more done in less time.

1. Their town meeting members are more reluctant to challenge recommendations of various town boards and committees.

2. Their town meeting representatives are slower to speak unless they have something additional to add to the meeting.

Traditionally in Winchester, he said, the town meeting "almost never refuses to give a person an opportunity to talk" and "they almost never terminate debate." Kenney noted, "This does not exist in other towns."

His words challenged the meeting to reduce debate but indicated he would not control it. "It's up to the meeting itself to control its own destiny."

Kenney explained a preliminary four-point motion on the conduct of the meeting as follows:

1. All budgets would be considered separately.

2. All sums for budgets would be raised by taxation and salaries would be fixed as designated.

3. Non-deferred budgets on a first run-through would automatically pass.

4. The turn-in value of old equipment would be considered on purchase of new equipment.

This was unanimously passed.

Tax Rate

Barbara Hankins of the Finance Committee reported the Winchester tax rate is expected to increase by 12.8 percent or $8.30 more than last year.

Last year's tax rate was $66.05.

Little Discussion

There was little discussion on budgets to operate the town's business. About half passed with no discussion whatsoever.

Several budgets, including selectmen's rentals, were laid on the table or postponed so they might be taken up in conjunction with other articles at subsequent sessions.

Other postponed budgets were for the treasurer-collector, assessors, town clerk, police, dog officer, civil defense, sealer weights and measures, sanitation, veterans affairs, the reserve fund articles 3 and 4.

Budgets Approved

Other budgets approved are as follows: General services, $28,630; data processing, $71,633; comptroller, $66,017; legal, $27,285; election and registration, $21,941; finance committee, $8,198; school traffic, $70,945; forestry, $59,871; building, $68,572; and board of appeals, $400.

Also, health, $47,609; mental health, $20,742; contagious diseases and premature births, $6,360; sewer, $142,987; inspector of animals, $1,541; street lights, $88,154; veterans benefits assistance, $18,000; and caretaker of veterans' graves, $1,116.

The school lunch program budget of $69,898 was approved as was the school community program at $26,596.

The budget for Winchester's participation in the regional vocational school was approved with no discussion at $145,148.

Other budgets which passed easily were those for recreation at $90,701; contributory retirement contribution at $400,000; con-

'School Committee Cuts Helped Us Quite A Bit'

Latest Finance Committee figures show the tax rate increase for the coming year holding to $8.30.

Figures in early February showed a probable tax rate increase of between $8 and $11. The present tax rate is $66.05.

Finance Chairman Barbara S. Hankins on Tuesday told The Star that the probable $8.30 figure could change—"but no significant change is my guess."

The reason the figure won't change much, Mrs. Hankins said, is that major budgets are within expectations.

For example, when the $8-11 figure was suggested, the School and Finance Committees were in disagreement over $355,000 in the school budget.

Now, however, the two committees are in disagreement over only $50,000. Such is the situation with other budgets, Mrs. Hankins indicated.

The $50,000 figure would represent only 25 cents on the tax rate, Mrs. Hankins said.

"I don't know of anything coming before the town meeting we haven't figured in," the Finance chairman said.

In fact, one expected cost seems to be going down. That's fuel. Finance had placed $110,000 in the reserve fund for fuel price increases. "Now it looks like the price is going down," Mrs. Hankins commented.

A resulting $60,000 a saving there, however, could be offset by a $50,000 increase in salaries, Mrs. Hankins said.

As far as state aid is concerned, the Finance Committee is still figuring in what the town received last year.

"The fact that the School Committee reduced their budget quite a bit really helped us out," Mrs. Hankins noted.

Plus, she added, prices now seem to be stabilizing, which helps.

The annual town meeting began on Monday of this week. There is no session Thursday, a holy day. The meeting resumes next Monday at 7:45 p.m.

Recount Changes By Only 1 Vote

The recount in the selectmen's contest resulted in one vote being changed—for Clara M. Hewis.

Town Clerk Elsie M. Nelson and the Board of Registrars conducted a precinct-by-precinct recount last Wednesday night.

The results showed Hewis adding one vote for a total of 2,337. Barbara Hankins staying the same, 2,547; and Michael Scotti staying the same, 1,512.

The additional vote for Ms. Hewis was an absentee ballot that had not been counted because of questionable legality.

Obituaries

James L. Nowell, Was Firefighter

James L. Nowell, 79, of 15 Eaton st. died after a brief illness at Winchester Hospital on March 22.

He was retired from the Winchester Fire Department after 35 years of service.

A lifelong Winchester resident, Mr. Nowell was the son of the late Frank and Margaret (Connors) Nowell.

He attended Winchester schools and was a member of St. Mary's Church.

He was a member of the Winchester Fireman's Relief Assn. and retired from the Winchester Fire Department in 1960.

He leaves his wife, Jessie (MacKinnon) Nowell; two sons, John F. Nowell of Winchester and Alfred Joseph Nowell of Woburn; and three daughters, Mrs. Thomas E. (Margaret) Kennedy, Mrs. James J. (Marion) Callahan and Mrs. George D. (Ann) MacMillan, all of Winchester.

He is also survived by 37 grandchildren, four great-grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Ruth Goodwin of Everett, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Helen Nowell, also of Winchester.

Funeral mass was celebrated Tuesday morning at St. Mary's Church with Rev. Bernard Hoy officiating.

A delegation from the Fire Department was represented at the funeral.

Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Woburn. Lane Funeral Home handled arrangements.

Eleanor Claflin, Remembered As 'Ma Winchester'

Eleanor (Briggs) Claflin of 2 Elmwood ave., wife of the late Walter Lawrence Claflin, died March 20.

She was born in Winchester 83 years ago, the daughter of Bodwell Sargent and Annie (Ellis) Briggs.

She was graduated from Winchester High School and later married Walter Badger in the Winchester Unitarian Church.

Robert A. Storer, minister emeritus of the church, speaks of Mrs. Claflin as "a lady who reached into everyone her life touched."

He recalls that for many years she was a patient at the Danvers State Hospital. When she returned to health, "she became the best loved woman in this town."

Storer says young people in Winchester referred to her as "Ma Winchester." In troubled times, "they trusted her and told her their problems," he says.

Storer notes that Mrs. Claflin used to sit in Winchester Common where "kids from high school used to gather around her. They cleaned up the railroad station and the alley along Thompson street because she made them feel responsible for the appearance of their town," he says.

"There was not a shopkeeper, a barber, a citizen who did not know this out-going person," says Storer. "She was proud of her community."

For the past two years Mrs. Claflin was ailing and confined to her home.

She leaves a son, Donald B. Badger of Scituate.

She is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Dwight B. Hill of Arizona; and two stepdaughters, Mrs. Muriel Rose and Mrs. Cynthia Roberts, both of Florida; also two grandsons.

A memorial service was held at the Winchester Unitarian Church on Tuesday, March 25. The service was held at the Winchester Unitarian Church on Tuesday, March 25.

Remembrances in her name may be forwarded to the memorial fund of the Winchester Unitarian Church.

She was a Brighton resident for 54 years and a member of St. Columkill's Church and

Blessing, Mass Services Planned For Col. Armato

Col. Nicholas P. Armato, USAF Reserve, of Stoneham, formerly of Winchester, died at the Massachusetts General Hospital on Tuesday.

He had been injured in an accident in Lynnfield on March 10 and never recovered.

A pro-burial mass will be held Monday at St. Patrick's Church, Stoneham, at 9 a.m. Burial will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

Tomorrow there will be a blessing service at St. Patrick's Church at 11 a.m.

Col. Nicholas P. Armato

Military respects will be given Col. Armato at the blessing service by a delegation from Hanscom AFB.

Col. Armato was born in Winchester 50 years ago. He was the son of Paul and Sarah (Sinaco) Armato.

He attended Winchester schools and was graduated from Winchester High School, Gould Academy, Bethel, Me., and the University of New Hampshire where he was a member of SAE Fraternity.

A member of the USAF Reserve, he served militarily during the Korean Conflict.

For 25 years he has been employed as assistant treasurer of the Massachusetts Electric Co., Lynn.

He is a past president of the Boston Air Chapter 6 Reserve Officers Assn. of the United States, Northeast Region.

He was reserve assistant coordinator for USAF-CAP.

A member of St. Patrick's Church, Stoneham, he was active in the Holy Name Society and the Stoneham K of C.

He held membership in the Kiwanis Club of Medford; was past president of the Melrose Chamber of Commerce, and a member of the Hanscom AFB Officers Club.

He was one of the first appointed by Cardinal Humberto Medeiros to be an extraordinary minister of communion.

He lived in Winchester for the first 30 years of his life, in Stoneham the last 20.

He leaves his wife, Mary C. (Morley) Armato of Stoneham and six children: Paul M., David N., Richard J., Stephen T., Patricia M. and Colleen F. Armato, all of Stoneham.

Besides his wife, children and mother, he leaves two brothers and two sisters: Dr. Andrew A. Armato of Freeland, Mich., Paul J. Armato of Cambridge, Mrs. Mary LePage of Winchester, and Beatrice Irons of Woburn.

Donations in his memory may be sent to the Massachusetts General Hospital Burn Unit, Boston, or St. Patrick's School in Stoneham.

Lane Funeral Home handled arrangements.

Canoes Wanted For Boat Club Display

The Winchester Boat Club is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year.

The club is seeking one or more of the sailing canoes and war canoes used at the club in years gone by.

These are wanted for display at the opening day ceremonies on Saturday, April 26.

Anyone who has information as to the whereabouts of boats of either type may contact Ed Shanley or Tom Raphael.

Hameed Ud-Din (right) of 27 James st. was host recently to distinguished visitors from here and abroad. From Left: Anwar Kemal, second secretary, Pakistan mission to the United Nations; Barry D. Hoffman, president of Pilgrim Management Corp., Boston; Iqbal Ahmad Akhund, Pakistan ambassador to the UN; Norman Moyes, professor at Boston University school of public communications. Dr. Ud-Din (pronounced Dean) is a professor of Pakistani studies at Harvard University.

Henry P. Streeter

Henry Philip Streeter, 76, of Jacksonville, Vt., died in Winchester on March 21 after a long illness.

Funeral service was Monday at the Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church at 2 p.m. with Rev. Leon S. Hatch Jr. officiating.

Burial will be in Jacksonville, Vt., on Saturday.

Mr. Streeter was born in Holyoke. He was the son of Austin Taylor and Martha Henrietta (Voigt) Streeter.

For 35 years he was assistant treasurer of Wico Electric, West Springfield. He retired to Jacksonville, Vt., in 1955.

He held membership with the Mt. Orthodox Lodge of Mason in West Springfield, the Lions Club and the National Rifle Assn., also of West Springfield where he lived before retiring.

He leaves his wife, Ethel (Stoughton) Streeter of Jacksonville, Vt.

He also leaves three daughters, Shirley Bender of Wallops Island, Va., Virginia Lange of Barre, Vt., and Joan Page of Winchester.

He leaves three brothers, Edwin Streeter of Peabody, Albert Streeter of Centerville and Kenneth Streeter of Silver Spring, Md., and also eight grandchildren.

Donations in his name may be sent to the Jacksonville, Vt., Ambulance Service.

MBTA Registration For Senior Citizens To Be In Burlington

The MBTA's senior citizen registration team will be in Burlington on Monday, March 31. Registration for eligible senior citizens will take place at Burlington Town Hall in the main hearing hall, from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

To be eligible for a reduced fare identification card, which contains the name and address of the holder and a color photograph for positive identification, senior citizens must bring proof of age such as a birth certificate, baptismal record or driver's license, library card, or charge plate; and a 50 cent cash fee. Please note that Medicare cards will not be accepted as proof of age.

MBTA officials stress that those senior citizens who already have their card do not need to register again. What appears to be an expiration date is used merely for internal auditing and control purposes.

Once a reduced fare identification card is issued, it is good for life. It was also pointed out that the permanent registration office at the MBTA government center station in Boston will be open as usual during the field trips with the hours 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Joseph Penta of 453 Washington st.

Bentley College, were named to the dean's lists of their schools recently.

Tot Finder Decals may be picked up at the Central and West Side fire stations.

Magistrate Gives Students Glimpse Of Court System

US Magistrate Willie J. Davis was guest lecturer at the first two classes in "The Law—Where It's At," a five-week series encompassing various areas of criminal and civil law.

The course is sponsored by the Winchester Young Woman's Club.

Magistrate Davis endeavored to illustrate to Winchester youths attending the course what an individual might expect to encounter if Arraignment in District Court is the next step in the legal chain of events.

The defendant is advised of the charges against him and counsel is retained at this time. A "probable cause" hearing is set in order to discover if there is, in fact, enough evidence to go to trial.

If probable cause is found, the case is bound over for the Grand Jury which is an accusatory body provided for by the Constitution.

A Grand Jury indictment is necessary before the defendant may be tried for the crime. These events may take place over a period of months to years and, in most cases, the defendant is free on bail or personal recognizance during this lengthy process.

Again, the particulars of choosing a Grand Jury and the process followed to return and indictment were of great interest to the group and Davis encouraged discussion and questions.

Ones to superior, a defendant returns to District Court for arraignment once again. At this proceeding he must give a formal answer to the charge (i.e., "guilty" or "not guilty"). At this point the trial is set and the defendant's attorney begins preparing his defense and the prosecution develops its case.

The jury trial itself was discussed in a general way by Davis.

Mr. & Mrs. Club Plans Record Hop

St. Mary's Mr. & Mrs. Club will present a "50s Record Hop" featuring Woo-Woo Arnie Ginsburg on Saturday, April 12, from 8:30 to 1 a.m. at St. Mary's Hall.

There will be prizes for the best costume of the 50s. For reservations please call Polly Driscoll before April 7.

'Peonies with Pink and Silver Shawl'

Paintings Of H. D. Murphy On Exhibit

Peonies with Pink and Silver Shawl is one of three paintings by H. Dudley Murphy shown in the current exhibition at the Guild of Boston Artists at 162 Newbury Street, Boston, until April 5.

The show is a tribute to past members including Frank Benson, the Paxtons and Lassell Ripley, a pupil of Murphy and the painter of the Indian mural in the Winchester Library.

Murphy, a resident of Winchester for many years, was a recipient of National Art Awards and has his pictures in many art museum collections. He served on the Massachusetts State Art Commission from 1918 to 1943. He was largely responsible for restoring the red bricks on the face of the state house in 1928.

Womens SOI Plans Spring Fashion Revue

On April 2, the Winchester Women's Lodge No. 1592, Sons of Italy, will present the "Guys and Dolls Spring Fashion Revue" at the Montvale Plaza in Stoneham.

This show will feature the latest in spring and summer attire from Anne Mullins and Chitell's of Winchester.

Members of the men's and women's lodges plus young people from the Winchester Mixed Junior Lodge will model.

The revue will be preceded by a champagne hour and dinner. For tickets contact Jean Salemi.

Flora Vercollone Will Appear On 'Good Morning'

Flora Vercollone of Winchester will be a guest on television's "Good Morning" on Good Friday, March 28. The Channel 5 program is aired from 9 to 10:30 a.m.

Mrs. Vercollone will appear on a segment of it and explain how facings and interfacings are eliminated from the new unconstructed fashions which means easier and quicker results with a professional look.

Mrs. Vercollone will show some of these new methods and offers a pamphlet of instructions on request to Channel 5 viewers who send in a stamped self-addressed envelope to the station.

Serving The Community For Over 94 Years

Letters From Readers

Crew Still Asks: What Will It Cost?

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Since there has been difficulty on the part of some citizens in comprehending information, in abbreviated form, relative to the Metco issue as presented by Crew on the weekend before the election, and since the information still has not been fairly interpreted, we feel obliged to further clarify our statements to the people of Winchester.

As demonstrated on March 10, your School Committee did indeed commit your town, your children and your tax money to this program, without your consent.

We are still awaiting an answer from the School Committee as to why 22 percent of our secondary school students are not being reached by the curricula—and why our children's SAT scores have declined. We consider these questions relevant.

The Metco coordinator is governed by the same tenure laws enjoyed by other Winchester teachers, and would accordingly be eligible for tenure in three years.

The position of Metco coordinator, which does not have educational requirements or qualifications (per Arlington Metco coordinator at St. Eulalia's prior to March 3) is listed in the proposed budget for Metco Plan B at a salary of $14,000, while the minimum starting salary for Winchester teachers with a BA is $9,100 and the average maximum for a teacher with a BA is $12,700. (Figure used by Finance and School Committees to approximate school budget.)

The quotations attributed to the School Committee members can be found in minutes of the School Committee meetings of Jan. 13, 1975, and Dec. 19, 1974, respectively—in spite of the fact that one of these statements was publicly denied by one of the School Committee-men on March 10, 1975.

Chapter 766 does indeed have higher priority than Metco in the state budget, and yet Ch. 766 funds are still frozen. How can our School Committee logically consider this fact as being a favorable indication that Metco will continue to be funded?

In The Brookline Chronicle dated Jan. 30, 1975, a town meeting member listed the following statistics relating to Metco:

Total costs (not including administrative expenses) $714,065

"Cherry sheet" estimate of state payments to Brookline 271,000

Unreimbursed deficit $443,065

On our flyer, we reported that the Brookline figures were: $714,065

223,837

and for this glaring error we do humbly apologize.

Nevertheless, Brookline taxpayers are still paying $443,065. Incidentally, our "erroneous" figure of $223,837 is the ancillary services cost for Metco in Brookline.

We still ask—What will Metco really cost the Winchester taxpayers?

Doesn't Make Sense To Bus Students

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Now that the town voted against Metco and the School Committee voted for it and the excuse for doing it I don't know what to think.

It doesn't make sense to bus students out of their town or neighborhood when the same teaching could be given them where they live and save the cost of busing which not only pollutes the air but uses a lot of gas.

There is too much busing going on even in Winchester.

The argument that the state will foot the bill for busing is a sham. If you listen to it you would think the state was going to pick the money off the trees instead of out of the taxpayers' pockets.

With the state deficit the way it is they don't have the money and they are cutting off the building funds to schools that were built expecting it.

We elect School Committees to serve the Winchester schools. Why don't they just do that and let Boston and others do the same.

Walter F. Gurney

78 Hemingway St.

Applause For Those Who Know 'Right'

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Before we let rigid walls of hate rising over Metco engulf Winchester again in angry tones, let us remember that the American people need to do things many times over "because they are right."

In 1967 at Glassboro, N.J., Kosygin quipped, "I don't understand you Americans backing Israel. There are 80 million Arabs and only 3 million Israelis. It does not make sense. Why do it?" Lyndon Johnson replied, "because it is right."

I have a great uncle who in the 1860s was arrested while a student at Harvard for harboring and protecting a slave. His mother was most chagrined to have a jailbird in the family. But her friends all wrote to her saying to hold her head high, for it was a cause that was just.

I think of the Brooks family here in Winchester running an underground slave "railway." I think of the many white people who helped support the black New Hope Baptist Church on Cross st "because it was right."

When rigid hateful walls of prejudice rise, as we see so clearly in Belfast, violence strikes in tragic forms, and close.

I often think if I were a black mother, frightened by attitudes of the inner city and finding hope in a bus trip to the suburbs for my precious children, I would do everything possible to see that my child had this very decent opportunity.

Winchester children have so much! How sad that many of their parents cannot bring themselves to share their good fortune with a much beleaguered race and people.

Surely by bending now we can avoid walls of hate and its pursuant violence from shaking our children's hopes for a peaceful life. Let us applaud all those on the School Committee who don't think like Kosygin but do things because they have the vision to know "it is right."

Frances B. Ver Planck

Base Motivation Not Part of System

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Representative form of government has served the republic well for 200 years, but the delegation of power and responsibility it involves has frequently led to conflicts and misunderstandings.

It is predictable that these will occur for several reasons, chief among which is the fact that candidates for offices, particularly those giving unpaid community service, will tend to have their views in their subject area more highly developed and more sharply honed than their less active constituents.

Second, both the ability to accomplish and propensity to produce conflict stem from the manner of operation of these delegates, since deliberation within a small group is likely to produce programs selected on a pragmatic and rationalistic basis and will lack the more visceral input of universal direct participation.

What this type of government is not likely to produce, particularly at the town level and particularly in issues sensed by the community to be critical, is a vote miscast on base motivation.

Thus, it seems obvious that a citizen finding himself in disagreement with the votes of his elected representative should seek first to ascribe the presumed deviation to the systematic and procedural nature of the operation, and except with the clearest proof should avoid the mutually destructive and totally pointless avenue of ad hominem attacks.

George W. Evans, M.D.

Positive Action

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The following is a letter sent to the Winchester School Committee with a copy to The Star:

The Social Action Committee of the First Congregational Church of Winchester wishes to commend the Winchester School Committee on its recent positive action with regard to Metco.

We are enclosing two clippings from The Boston Globe which reinforce the significance of your vote and also support and commend the Winchester School Committee.

Attached reprints are:

The Globe editorial of March 12, 1975.

Your vote is consistent with those taken by the school committees in the 32 towns already participating in the program.

Even though many of those school committees faced great opposition, they carried out their proper educational responsibility on the merits of the program. The overwhelming success of Metco throughout this region has proved each vote a wise one. We are certain that this will be the case here.

Letters From Readers Welcome By The Star

The Winchester Star welcomes letters from its readers on subjects of general interest.

There is a word limit of 250. Letters exceeding 250 words will be cut to that limit. This limit is to permit all those who wish to have letters printed the space to do so.

Deadline for letters from readers is Monday at 5 p.m. For the edition which falls in a holiday week, the deadline is Friday at 5 p.m.

Letters must be signed and include the writer's address. When requested to do so, The Star will omit the address. But the newspaper does not print anonymous letters.

Some Fleeting Comments

'Winging It'--The Art Of Being Unprepared

By Arthur MacDonnell

There's a colorful expression gaining popularity these days which to me reflects all the excitement and adventure in being alive in these volatile times.

The chairman of the Finance Committee, Barbara Hankins, has used the expression to describe what the board intends to do at town meeting on an item it doesn't know enough about.

Others, when they are unable to reach a decision for whatever reasons, use the expression to delay action until they can make up their mind.

The expression is also convenient in avoiding any immediate commitment.

At such times you tell people, "I'll have to wing it" or, "We're winging it."

The expression is also convenient in other contexts. Asked what he was going to talk about before a meeting of students, an environmentalist said he was going to wing it, meaning he didn't know what the students would want to know until he asked them so he would wait and pick it up from there.

It used to be the expression was "playing it by ear," as musicians pick up a tune without benefit of a score. Now, instead, we wing it—a more descriptive, up-to-date and all-inclusive phrase.

"Winging it" conveys an uncertainty that is appealing. It can be used to describe a journey one is intending to make. The most adventuresome way to travel is to wing it; that is, to have no itinerary.

The uncertainty of not knowing where you are going to stop, not knowing what you will see, not knowing who you will be with is the most exciting way to get from one country to another.

When you don't have much money and no sure means of transportation, winging it, of course, is the only way to do it. Sometimes the uncertainty can jostle the nerves. But all travelers know that the times on the road they remember best are those when clocks and stops were left in the air—in other words, when the traveler has winged it.

To some people the idea of winging anything is most uncomfortable. There are those souls among us who feel uneasy unless life is predictable. Winging it is a good growth experience for them.

Some people like to know what their schedule is going to be for years ahead. They sit down and use up all sorts of paper in preparing long-range goals, middle-range goals and short-term goals.

Unless their life is laid out year by year they don't seem to know where they are going.

To others, like myself, any kind of goals are anathema. I don't even know what I'm going to be doing a week in advance, let alone a year. And then if I do make plans in advance I usually forget about them. So what good did it do to plan?

Also, it's more fun not to plan. That way if something interesting comes along you can wing it. Winging it gives you a freedom that being confined to paper schedules denies you.

John Parrell, the sports writer, thinks the term winging it originated in the Air Force. That's where he heard it for the first time anyway. And it couldn't be a new expression because it has been some years since John was in the Air Force.

Mr. Parrell thinks "winging it" got its start with pilots following their own course in dodging enemy. A plausible enough explanation. The term has come to have a somewhat different meaning, though you can still use it to say that someone who is going to fix his car by winging it rather than by checking in a manual is following his own impulses.

Maybe "winging it" is gaining in popularity because of the feeling the times are uncertain, that change is so rapid it's difficult to keep up with it and thus impossible to plan ahead.

Maybe. But I prefer to think that there is a spirit of adventure in the air, a feeling of seeing what happens when we get there. Like the birds who wing it from place to place without using a road map. They seem to be able to survive without having to spoil their trip with paper plans or otherwise.

Listening In

Winchester's Night Radio...

By Pauline Dishmon

Occasionally the dialogue heard over the police radio is extremely funny. This was the situation on the evening of March 18.

From what we could gather a Woburn police car was in town trying to rendezvous with a Winchester police detail. Our ears perked up when we heard something about a Woburn police car being "lost."

The voice from the cruiser said: "They know where they are, but we don't."

The voice at police headquarters said: "Woburn Police Department is written on the side of the car."

Here are some other comments on the radio that night. Yes, the phrases are disjointed, but maybe you can make something out of them.

...I was just cleaning my nasal passages.

...Follow here with a moustache looking for you.

...I was booking a motor vehicle operator. Is that all right?

...He didn't know what to make of a lieutenant out on the street at night.

Then on March 21, there was another goodie:

"Go up to (address given) to help a woman. I knowoooooow you can help her."

"It's not a skunk call, is it?"

"No."

Another voice heard from: "I get those Charlie."

Chapter 766 Costing More; Newsletters Reaching Out

Expenses associated with the special needs education law (Chapter 766) have turned out to be a lot more than anyone figured.

School Dept. administrator Jack Fallon commented that Winchester's expenses "are substantially more than we expected a year ago.... I'm sure no one thought the program would be in the order of this size."

The state's special needs law brings children with physical and mental handicaps back into the classroom. It has been subjected to heavy criticism from some because the state ordered the program without providing for its complete funding.

But that's not strictly the case, the School Dept. tells us.

Winchester expects to get $231,000 from the state this year for special needs. It expects $202,000 next year. Ultimately all expenses associated with the program are to be reimbursed.

Winchester's expenses are $502,760 for personal services (salaries and wages) and $179,510 for other expenses. Fallon adds that the department is being very thorough in discovering all direct and indirect costs because of state reimbursement.

Winchester's capital improvements planning committee has a report out which says the town is spending "in excess of an allowable" amount for capital projects and the town should hold over the next few years.

Over the next five years the committee sees the need for renovation of school grounds, the Town Yard, more work at Leonard Field and Pond and the Lockland playground and acquisition of land for conservation.

"Beyond 1980" the committee sees a need for a new $2 million central fire station and a $1 million police station.

At last report the police officers had settled their collective bargaining. Unofficially, they've settled for a 13 percent hike this year and 10 percent next year.

The teachers are in the second year of a two-year contract so we can't expect any trouble from them until next year. The firefighters and the Town Employees Association are still to settle, however.

WBZ radio's "Calling All Sports" had a call last week from a Boston College aficionado from Winchester asking if it's true the BC-Notre Dame game is going to be on national television.

The answer was maybe.

Then the loyal BC fan responded: "Is the reason they're going to show it on national television in commemoration of the bicentennial—the Boston massacre?"

Last Saturday's Aberjona cleanup inspired the following points from those participating:

—"It was saddening and shocking to see the 10 or more young birch trees that had been cut down by vandals in Davidson Park. A town employee indicated the courts were lenient with offenders of this type and there is little or no fear of punishment as a result."

—"Many of the abutters have made significant improvements in their disposal methods. This has been one of the areas of improvement but more is needed. Surgical plastic tubing floating down the river in quantity indicates some firm is dumping carelessly."

—"The boypower expended last Saturday is an awesome thing. At today's prices the cleanup would have cost the taxpayers thousands of dollars. When someone complains that all is talk these days and no action, show them the boy scouts and the Aberjona."

I was over at the State House last Thursday watching some of the committee hearing on state employees' wage hike requests and picked up the following comments from those testifying.

From an MDC worker: "We handle your sewage and we handle your water and we don't get 'em mixed up."

From a hospital employee: "The superintendent of Tewksbury Hospital won't see patients because he's germ conscious."

From a Metropolitan State Hospital cook: "I work seven days a week—by the right hand of God." He raised his left hand.

From a Monson State Hospital employee about the cost of living conditions: "Even the roaches are moving out it's getting so bad."

Hit And Run

Selectman Vito Giarrizzo has a good idea when he suggests anti-vandalism films in the schools to educate children to respect the property of others.

Why aren't Winchester citizens interested in the workings and spendings of all town departments instead of just the School Committee?

The only time anyone visits the selectmen's open meetings is when an agenda topic directly concerns them. It's shameful so few care.

The seven-day dog officer coverage is presently partly endowed by the Ceta program.

Police Sgt. Roland Roy has been designated investigative officer in cases of rape for Winchester. He will undergo special training as required by state law.

George Louis Andersen was recently reelected chairman of the Board of Assessors. How come he is absent from town meeting so much?

Act and WBA meet Tuesday at 7:30 at New Lincoln School to discuss how to improve the town's transportation. Public invited.

From a Metropolitan State Hospital cook: "I work seven days a week—by the right hand of God." He raised his left hand.

From a Monson State Hospital employee about the cost of living conditions: "Even the roaches are moving out it's getting so bad."

The annual town report is out and someone conveniently provided us with a run down on the many committees hanging around the town.

I think, probably, the list of committees was placed there tongue in cheek since some of them haven't met for years. (I met someone the other day who said he didn't even know he was on a particular committee until he read it in the book.)

Here are a few of them. Ad Hoc Center Committee, Ad Hoc Center Study Committee, Central Business District Study Committee, Community Security Committee, Student Government Day Committee, Committee on Names, School Bus Study Committee and (get this one) Permanent Building Committee for Secondary Schools Sub-Committee.

As of 4 p.m. on Tuesday no recall petitions had been submitted to the town clerk. Nor has there been any word around town that the petitions are even in circulation.

Winchester businessperson Delia R. Alonso is the editor of a new newsletter, "NOW News," of the Boston Chapter of the National Organization for Women.

The newsletter contains information on events of interest to women, articles on legislation, task force and committee reports and classified ads.

A couple of items. "An Exercise in Exorcism—or an exercise in removing male-centered language from sacred texts will be held by..."

A letter: "I would like to write an article in the newspaper for all women! I am sick and tired of hearing women that are gay or divorced or worried about their own self things... I would like to see a time when all women can sit down and say we are all sisters..."

Also, "The word 'sissy' is defined in Webster's Seventh New Collegiate Dictionary as 'a timid or cowardly person.' The root of this word is 'sis, short for sister.'"

It looks like those who put out the newsletter put a tremendous amount of work into it. Copies are available at 45 Newbury st., Boston, 02116.

Winchester's senior citizens have their own newsletter too. Some current announcements are that the Little League needs umpires, the Red Cross drivers, a keep-well clinic starts April 10, Medex 1 applications are now available, tax aid is available and tickets for "Hans Christian Andersen" at the high school are available free to seniors (senior citizens, that is).

"Senior News" also contains news of trips and activities (and there are lots of them) as well as a monthly calendar.

Some of the activities are Council on Aging meetings, physical fitness class, choral group, bridge lessons, lunch get-together, card party, bowling and creative drawing class.

Inquire at the senior service line, 729-2111, or write the Winchester Seniors Assn. at 161 Mystic Valley pkwy. for a copy.

Two other newsletters available are Black Horse Bulletin, by the Winchester Historical Society, 15 High street; and Winchester High School Newsletter, Roberta Levinson editor.

Nothing-new-under-the-sundepartment: "The need for professional city management was recognized as early as 1792 when George Washington wrote to Benjamin Stoddard."

"It has always been my opinion...that the administration of the affairs of the Federal City ought to be under the immediate direction of a judicious skillful superintendent appointed by and subject to the orders of the commissioner." (International City Managers pamphlet)

We still can't keep McCall JHS and New Lincoln School straight.

Does anyone remember a milder winter than the one just past? Does anyone have any objections?

A "tremendous good deed" is how one person describes the service Red Cross provides in driving Winchester persons to Boston hospitals for treatment. More drivers are needed.

Winchester's Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. was invited to join the legislative hockey team about to embark on an 11-day game-playing trip to Germany but declined on the grounds there is too much important legislation coming up.

Save energy if your television has a warm-up tube by pulling the plug out after you turn the set off.

The current Boston magazine has an interesting article on Boston's underworld, though the source of the title, "Unhappy Hooker Murders," is puzzling.

One looks at the selectmen's committee to come up with names of possible town managers and thinks how staid the members are. But a similar committee came up with Douglas Randall as town counsel and it would be hard to find a better man for that spot.

Put Ginn Field Fence Back Up

EDITOR OF THE STAR:
Winchester Little League got another bullet to bite, last week!

The newly expanded adult softball league, created by the recreation director, has demanded, and received priority position for this spring, on the main baseball diamond at Ginn Field.

This means that the outfield fence will not be installed this year.

This is the fence that has served Winchester Little League and its close to 900 children for 22 years as part of the recommended field material.

This is the fence that for years volunteer adults have repaired, painted and bought lumber for.

The prime Little League field in Winchester is being demoted to a "sand-lot" diamond so that adults can participate in late-night-lighted soft ball, with its attendant noise and unorthodox language.

Young Winchester Little Leaguers deserve a better break. Young baseball players in Prec. 1, 2 and 3 (American League) are being short-changed by adults who could recreate just as well as they did last year, starting their season after Little League has finished—the last week in June.

Little League contributes time, material, money and healthy baseball recreation for our youngsters. What does adult softball contribute?

I suggest taxpayers in Winchester protest in writing and by phone calls to the Park Department personnel, the recreation director, the Recreation Committee, town meeting members and the Board of Selectmen against this incursion into the rights of our baseball enthusiastic children.

Tell them you want the fence put up at Ginn Field for the Winchester Little League Season April 16 through June 21.

No Wonder Latin Enrollments Low

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I was most distressed to read in last week's Winchester Star that beginning Latin and German were to be dropped from Winchester High School.

It is difficult to believe that in an $8 million school budget there are not sufficient funds to support two programs essential to a school system and to students preparing for further education.

It is easy to surmise that next year second year Latin and German will be dropped. To enumerate the obvious advantages of Latin for the student is not difficult—increased vocabulary, improved spelling, greater grasp of grammar and syntax in English; the secondary benefits such as avoidance of parochialism of time and place, awareness of literary and cultural heritage, precision and respect for the written word—these are more difficult to set forth.

One can only wonder about the effect of the absence of Latin on already low verbal SAT scores.

The dropping of Latin is another example of administrative use of the self-fulfilling prophecy. First, Latin is dropped from the junior high school for reasons of cost, enrollment, and scheduling. Then Latin is not recommended for tenth graders because of its supposed difficulty.

Further, ninth graders are not permitted to take beginning Latin at the high school; such arrangements are made for other subjects. It is no surprise that enrollments are low when the subject is not recommended or supported by school administrators.

To those who wonder about the usefulness of Latin, I ask: How many of you have used algebra, geometry, trigonometry, and chemistry since leaving high school or college?

Every day most use the English language—a language indebted to Latin for more than 50 percent of its words.

Thanks Given

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

We wish to express our sincere thanks and deep appreciation to our relatives, friends and neighbors, who by their words of consolation and acts of kindness helped to lighten the burden of our recent sorrow.

For the number of floral tributes and spiritual bouquets, we are grateful. We would especially like to thank the members of the Winchester Fire Department, Winchester Knights of Columbus, New England Telephone business office in Arlington, Winchester Visiting Nurses, Winchester Hospital, particularly the nurses staff, Dr. Guarente and Dr. Adler, and the sisters of St. Joseph of the Immaculate Conception convent.

Citizens Thanked

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I wish to thank the citizens of Winchester for their encouragement and courtesy to me during the recent town election.

Peggy and I enjoyed the opportunity to meet and talk with so many interesting people.

I hope that we can all work together now for the benefit of the town.

John R. Wiseman
12 Lockeland rd.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I would like to thank the voters of Winchester for their show of confidence in electing me to the Board of Selectmen. I would particularly like to thank the many people who worked so hard during the campaign and who made, through their efforts, my election possible.

I shall do my best to represent the interests of all of the people of Winchester during what looks to be a difficult but interesting three years.

Scholarship Group Needs Donations

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The Winchester Scholarship Foundation announces the start of its 30th annual fund raising drive.

Considering the current state of the economy we definitely expect the number of scholarship applicants to increase. We know that substantial increases in grants will be needed to help students meet the soaring costs of education.

Last year scholarships of $16,500 were awarded to 42 high school seniors, and $12,500 in further aid was granted to 32 students already in professional schools and colleges. There are 862 students who have benefitted from scholarships totalling $358,735 since 1945.

In addition to the contributions from many individuals, civic and school organizations, and businesses in 1974, we welcomed three new special donations: the Mystic School-Raymond Dickman Scholarship, the Torres Fund, and a memorial contribution from the Winchester Police Department in the name of Officers Andrew Saraco and Frederick Marasca.

We encourage other groups to consider making this type of ongoing gift as a very fitting tribute to a particular person or persons.

Donations, which are tax deductible, should be made payable to Winchester Scholarship Foundation and sent to Robert G. Ingraham, Treasurer, 18 Ardley pl.

We sincerely hope that the entire community will continue its generous financial support of the scholarship foundation.

Mary Ann Crockett,
Publicity Chairman
18 Madison ave.

Let Kids Vote

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Why shouldn't kids vote? Kids have thoughts too. Why should they have to wait till they grow up?

There are things kids should vote on. Take Metco. It's the kids that have to go to school with the black kids. They should vote on it too.

Military Wedding

Miss Adams, Lt. Whaley Pledge Marriage Vows

Susan Jane Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Adams of Winchester, became the bride of Lt. Glenn Richard Whaley of the U. S. Navy and son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale W. Whaley of Loomis, Calif.

Their Christian military ceremony was performed at Grace Chapel, Lexington, on Feb. 22 by the Rev. Gordon MacDonald of the chapel.

The bride was escorted and given in marriage at the altar by her father. Her chapel train, gown of candlelight white laces, satin, trimmed with Finnish lace and covered buttons, was designed and made by her mother.

She wore a matching Juliet cap with silk illusion veiling. She carried white roses.

Mrs. Roger (Christina) Adams of Arlington, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Sandra MacGuffage of Belmont, Mrs. John (Audrey) Jensen of Lexington, Candice Lee of Needham, Mrs. Ted (Nancy) Parsons of Acton, Cynthia Gross of Arlington and Mrs. Anthony (Christina) Gentile of Woburn.

Attendants wore garnet red velvet skirts with candlelight white blouses. They carried single red roses with baby's breath and ivy tied with gold velvet ribbons.

The bride's brother, Roger G. B. Adams of Arlington, was best man. Ushers included Lt.

Norman Brown of San Diego, Calif. Lt. Jeffrey Ferguson, Lt. Robert Prince and Lt. Richard Wirkkale, all of New Longton, Conn., Lt. Terry Davis of Annapolis, Md., and Lt. Robert Leebetter of Arlington, Va.

Following the ceremony and crossed sword arch at the altar, a buffet luncheon was held in the Fellowship Hall at Grace Chapel.

Out-of-town guests were from California, New York, Rhode Island and Maine.

After a wedding trip to the Hawaiian Islands, and reception in Loomis, Calif., given by the bridegroom's parents, the couple will reside in Charleston, S. C., where he is stationed on the USS Simon Bolivar, a Poseidon submarine based there.

Mrs. Whaley is a 1969 graduate of the American School of Drafting, Syracuse, N.Y. She was employed at Honeywell Radiation Center, Lexington.

Lt. Whaley, a 1969 graduate of the US Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., received a master's degree in computer systems management from the US Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, Calif., in 1970.

Susan Robertson, William Hopkins Pledge Vows

Mrs. Susan Robertson and William C. Hopkins, both of Amherst, N.Y., announce that their marriage took place on Feb. 15 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Hopkins of Sherman, Conn.

Mrs. Hopkins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer G. Schopf of Clarence, New York, and is an administrative assistant at Wilson Greatbatch Ltd., a manufacturer of batteries for implantable cardiac pacemakers.

Mr. Hopkins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Hopkins of Winchester. He is currently an instructor and doctoral candidate in the Department of Computer Science at the State University of New York at Buffalo.

Malone Birth

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Malone of 11 Brantwood rd. are parents of their third child, first daughter, Alison Hopkins, born March 17 at Winchester Hospital.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hopkins of Warwick, R.I., and Mrs. John J. Malone of Ridgewood, N.J.

Lt. and Mrs. Glenn R. Whaley

Twins

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Calnan of 18 Hemingway st. are parents of twins born March 11 at Winchester Hospital. The babies have been named Patrick Joseph Jr. and Pamela Janet.

Grandparents are Mrs. Reginald O. Downs of Arlington and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel P. Calnan of Birmingham.

Lane Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Lane III of 2 Myrtle st. are parents of their third child, second daughter, Tiffany Ann, born March 14 at Winchester Hospital.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John W. Lane of Amberwood drive and Mrs. Martha Hagglot of Stockholm, Sweden.

Women's Art Center To Open April 11

An arts center where women may gather and share talents and creative evenings will open April 11 at photographer Delia R. Alonso's studio, 576 Main st.

Ms. Alonso said, "We think this will provide Winchester women of all ages and backgrounds a unique opportunity to get together. There's so little space and time for us just to be ourselves."

The center will open at 8 p.m. Jan Field, musician and composer, will join poets Donna Stein and Carol Dine for songs and poems by and for women.

A donation is requested. Wine and coffee will be served. Events planned for the monthly series will include craft shows and photography exhibits.

Pronski To Speak At Brookline Metco Meeting

Mary G. Pronski, the lone Winchester School Committee person voting against Metco, will address the Brookline Non-Political Organization April 6 at 2 p.m. at the All Saints Church, Brookline.

Also addressing the group will be state Sen. Walter J. Boverini (D-Lynn), chairman of the education committee of the state Senate.

The theme of gathering will be Quality Education: Are we getting what we are paying for?

Frank Carr of Melrose will discuss what that city is doing to overcome its problems.

Heidi Hakel To Wed Mr. Zeibig

Mr. and Mrs. Carl P. Hakel of 5 Squire rd. announce the engagement of their daughter, Heidi A., to Robert A. Zeibig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zeibig of Leonia, N. J.

'Pysanky' In Winchester

Egg Decorating Wards Off Evil,
According To Ukranian Legend

By Ruth-Ellen Flax

The egg, usually fried, boiled, poached or scrambled, is viewed with more respect at Easter time.

For the Ukrainians Easter is the time to revive the ancient art of "Pysanky" or colored Easter eggs.

Using primarily black, yellow, red, brown and green colors, Ukrainians will decorate eggs to symbolize the rebirth of the earth out of winter into spring with a promise of new hope, life, health and prosperity.

According to Lesya Parekh of 14 Park ave., after the Ukrainians accepted Christianity, egg decorating symbolized the Resurrection, with its promise of a better world.

The dying process of Pysanky is similar to Batik. Pure beeswax is used because of its high melting point. It allows even lines, little smearing and a greater resistance to dyes.

The beeswax is applied with a writing instrument called a "kistka" to a fresh, uncooked, white egg. The egg is now ready for its first color coat.

It is dipped into the lightest color first. Mrs. Parekh elaborated: if the colors you desire are red, yellow and black, yellow would be applied first.

The egg is left in the dye until it has reached the desired shade, then removed and patted dry with a tissue.

Between each dipping, wax is applied to areas where the preceding color is to remain. The darkest color will be applied last. Since each successive color is darker than the preceding one the undercolors will always be cancelled.

After the final color has set the wax is melted by a candle or gas flame and wiped off. Eggs may be glazed using shellac.

According to Mrs. Parekh, with careful treatment a Pysanka will last indefinitely.

"Each section of the Ukraine has its own basic Pysanka design although symbols and their meanings often vary from one area to the next."

A triangle with horizontal and vertical lines crossing each other is a common symbol. The triangle represents the Trinity while the netting suggests Christ's fishing for men.

A fish is the sign of Christ; wheat symbolizes a fruitful harvest.

Other egg decorations include the deer, signifying prosperity; waves and ribbons, suggesting eternity; and the cross, emblem of the suffering, death and resurrection of Christ.

Mrs. Parekh explains, "In the Carpathian Mountains the Hutsuls have patterns that are intricately geometric, while in Eastern Ukraine design patterns are more baroque with floral designs predominating."

Ukrainian legend has it that the world's fate depends upon the egg. As long as egg decorating continues, the world will exist.

Should it cease, evil in the form of a monster chained to a cliff, will destroy the world.

The monster's servants are dispersed around the world, counting the eggs. If there are few, the monster's chains will loosen and evil will escape.

If the number of eggs is great, the chains will hold fast and love will conquer evil.

Lesya Parekh, member of the Newcomers Club, recently showed her Wednesday night craft group the art of Ukrainian egg decorating.

She teaches Ukrainian at St. Andrews Ukrainian Orthodox Church, Jamaica Plain.

Recycle!

Recycle in Winchester at the town dump off Swanton street.

Library Has Egg
Display For Easter

"Pysanka" or Ukrainian Easter eggs and how to make them is the theme of a display in the main lobby of the Winchester Public Library.

The eggs, Ukrainian embroideries, dolls and other decorative items which repeat the traditional design motifs, are from the collection of Lesya Parekh, a Park avenue resident.

Mrs. Parekh was born in Germany to Ukrainian parents. At the age of four she settled with them in Wilmington, Del.

She was raised bilingually and was imbued with a strong awareness of her Ukrainian heritage.

She attended Manor Junior College and the University of Delaware, where she majored in elementary education and minored in Russian.

She taught at the Parker School in Lexington for several years and more recently has been teaching Ukrainian at the St. Andrew Orthodox Church in Jamaica Plain.

Decorated Easter eggs are made in the Ukraine as gifts for friends and relatives. The designs traditionally are of three general types - geometric, animal and plant - and symbolize both religious events and good fortune.

Legend has it that as long as "Pysanka" making continues, the world will exist, but should the custom cease, evil will encompass the world and destroy it.

Mrs. Parekh, who has often taught this craft to friends, has included a list of needed materials and tools, simple instructions and step by step samples in the display. For further information on supplies and techniques call Mrs. Parekh.

Use Leftover Easter Eggs In Pastries, Ragout

By Elizabeth
Star Correspondent

The egg and I square off next Monday in the annual struggle. Recipes must be found to use up more than a dozen decorated hard-cooked Easter eggs.

It's not all the children's doing, I admit, I have had a hand in continuing the age-old custom of decorating eggs, something I have enjoyed since childhood. My egg creations rely on glue, felt, ribbons and beads rather than wax and dye.

My own childhood Easters also included a chance to look but not touch my grandparents' collection of intricately detailed eggs designed in the wax resist method by Ukrainian folk artists who fled their war-torn homelands.

Such eggs were made in the Ukraine thousands of years before the beginning of the Christian era. The egg was a symbol of the creation of new life even in pre-Christian times.

Decorated eggs reached a zenith of popularity in Russia about 100 years ago when Czar Alexander III commissioned Karl Faberge, his court jeweler, to fashion an enamel and jeweled egg as an Easter gift for his wife.

His gift set off a court fad and soon the royalty were exchanging jeweled eggs fashioned of crystal, enamel, platinum, gold and ivory. Many of these eggs are in museums today.

Russian piroshki or meat turntvers were meant to be served with soup. They make delightful appetizers in addition to using both left-over eggs and Easter ham in this recipe.

Russian Pastries

Cook 1/2 cup chopped onions in 2 tablespoons butter until soft. Add 1/2 cup chopped ham, 2 chopped hard-cooked eggs, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1 teaspoon chopped dill or dillweed, and sour cream or stock to moisten.

Roll preferred pie pastry recipe thin; cut into 3-inch rounds. Put spoonful of mixture in the middle of each, moisten edges, and pinch together firmly along the top making little pointed canoe-shaped pastries. Brush with beaten egg and bake in pre-heated oven (400 degrees) until brown. Makes about 24.

Hard-cooked eggs blend well in this smooth mushroom dish that can be served as a main dish or an ideal side dish accompanied by ham or sausage.

Mushroom Egg Ragout

2 tablespoons olive oil
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 pound mushrooms, sliced
1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
1/2 cup dry white wine
Salt and pepper to taste

6 hard-cooked eggs, coarsely chopped
Cook onion and parsley for two minutes in heated olive oil. Add mushrooms; cover and cook over low heat for 10 minutes. Stir in flour, add wine.

Cover and simmer a few minutes more. Add seasonings, eggs; cover and simmer five minutes more, stirring occasionally.

Makes about six servings.

WBA-Act Meeting
Tuesday, 7:30 p.m.

The joint meeting of the Winchester Business Association and Aberjona Citizens for Transportation is Tuesday, April 1, at the new Lincoln School Auditorium on Main street.

The public has been asked to attend in order to offer ideas to the two groups on how the town's public transportation could be improved.

Principal speaker will be Gary Watros of 10 Mason st., an employee of the U.S. Department of Transportation.

Representatives of concerned town groups, as well as some town officials, are expected.

Alateens

Alateens, a group for teenagers who are children of alcoholics or who have other family members or friends with a drinking problem, meets Monday nights at 7:30 in the Forum Room of the First Congregational Church, Church and Vine sts.

Funds For Study, Research Available

Francis X. Finigan, director of science of the Winchester public schools, reports he has received word the National Science Foundation has released funds for research and study programs in science and mathematics for high ability secondary school students during the summer of 1975.

He pointed out that more than 3,300 young people will participate in the student science training projects this summer.

The projects, conducted by various colleges throughout the country range from the geological research in arctic conditions to the study of wildlife biology.

By giving science-oriented high school students an experience with college-level instruction and investigative laboratory work, the foundation seeks to stimulate their scholarly development and to encourage the further development of similar programs with other sources of support.

Admissions to these summer projects will be determined by the sponsoring institutions, not by the National Science Foundation said Finigan.

In general, selection will be based upon scholastic ability, science motivation, and the completion of specified high school courses in science and mathematics. Because of the limited number of appointments available, strong preference in selecting participants for summer projects will be given to students in the 11th grade (junior year of high school).

Voke Administrators Get 4.8 To 15.3 Percent Raises

A revamped schedule of the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School administrative and supervisory salary was adopted recently.

The new schedule grants raises ranging from a low of 4.8 percent to a high of 15.3 percent.

Designed by a sub-committee of the District School Committee to eliminate inequities, the new list won 8-3 approval of the committee. Salaries are retroactive to July 1, 1974.

After this vote, the committee went on and voted 6-5 an additional across the board six percent raise for 1975-76 for the 10 individuals concerned in spite of pleas by some members that they could not defend such a move to their town meetings.

(Monday night at the opening session of the Winchester town meeting, Winchester's vocational school representative Gerard Donohoe did not have to defend anything. The Winchester town meeting appropriated $145,148 as its operation payment toward the operation of the school for fiscal 1976 without a question or comment by anyone.)

Voke Salaries

Salaries of administrators and supervisors at the school prior to the raise, the new 1974-75 salary for the current year, and the new salary rate for 1975-76 are listed as follows:

John Connolly, supt. director, $26,250, $29,000, $30,740.

Accident Saturday evening at Church and Central streets sent these two cars over a lawn. One man was injured and treated at Winchester Hospital. (Photo by Arthur MacDonnell) at the time of application, he noted.

Finigan suggests all qualified Winchester students to contact him at the science office located in the high school for further information on the program.

Winchester students who have attended institutes in the past include Marjorie Stelow, who took part in the science program of the Thacher School at Ojai, Calif.; Janee Roehr, who took part in the chemistry program at California State University at San Diego, and Kristen Johanson who took part in the mathematics program at Hampshire College at Amherst.

★ Police

On Saturday there was a report that numerous windows at Lynch Junior High School were broken.

On Sunday police were called to the town forest area where two girls were operating mini-bikes. Police talked with the girls and explained the laws of operating mini-bikes and the girls left the area.

Also on Sunday at 16 Seneca rd. there was a complaint that an antenna on an automobile had been snapped off and four hubcaps stolen from another family vehicle.

A ridge street resident complained of damage to his mailbox. This is the third week in a row that this has happened, the resident said.

Two stolen cars were recovered this week and one bicycle was stolen.

Country Day Tests April 5

Entrance testing at Newton Country Day School of the Sacred Heart for grades 7 through 11 will be Saturday, April 5, from 10 a.m. to noon. Partial scholarships, starting in grade 9, are awarded on the basis of achievement and need. For further information call the school.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Hintlian.

'Hold' Mail No Longer Held In Winchester

Effective immediately, hold mail will no longer be held at the Winchester Post Office.

According to an announcement from Postmaster Daniel J. Moynihan, hold mail will be kept at the carrier station on Henshaw street in Woburn.

"It will be required for all postal customers wishing to have mail held to establish a commencing and terminating date so that hold mail can be delivered by the carrier when service is resumed."

"New hours of service on the call window will be 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m." He added that hold mail for Winchester customers may not be picked up at the main office in Woburn.

If the person whose mail is being held tells the post office when regular service is to resume, the post office will arrange for the hold mail to be sent to Winchester for customer pickup.

Or the customer can have the route letter carrier deliver it.

Friends Of Fells Meeting April 4

Friends of the Fells will meet Friday, April 4, at 12:15 at the Kernwood Restaurant in Malden for a business meeting.

Winchester residents are members. Contact Francis McHugh of Malden or Richard Parkhurst of Winchester for more information.

Tufts Alumnae Meet April 3

Mrs. Constance Dingwell Blanchard of 50 Lorena rd., director of the Jackson College Association, reports that alumnae of the college may attend an alumnae meeting on April 3 at 7:30 p.m. in Alumnae Hall, Talbot avenue, Medford.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Carol Rabb Goldberg, vice president and general manager of Stop and Shop Companies.

She will discuss "The Consumer's Right to be Heard—How to Make it Happen."

A Jackson College alumna and university trustee, Mrs. Goldberg will answer questions from the audience following her talk. Coffee and dessert will follow. Guests are welcome.

She is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Hintlian.

Poet, Businessman And Cemetery Cmsr. Brad Johnson Speaks

Guest speaker at a recent Rotary Club was Brad Johnson, author of a new book of poems, "Pulpits to the North," and senior vice-president of a Boston investment organization.

Johnson, who has been writing since boyhood, attended the Winchester public schools and graduated from Amherst College, where he studied with Robert Frost and other poets.

A fellow of the Financial Analysts Federation, he has served in professional and civic organizations in Winchester and Boston.

He is a trustee of the Winchester Savings Bank and a commissioner of Wildwood Cemetery.

In his talk he pointed out that he was a likely, not unlikely, combination of businessman and verse maker, saying there was a need "to be involved in a full time something else" to be a writer.

"This is perhaps the main difference between observation writing and other craft, he said. 'A poet's search for perspective requires being battered by something other than just his own thoughts.'"

He said that in some quarters his avocation is best not mentioned. He gave particular thanks to Robert Kenney, former head of the English Department of WHS, whose enthusiasm and support kept him writing in those early years, he said.

Talking about business and the capital markets, Johnson felt that one could have little surety about the depth of the present recession or the timing of a return to more secure and stable economic conditions.

He suggested that the extremes of depression or continued high rates of inflation are improbable but not out of the question. A best guess was that we would complete a sharp demand-capacity adjustment in the next three to six months.

This could be followed by a slow period and then gradual improvement beginning sometime in 1976, Johnson said. He felt it important that adequate time be given to correct imbalances and adjust consumer attitudes.

"That's at the root of the matter and the point of critical observation. If the consumer moderates non-necessity demand and doesn't eliminate it, this will be a very healthy, although difficult, adjustment."

"We are all going to have to come to grips with our spending and savings attitudes both as businessmen and consumers."

"Spending should slow somewhat and savings increase if we are to provide the capital for the higher and higher standards of living and security which we all seek."

He concluded by reading several of his poems. Reviews of Johnson's poems, which are concerned with country and city, have noted that they capture New England's philosophy and flavor.

Mormon President Says 'Easter Is World's Hope'

In his recent Easter message, president of the world's three and a half million Mormons testified of the reality of the resurrection of Jesus Christ and called upon the world to take hope and assurance from it.

Leader of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints Spencer W. Kimball said, "Easter is the hope of the world. It stirs within us hope, assurance and security, a feeling that all is not in vain."

The 80-year old leader continued that not only is the resurrection a reality, "it gives us a definite promise that we will be whole and well and strong in the eternity."

Epiphany Parish Plans Easter Festivities

Special Good Friday services and Easter festivals will mark the conclusion of Lenten observances and the celebration of Easter Day this week-end at the Parish of the Epiphany.

The Rev. Ralph B. Putney, retired associate rector of the congregation, will give the meditation of the noonday service tomorrow. There also will be special music and the reading of the Good Friday office. At 3 p.m., the children's service includes the showing of the motion picture, "The Red Balloon."

Tomorrow evening, the choir will sing Daniel Pinkham's "The Reproaches." The service includes the reading of the Good Friday office in a church that is gradually darkened, commemorating the darkness that covered the earth at the time of the crucifixion.

Two services are scheduled for Holy Saturday. At 4 p.m., the Sacrament of Holy Baptism will be administered, and at 5 p.m., there will be a celebration of the Eucharist for those who wish to avoid crowds and who cannot be in church on Sunday.

Easter Day festival Eucharists are at 7, 9, and 11. All choirs sing at 9, and the senior choir, at 11; at both these services, a brass quartet will provide prelude music and will accompany the choirs and congregations in singing the festival hymns.

The Rector of the Parish, the Rev. John J. Bishop, will preach, and the associate, the Rev. Jurgen W. Lillas, will preside at the Eucharist.

Lutheran Church Of Redeemer

Easter Sunday
6 a.m., Sunrise service (Holy Communion), and 8:45 and 11:15 a.m. Easter Sunday services.

Liturgical Dance, Mozart Featured For Holy Week

Liturgical dance, a non-verbal form of prayer, will be presented during the Holy Thursday liturgy at 7:30 p.m. along with the music of the monks at the Weston Priory at St. Eulalia's.

Members of the liturgical dance group are Marilyn Poole, Deirdre Patrick, Debbie King, Lucille Shepard, Sandy Boyle and Paula Viscone.

On Good Friday there will be a service for children at 1 p.m.

The evening liturgy on Good Friday at 7:30 p.m. will feature Mozart's "Ave Verum" with solo parts sung by Mary McEwen, Ann Mohr, Mara Reece and Robert Meehan.

Music for the Easter vigil candlelight liturgy on Holy Saturday at 7:30 p.m. will center around a mass by Proulx.

The communion meditation will be Mozart's "Jubilate Deo." Liturgical dance will also be offered during this service.

Easter Sunday masses will be 7 a.m., no music; 8:30 a.m., children's choir; 10 a.m., congregational singing and organ; 10 a.m., adult choir; congregational singing and organ; with music the same as the Easter vigil; 11:30 a.m. mass, contemporary music with guitar folk group, flute, Betsy Maytum; drums, Marilyn Severino; saxophone, Donald Crisafulli; and base, Jack Gallant. Liturgical Dance will also be offered at this mass.

There will be another mass at 11:30 a.m. downstairs in Marion Hall with no music for those who arrive after the full seating capacity of the church is reached.

There will also be a 5 p.m. mass with no music. St. Eulalia's Holy Week program was developed by Deirdre Patrick, liturgy coordinator, and Marilyn Poole, the new music director. Organ music for the

Methodists Will Gather For Maundy Thursday Supper

Maundy Thursday
At 6:30 p.m. the congregation at Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church will gather in Gifford Hall for a covered dish supper.

At 7:30 a service of Tenebrae "Shadows Around the Cross," will be observed. This solemn Holy Week service will feature music and dramatic scenes leading up to the crucifixion of Christ.

The minister, Rev. Leon Hatch, and Fred Dymek will lead in worship assisted by the senior choir and Gloria Maifield, soloist.

Good Friday
The church will be open from noon for prayer and meditation. From noon until 2 p.m. Rev. Hatch will serve Holy Communion to those who wish to receive the sacrament.

Easter Day
A family worship service will be conducted at 11 a.m. preceded by Easter breakfast served by the junior high fellowship from 8:30 until 10 a.m.

There will be no church school on Easter, but infants and kindergarten age children will be supervised during morning worship.

Special music will be provided by both junior and senior choirs and by Gloria Maifield, soloist. Robert Wilkinson will accompany the choirs on drums.

The minister will preach on the Easter theme—"He Arose."

At 5 p.m. both senior and junior youth fellowships will meet at the church.

Interfaith Overnight Scheduled

An interfaith family overnight will be April 4 and 5 at the Craigville Conference Center on Cape Cod.

This is the final program in the 1974-75 interfaith adult education series. Designed for families with children varying in ages from 3 to 18, the overnight includes various activities and opportunities for recreation, conversation and discussion. There is room for four more families.

Contact Rev. George Easton or Rev. John Bishop immediately if interested in joining the program.

100 Attend Quilt Program

The Let's Quilt program presented by the Winchester Church Club March 5, was enjoyed by more than 100 members and guests.

Metalf Hall of the Winchester Unitarian Church was colorfully decorated with quilts of all ages and design brought by those attending. The dessert tables were covered with paper Hawaiian quilt patterns made by Hospitality Chairman Cathy Sterling.

Helen Foster, a lecturer, adult education teacher and quilt enthusiast of more than 30 years, encouraged her audience to enrich their lives by quilting.

"The first-day you have completed your quilt," Mrs. Foster said, "you will realize you have made something functional, something beautiful, and something that will become an heirloom." She brought many examples of her craft to prove her point.

The patchwork quilt is unique to America. When the early settlers came to this country, they usually brought a comforter with them, using it for a suitcase, as well as for warmth.

As the comforter showed signs of wear, the women patched the holes with bits of cloth saved from worn out clothing. Soon it became apparent that the patched comforter was more colorful and attractive than the original comforter.

So the patchwork quilt was born. Designs based on geometric shapes came next. Women competed with one another in creating artistic and colorful designs.

Mrs. Foster pointed out that the Log Cabin pieced quilt is the oldest American pattern and was developed in New England. Applique quilts, which take more time to make, originated in the South, where women had household help.

Mrs. Foster learned about the history of Hawaiian quilts when she lived there with her Army husband. The early New England missionaries introduced the quilting bee to Hawaiian women. The Hawaiian women were too polite to tell their new friends that they didn't really need quilts for warmth, and thought it rather foolish to cut up pieces of material and sew them back together again.

So they created their own way of making a quilt from just two pieces of material. They carefully spread a large piece of cloth on the ground under a tree, and traced the pattern made by the shadow on the cloth. By folding the cloth into quarters, a large symmetrical design was cut out and applied onto a contrasting color of bed size.

Mrs. Foster demonstrated how to make a Nine Patch pattern pieced quilt. She shared her expertise with her audience with advice about color selection, cutting, sewing and pressing.

Mrs. Foster likes to use a large oval needlework hoop to hold the basted layers together as she quilts from the center toward the edges. A binding finishes the quilt, a functional thing of beauty, sure to become an heirloom, and shown with pride by the next generation.

Scouts Take To Canoes, Rafts To Clean Aberjona

Canoes and rafts were the principal modes of transportation last Saturday for Woburn and Winchester scouts as they spent the day on the chilly Aberjona River dredging out tons of debris left by thoughtless citizens over the last year.

Crossing bank of Aberjona River Saturday is a young man getting ready to take to a canoe and help in the cleanup.

Eating a candy bar during a break in the day's work is this young scout who warms one hand by keeping it in his coat. Day was bitter and rainy.

Trails Plans Orientation For Guides

An orientation coffee for new and prospective Winchester Trails guides for spring of 1975 will be Friday, April 4, at 9:30 a.m.

The meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Stephen Moore, president of the Trails, at 3 Dennett rd.

Mrs. Moore says, "Anyone who loves the outdoors and is interested in introducing young children to nature will gain tremendous satisfaction and enjoyment from participation in the program."

Last fall, according to Mrs. Moore, Trails guides led 406 school children through the Long Pond Trail (Middlesex-Fells Reservation), and the Smith Pond area (Winchester Conservation land) as an enrichment of the second and fourth grade science curriculum.

Mrs. Moore says that guides "need not be walking encyclopedias of natural science."

The fundamental idea behind Winchester Trails, she says, "is to instill a love and appreciation of nature in children by early and frequent exposure."

The following are excerpts from letters received by guides after last year's spring trips:

"I enjoyed our trip to Long Pond. When we first got into groups I didn't want to go, but when we started I didn't want to stop. Jeff, Chris, Brad, Gordon, John, Kurt, Steven and I are very glad you took us and thank you very much. Hope we see you again."

Mark Micicche

"Thank you for a wonderful time at Long Pond. Best of all I liked finding the samples. I enjoyed Mimi's bug too." Tommy Sullivan

I really enjoyed being in your group. Remember when we caught that fish? I'm the one who pulled it in. I'm glad there are people like you in the world who give there (sic) free time for others. Thanks a lot." John Kriebel

Citizens Push Selectmen To Sell Properties

There is a move in Winchester by some citizens to get selectmen to sell town-owned properties, some of which are now rented and all of which are in need of some repair.

Disposition of the houses and land is the subject of an article to be discussed at the annual town meeting scheduled to reconvene next Monday.

Recently Jamie Stewart Jr. of 12 Reservoir st., acting as a spokesman for a number of residents in the Washington School area, appeared before selectmen and said: "We feel most uncomfortable with the townowned houses in the neighborhood."

Their chief objection is that "the houses have been very poorly maintained and are ruining our neighborhood."

The residents feel if the houses were sold to families they would be renovated and properly cared for by the owners.

Since the School Committee indicated they do not need town-owned properties in the area for expansion of Washington School and the Planning Board is agreeable that such properties be sold, residents feel "selectmen have no business acting as a landlord."

Stewart said the situation "is a disservice to those of us in the neighborhood... and it is getting worse at an accelerated pace."

Selectman John J. Sullivan agreed saying: "We have less right to be a poor landlord," and noted the major problem has been that town meeting hasn't been receptive to providing money for repairs.

He told his associates they should "aggressively seek, repair money otherwise destroy the houses and hold the land or sell the land."

Monday night selectmen asked town meeting to postpone the selectmen's rental budget so that the $15,603 budget be discussed in conjunction with an article asking town meeting to authorize selectmen to secure bids for the sale of various parcels of property.

At a recent selectmen's meeting, board members took positions on the disposition of each property.

Now, armed with statistical information and present condition of each site, they will try to convince town meeting to accept the recommendations to retain some properties, make certain repairs to others, and in a few instances sell.

WHS Hoop Team

'Had Better Season Than 9-13 Record Indicates'

By John F. Parrell

The annual dinner for the WHS Sackem basketball team sponsored by the parents of the players was at the Little Drummer Boy room of the Battle Green Inn in Lexington last week.

Co-chairmen were Mrs. James Phillips and Mrs. Robert Nuttall, mothers of the co-captains.

A steak dinner was followed by an informal speaking program with remarks by Principal Vincent Larocco, Athletic Director Bill Colella, Assistant Coach Cliff Wheeler and Coach Vandy French, who also served as master of ceremonies.

It was pointed out that the team had a competitive season, far better than the 9-13 record indicates. High points were the defeat of Lexington, the two tight games with Melrose and the ding-dong finale with the Woburn Tanners, whom they pushed to the limit before losing 70-67.

A trophy for the co-championship 1974 season was on display as was the trophy for the Class B championship which the team was in this year's Bay State Tourney.

Co-capt. Mike Phillips was awarded the Thomas H. Black trophy as the team's most valuable player. This award is in memory of a friend and contemporary of Coach French who was killed in an accident while serving with the Marines.

Letters and certificates were presented to every member of the varsity squad. All who had not previously received a letter got one. Letter winners included Managers Nancy Errico and Laura Arsenian, Robert Fayne, Andy Stoeckle, Wayne Mills, Todd Cronan, Kirk Swanson, Mike Bergen and Dan Heffernan.

The individual records for the season showed:

	FG	FT	R
Mike Phillips	93	55	241
Dave Nuttall	40	7	87
Albie Cordice	68	43	179
Robert Fayne	92	44	208
Steve Waite	53	37	143
Sam Oliver	1	3	5
Mark Chalas	7	9	23
Andy Stoeckle	81	36	198
Wayne Mills	36	20	92
Todd Cronan	14	10	38
Kirk Swanson	13	3	29
Mike Bergen	0	0	1
Dan Heffernan	2	1	5
TOTALS	490	429	1248

Tri-captains for next year will be Andy Stoeckle, Wayne Mills and Dan Heffernan. The latter is the third member of his family to be a captain under Coach French. His brothers John and Michael were previously honored.

Tri-captains for next year are Wayne Mills, Andy Stoeckle and Dan Heffernan, who will lead WHS Sackem quintet. Heffernan is third member of his family to captain a French coached team.

Honor For Former Coach

Science director for Winchester schools and former WHS hockey coach Frank Finigan receives Hall of Fame plaque from Jim McElholm (right), Sachem star in 1950s and now coach at Auburn High School. Also in attendance are Finigan's son, Joseph (left). Mrs. Finigan and their daughter Nancy Walch. Finigan's career record was 167-66-18.

Recreation Basketball

Bucks 38, Lakers 36

In the first game of the playoffs the Bucks stunned the bewildered Lakers, 38 to 36.

Bob Cooke was the main reason the Bucks won. He scored 22 points and grabbed 11 rebounds.

Dan Joslin scored the winning basket with seconds remaining in the game. For the Lakers Ken Goodrow and Jim Campbell scored 10 points each.

Lakers 44, Bucks 14

The Lakers must have been asleep in the first game, for in the second game they scored 24 unanswered points.

Jim Khor, Jim Campbell, Jim Duffy and Ken Goodrow all scored 8 points to lead the Lakers to the win.

Bruce Campbell and Mark Sullivan played their best game of the season as they made key steals and baskets.

Lakers 50, Bucks 20

The Lakers beat the Bucks and won a position in the semifinals against the Jazz. Jim Duffy led the Lakers in scoring with 12 points.

The real key to the success of the Lakers was the presence of Capt. Jim Campbell. Jim steered the offense to almost perfection and directed the defense.

Now the Lakers will take on the Jazz in the semifinals next week. The winner will play the Celtics, the tournament favorite.

Next week's games: 10, Jazz vs. Lakers.

11, winner of Jazz vs. Laker will play Celtics for recreation championship.

Squirt Lions

Down Melrose

In a pair of recent games at the Cambridge MDC rink, the St. Eulalia Squirt Lions overpowered the Melrose A team, 4-0, but dropped a 2-1 decision to the Cambridge AA team.

The young Lions had difficulty getting untracked against Melrose and were forced to play the early part of the first period in their own end, with Jackie Davies putting on a spectacular display of goaltending.

Near the end of the period, Steve Dionne directed an errant Melrose pass to John Kisil, who then set up Steve Tucci for the Lions' first goal.

The 1-0 score remained until the third period, as both teams missed on good scoring chances. Greg Diffley scored the second goal into an open net when the Melrose goalie lost control of Tim Keaveney's rebound.

Moments later Dionne put the game out of reach when he fired the puck from a pile-up and backhanded it by the downed goalie. The final goal was scored by Tucci with an assist from Kisil.

Against Cambridge, the Lions ran into a hot goaltender and had to wait until the dying minutes before Larry Maida converted Tim Casey's pass for the only St. Eulalia goal.

Cambridge was widely outplayed in this game but succeeded in stopping many strong scoring bids by Tucci, Dionne, Mike Griffin and Gerry Kiley.

Bantam Team Gets Underway

The Winchester Youth Hockey Bantam A team started practice last week for play in the Middlesex Youth Hockey spring league's six-week schedule.

Representing the team in goal are Jack Bonner and Bob Surabian supported by a defense corps of Jack Barrett, Bob Lynch, Dave Vozzella and Marsh White.

Up front the A's will be sparked by centers Brian Cleary, Tom Masiello and Robbie Romeo.

The A's opening game is Sunday at the Burlington Ice Palace at 4 p.m. vs. Woburn.

Girls Bays Tryouts Again On Saturday

On Saturday, March 29, there will be another tryout period for the girls Bays League teams.

The B team will start at 9:15 a.m. The C team will begin at 10:45 a.m. The A team will start at 1:30 p.m.

All games will be at the Ambrose School Field.

Early Birds

In Early Birds bowling the Starlings and the Warblers are tied for first place.

The Starlings include Jane Johnson, Jackie Wert and Carmella Clemente.

The Warblers include Gerry Lesperance, Shirley Vincent and Heather Bass.

The Eagles, Mary Dennis, Mary Jane Brooks and Lois Mercurio, are in second place.

Shirley Vincent had high game for the day at 172. Elaine Binding earned high series. The Warblers took high team series with 1278.

Campo Receives Varsity Letter

Forward Joe Campo of 34 Myrtle ter. was recently awarded a varsity letter for his performance with the Ithaca College hockey team during the 1974-75 season.

Campo, a junior, served as a co-captain of the college squad. He finished the season as the fifth leading scorer for the bombers with 18 points including five goals and 13 assists.

A physical education major, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Campo.

$100 REBATE

If you're about to buy central air conditioning without knowing these 4 facts, you're about to make a costly mistake.

- We'll send you a check for $100 if you buy Carrier's famous Round One now. * Saving money is the best reason to buy pre-season; that's why we've made our 1975 offer bigger and better than past years. So give us a call and we'll tell you all the facts about this great offer. But you must act before April 30, 1975.
- Carrier's Round One: one of the most efficient systems you can buy. You get more cooling power while it uses less electricity. That's why it cools like a dream and pinches pennies doing it.
- It's extra quiet. No other make comes close. It makes less noise than two seltzer tablets fizzing in a glass of water. You won't even know it's on.
- Carrier is the Number One Air Conditioning Maker. Carrier started it all years ago... and has been a leader ever since. That's why it's not only the best money can buy; it's also the best buy for the money.

*Carrier Round One models only, sold and installed by us between Feb. 1 and April 30, 1975. Residential sales only. Builders and developers not eligible.

The undersigned hereby appeals from the decision of the Zoning Administrator in determining that the premises numbered 45 Fletcher Street, this town, located in a single residence district (RDB), is being maintained as an illegal use in that there are three (3) separate dwelling units at this address.
Dominic J. Olivadotti
TOWN OF WINCHESTER
BOARD OF APPEAL
Upon the foregoing application it is hereby OR-DERED: That a public hearing be held thereon in the East Room of the Town Hall on Tuesday April 8, 1975 at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, that notice thereof be given at the expense of the applicant by publishing a copy of said application together with this order in the Winchester Star, once in each of two (2) successive weeks the first publication to be not less than fourteen (14) days before the day of the hearing, that notice thereof be given to the petitioner and to the owners of all property deemed by the board to be affected thereby including the abutters and the owners of land next adjoining the land of the abutters, notwithstanding that the abutting land or the next adjoining land is located in another city or town, as they appear on the most recent tax lists, and to the adjoining city or town. A copy of such notice shall be posted in a conspicuous location upon the

NOTICE OF SPECIAL
MEETING OF
SHAREHOLDERS
A Special Meeting of the Shareholders
of Winchester National Bank will be held
at its main office, 7 Church Street,
Winchester, Massachusetts, on April 15,
1975, at 4:15 p.m., for the following
purposes:
1. To consider and vote upon the matter of ratifying and confirming the Plan of Reorganization and Agreement to Consolidate The County Bank, N.A. and
Winchester National Bank with and into
The County Bank, N.A. under the charter of the County Bank, N.A. and with the title of Shawmut County Bank, N.A., and the execution thereof by the President and a majority of the Directors of this bank.
2. To act upon any and all matters
incident to the foregoing and to transact
such other business as may properly
come before the meeting.
Approval of said Plan of
Reorganization and Agreement to Consolidate is on file, and may be inspected
during regular business hours, at the

Brennan Begins Lacross Practice

Winchester's Jackie Brennan traded one stick for another earlier this month at Dartmouth College.

The former All-Middlesex League hockey standout from Winchester High started practice with the Big Green lacrosse team after finishing the hockey season.

A junior, Brennan centered the third line most of the season for Dartmouth, scoring one goal and picking up nine assists.

His one goal came on a beautiful breakaway in the Green's 8-6 victory over Boston College, the alma mater of his father, Francis P. Brennan. He also handed out two assists in Dartmouth's 12-4 rout of St. Mary's (Nova Scotia) in the opening round of the Blue-Green Invitational at the University of New Hampshire.

Brennan, an officer in Sigma Nu Delta fraternity, left recently with the lacrosse team for spring training and competition in Maryland and North Carolina.

Last spring, Brennan lettered as an attack man for the Big Green.

Dartmouth will play in the prestigious Hero's Lacrosse Tournament at Duke University later this month.

Brennan's brother Tom, a member of the Winchester High School hockey team this winter, has been accepted in Dartmouth's early admission plan and will join the Big Green next fall.

An economics major, Jack resides at 36 Central st.

Garden Club Looks At Charles River

Members of the Winchester Home and Garden Club recently participated in activities at the Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church.

A morning workshop was led by Mrs. Richard Kepler of 12 Fells rd. She demonstrated fresh fruit and flower arrangements.

At noon the horticulture study group participated in a program on hydroponics - growing plants in water.

Refreshments were served followed by the business meeting, conducted by president Mrs. James E. Grassi of 4 Aristotle dr.

Speaker for the afternoon was Rita Barron, executive director of the Charles River Watershed Association. She presented a lecture and slides entitled "The Charles River."

Coed Gets Letter

Janet Lisberger of Winchester, a student at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., is one of 12 coeds who received varsity letters in recognition of contributions to the 1975 Cardinal women's basketball team.

She is a graduate of Winchester High School.

O'Connell Earns Varsity Letter

Philip F. O'Connell of Winchester won a varsity letter for participation on Northfield Mount Hermon School's varsity hockey team.

A senior, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. O'Connell of 20 Ridgely rd.

The Big Red hockey team ended the season with a 8-9-1 record.

Baseball Team Now Working Out

By John F. Parrell

Coach Jack Eydenberg, Winchester's new high school baseball coach, is holding daily workouts in preparation for the Middlesex League slate of 18 games.

Some 63 candidates have been taking part in the practice sessions held in the field house with a little bit of outdoor action when the weather is favorable.

There is intense competition for most of the starting positions with several veterans challenged by promising newcomers.

Tom Brennan and Albie Cordice are co-captains. They should have good seasons since both were regular starters during the past two years.

The first intra-squad practice game took place last Friday, with several promising sophomores in action. Tim Powers and Jon Pettie shape up as threats to make the starting lineup. Junior Willie Paglia showed enough in recent workouts to be rated as a potential starter.

The pitching staff boasts three strong arms in Jon Lindberg, Peter Emery and Bruce West. All have had considerable experience on the mound. With help from Dave Pettie and one or two of the newcomers they should be capable of holding off the opposition.

Pre-season workouts which are scheduled include:

- April 1, Malden.
- April 3, Revere.
- April 4, Malden.
- April 5, Chelsea (10:30).
- April 8, Revere.
- April 10, Billerica.

These will all be at Manchester Field. There will also be a practice game at Billerica on April 11.

Council For Children Now Accepting Funding Proposals

The Mystic Valley Council for Children is accepting proposals for funding within the following priority areas established by the council.

Homemaker services, after-school day care, special needs recreation, shelter care (for runaways), individual and family counseling and day care.

Included with the above priorities, the council is welcoming proposals dealing with career information for youth to possibly include a job bank.

The priorities were determined in response to a survey conducted by the consumer needs committee of the council to determine areas of greatest need for children's services. Questionnaires were sent to provider agencies, tenant's groups, churches and clubs.

The amount of available funding for fiscal year 1976 is uncertain. In general, the Council recommends that proposals not exceed requests of $10-15,000.

Requests for proposal forms will be sent to agencies after the council receives a letter of intent stating the kind of program being planned and a general budget figure. Letters should be sent to Mystic Valley Council for Children, First Congregational Church, Dix Street, Winchester, 01890.

Questions about the letter of intent or proposal should be directed to Robert Good of the council.

Proposals are due April 18. Wilmington, Woburn, Winchester, Lexington, Arlington and Burlington are member communities.

Junior A Hockey Team Loses Opener

Winchester's junior A hockey team recently opened its spring season on a losing note by dropping a hard-fought penalty-filled game to Saugus 6-3.

Saugus scored three times in the first period before Winchester got on the scoreboard on a goal by Billy McLean, assisted on the play by Frank Ciruso.

Saugus scored fourth and fifth goals in the second period before Winchester's third line got hot with Danny Whitney scoring two goals assisted by his two wingmen, Mike Jeanette and Willie Moriarty.

Scholarship Foundation Begins Drive

The Winchester Scholarship Foundation has begun its 30th annual fund raising drive.

Since its beginning in 1945, when the Lincoln School Mothers' Association initiated a scholarship fund, the Winchester Scholarship Foundation has grown to be a townwide organization with a broad base of support from school parents' associations, civic groups, businesses, and individuals.

During the 30 years, 362 students have benefited from scholarships totalling $358,735.

This year, with both inflation and recession hitting the economy, requests for aid are expected to be more numerous than ever before, said Mrs. Robert Crockett.

In 1974, grants ranged from $100 to $1,000 with an average of $500 for high school seniors and $300 for further aid to students already in professional schools or colleges.

Scholarship Foundation Chairman John F. Sexton states "scholarship funds must be increased if we are to help students meet the rapidly escalating costs of education."

An updated informational brochure of appeal for contributions will be mailed by the foundation later this month. Donations may be sent to Robert G. Ingraham Jr., treasurer, 18 Ardley pl.

Mrs. Saltmarsh Finishes Course In Insurance

By Fred Cardin

Marcia S. Saltmarsh of 154 Mt. Vernon st., a representative of Aetna Life & Casualty at Winchester, has recently attended a casualty and property insurance course at Aetna's home office in Hartford, Ct.

Mrs. Saltmarsh was one of five women in a class of 72.

The five-week course provides comprehensive instruction in all forms of individual and business insurance protection, stressing new developments and methods of meeting changing conditions.

McGrath Accepted

James W. McGrath of 35 Leslie rd., who will graduate from Winchester High School in June, has been accepted for admission to Wentworth Institute in Boston for the 1975-76 academic year.

Last AIM Concerts Scheduled

The fourth and last concert of the 1974-75 series of Adventures in Music will be April 5 and 6 in the Lexington High School auditorium.

This will be AIM's traditional student participation concert and will feature orchestra and dance performances involving elementary school students from 17 participating communities.

The following students from Winchester have been selected to perform with the professional musicians in the orchestra at all three performances: Jay Crawford, saxophone, Wyman; Andrea deMars, trumpet, Ambrose; Kathy Durante, clarinet, Mystic;

Lisa Keay, flute, Washington; Linda Laing, drums, Muraco; Russell Leach, clarinet, Noonan; Tim Mahon, trumpet, Mystic; Anne Pharo, flute, Wyman;

Linda Shea, violin, Vinson-Owen; Caroline Twomey, violin, Lincoln; and Mark Wilder, trombone, Lincoln.

The students, together with the 30 other students selected from the other participating towns, will be conducted by Newton Wayland.

Included in the program will be "Alexander's Ragtime Band" by Berlin and Wayland, and "Zoomtown Strutter's Ball" by Brook and Wayland.

Compositions by winners of a composition contest will be announced at the performances and played by the professional orchestra.

"Billy the Kid," ballet by American composer Aaron Copland, will be performed by students under the direction of Judy Williams. Students selected from Winchester for the ballet are Glen Shaw, Keith Leary, Michael Guarnaccia, Gordon Shaw and Jill Mirak.

Tickets are available for the April 6, 1:30, performance by contacting Mrs. Joseph Dixon at 21 Nassau drive.

The composition contest winners are as follows:

Tied for first prize, Mary Hartman, grade 5, Noonan School. Tied for third prize, Lyndon Lien, grade 4, Vincent Owen.

Special joint prize for their pieces based on the pentatonic scale are, Maureen Kennedy, Lori Benson and Charles Abbott and their teacher Carol Fieleke of 5 Canterbury rd.

Two third grade Winchester students also received honorable mention. They are Michele Stolorow and Eric Fieleke.

These compositions will be performed by the professional orchestra at the concert, and a tape of the performance will be given to each winner.

tributary retirement expenses, $15,184; non-contributory pensions and annuities, $179,500; workmen's compensation law administration, $5,430; and compensation, $52,000; and group insurance, $250,000.

Also passing with no discussion were the budgets for judgments and claims—indemnifications $8,000; insurance, $72,097; public celebrations, $3,725; payment of funded debt, $1,280,000; interest on funded debt, $636,270; and interest on temporary loans, $32,000.

The town meeting also passed the water budget with little discussion at $271,213; and the cemetery budget at $126,167.

A town meeting member asked if money requested in the cemetery budget was for roads within the cemetery. She felt that because of the present economy, this type of work should be ignored.

Mrs. Hanks said $75,000 of the budget would be for the first section of roads in the cemetery. These roads have not been repaired for 25 years, she said.

Another town meeting member asked if the water and sewer budgets would be combined in future years in view of the new sewer tax which would bring income to the town. Ernest A. Phillips Jr. of the Water-Sewer Board answered: "Not under the present charter."

There was a standing vote with 73 against and 72 favoring adding $1,000 to the library budget to pay for restoration materials for use by the town architect.

TMM F. Robert Johnson of Prec. 5 tried to reduce the salt budget by $10,000.

Town meeting members did not buy this recommendation after TMM Robert Beattie of Prec. 5 said the town, during the past few years, has steadily reduced its use of salt on roads in the winter. Originally Winchester purchased from 4,500 to 5,000 tons of salt, he said. In the 73-74 fiscal year this was lessened to 3,000 to 3,500 tons. The present budget calls for from 2,000 to 3,000 tons of salt, he said.

On several of the budgets passed by town meeting, town officials pointed out that due to the new town charter and additional expenses, more money will be requested in certain areas at a future special town meeting.

Lincoln Parents Schedule Dance

The Lincoln School Parents' Association will sponsor a spring dance at the Woburn Country Club Saturday, April 5, from 8 p.m. to midnight.

Music will be by the Rudy Delcore Orchestra. Hors d'oeuvres, dessert, and coffee will be served. Tickets may be purchased from Lillian Costello, 179 Washington st., or from any member of the board.

Historical Society Plans Annual Meet

Urban renewal of Manchester Field will be a topic of discussion at Winchester Historical Society's annual meeting April 15, 7:30 p.m. in the Winchester High School social studies area.

Richard Parkhurst, Irene Schneller, Bruce Winchester Stone, author of the new Town History, and Frank Curtis, chairman of the Historical Commission, will engage in a panel discussion with Winchester High School teachers William O'Connor, Paul Mulloy, William Colello and Lawrence Rinaldi and student Peter Luongo.

Nature Pictures

The Winchester Estates Garden Club met recently with Sally Wund of Winchester.

Ms. Wund is a retired architect with a hobby of photography. Her main interest is nature and she has a wide variety and collection of pictures on the subject.

She is an active member of Winchester Trails and the Winchester Conservation Commission.

Her informative program presented pictures of wildflowers.

MVAR Inc. Plans Meeting

The Mystic Valley Assn. for Retarded Inc., will hold a general membership meeting at the Memorial School cafeteria, Winn Street, on April 3 at 8 p.m.

MVAR Inc. serves the needs of the retarded in Burlington, Lexington, Winchester and Woburn.

Parents and friends may attend this membership meeting which will feature representatives from recreation departments, clinical nurseries, Child of Light Inc. and Nexus Inc.

All groups will explain their special programs presently serving retarded children and adults in the area. There are programs for all ages.

MVAR's newly elected officers for 1975-76 are: Richard Binnall, president; Leon Trombley, first vice-president; Mrs. Jean Tracey, second vice-president; Richard Moff, treasurer; Helen Sussenger, secretary.

Also, George MacMillan, Winchester director; Mrs. Louise Carlson, Woburn director.

Questions about MVAR's programs may be directed to these officers. They report many new programs are being planned with current programs being revised to offer better services.

Alcoholics Anonymous

Every Monday night at 8:30 p.m. at St. Eulalia's Church, 50 Ridge st., there will be a meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous. Everyone is welcome.

Child Of Light Annual Spring Dance, April 12

The Auxiliary to Child of Light, Inc., which operates an activities center for adults with developmental disabilities, is sponsoring a third annual spring dance.

The dance will be held April 12 from 8 p.m. to midnight at the Thomson Club, North Reading.

The dance will feature the Country Classics and include snacks and coffee.

There are Winchester residents who attend the activities center located in Burlington and serving area retarded.

For more information on tickets, contact Pauline Dishmon at The Star office.

Women Plan Day Of Teaching Seminars At Tufts April 5

Mrs. Constantine Alexander of Ravine rd. is chairman of a committee planning an all-day program of seminars to be held on the Tufts University campus on Saturday, April 5.

Mrs. Ralph M. Manning of Yale st. is a member of the seminar committee.

Sponsored by the Eliot-Pearson Alumnae Association, the seminars are intended primarily for teachers, parents and other people who work with young children. Each of the five seminars will be presented twice during the day.

Mrs. Gilbert Wolsky of Oxford Street, an elementary art supervisor who has taught in the Experimental College at Tufts, will present an art workshop at 1:15 p.m. and again at 2:45 at the Eliot-Pearson Children's School, 105 College ave., Tufts University.

Her emphasis will be on using "elegant junk" and unorthodox methods in working creatively with children.

Also at 1:15 and 2:30 the Eliot-Pearson Children's School there will be a puppet workshop with Susan Linn, ventriloquist, who has performed on the television show, "Mr. Rogers' Neighborhood."

At 10 a.m. and again at 11 a.m. there will be three seminars held in the Jackson Gymnasium—Alumnae Hall complex on Talbot av., Tufts University.

Norma Canner, a member of the faculty at the Eliot-Pearson Department of Child Study and author of the book, "... And a Time to Dance," will present a creative movement, participative workshop.

Barbara M. Anthony, who teaches at Dean Jr. College and in private and public schools in Wellesley, will conduct a seminar on children's literature.

Also at 10 and 11 a.m., June Hartell, director of tutor training programs at the Landmark School, will conduct a seminar about children with special needs entitled "Barriers to Learning." Mrs. Alexander and her committee are also planning a coffee hour at 9:30 a.m. in Alumnae Hall and a luncheon in Hodgdon Hall at 12 o'clock. She suggests that information concerning reservations may be obtained by calling her or the Eliot-Pearson Department of Child Study, Tufts University.

Newcomers To Visit Natick

On April 1 the Winchester Newcomers Club will go to Natick for a plant demonstration.

Car pools are being formed for attendance. Marie Johnson of 3 Thornberry rd. is coordinating transportation. Guests will be able to purchase plants and bring ailing plants for consultation as long as they are in plastic bags.

At their monthly meeting held recently at Mrs. Johnson's, members discussed upcoming events and enjoyed a social evening. There was no guest speaker.

Today and Sunday the group will be participating in a wine-tasting party and receive instruction in Ukrainian Easter egg decorating.

The newcomers are still looking for new people to join them for monthly bridge. Weekly, on Thursdays, the group participates in morning bowling.

A couples tennis party is being planned for sometime during the spring and a fashion show and make-up demonstration at Bonwit Teller's with lunch is tentatively set for May 14.

The Newcomers Club is open to all women in Winchester regardless of length of residence. According to a spokesman for the group, "This being its charter year, the club felt it would be unfair to limit membership to only those new to town."

Next fall, however, membership will be limited to residents of Winchester for three years or less.

Effective April 1

New Gun Measure Gives Mandatory 1-Year Sentences

On April 1 a stringent new gun law will be effective.

The law calls for a mandatory one-year prison sentence to persons carrying firearms without a license.

The law replaces optional jail penalties and means that judges will have to mete out a minimum of a year sentence to those convicted under the provisions of the law which was sponsored by House Speaker David M. Bartley (D-Holyoke) and retired Judge J. John Fox.

According to Bartley, the aim of the law "is to discourage the wanton and needless carrying of firearms on the streets of the Commonwealth."

Those who are convicted will not be eligible for a suspended sentence, a prison furlough, filing of charges, probation or parole.

Bartley says the legislation was designed to be preventive in nature, not punitive.

"It is not," says Judge Fox, "a search and seizure or gun confiscation law." Existing legislation is not changed, except for the stiffening of penalties.

The new law isn't a gun control measure at all, but a "crime control" device, says the judge.

Bartley noted that under laws long on the books a person is not supposed to have a weapon at home unless he or she has a minimum of a firearms identification card.

The new law is an addition to long standing Massachusetts firearms laws covering rifles, shotguns and pistols.

"The sentencing is the tough part of the law," says Bartley, "but the aim of the law is not to put people in jail. The tough sentencing is to discourage people from carrying weapons on the streets in the first place."

"We are hoping that an unlicensed person who might be tempted to carry a firearm won't carry it because of the certain jail sentence if arrested and convicted," said Bartley.

He noted hunters, gun collectors and target club members will, in general, have no problem with the new law.

"By and large, the most responsible private gun owners to be found anywhere are the hunters, collectors and target shooters... especially those who belong to organized clubs," he said.

Most are licensed and maintain good public acceptance of their avocation and are careful about weapons use, he noted.

Licensing procedures themselves tend to weed out people deemed not able to properly handle firearms, he said.

A firearms identification card will not be issued to a person convicted of a felony or near future state public safety officials will be able to build in an automatic notice to of license-to-carry expiration dates, much as the Registry of Motor Vehicles does on auto licenses.

The extension applies only to licenses in good standing and not those pending revocation or those which have been revoked.

License To Carry

To carry a handgun away from home, a person must obtain a "license to carry." However, an unloaded rifle or shotgun may be carried away from home if the owner possesses a firearms identification card.

The best and surest protection for a gun-owner who plans to carry a weapon away from home is to obtain a license to carry which covers all weapons.

A firearms identification card lasts for life. A license to carry is for five years.

Both can be obtained at the Police Department.

For a license to carry an applicant must be fingerprinted and photographed. When released from prison within the previous five years; a person with a history of mental illness; a person convicted of any state or federal narcotic or drug law violations; a person under 15 years of age, or an alien.

Family members of properly licensed gun owners have been urged to obtain individual licensing if they normally transport weapons for the licensed member of their family, said Bartley.

One Break In Law

Persons properly licensed to carry handguns in Massachusetts will receive one small break under the terms of the new gun law.

The law (Chapter 649 of the Acts of 1974) allows an automatic 90-day extension of the license-to-carry handgun at the end of the normal five year licensing period.

The automatic extension was included in the law last year to answer complaints that a person might violate the law by merely forgetting to renew his license to carry.

It is expected that in the license is issued, information is relayed to the State Department of Public Safety for inclusion in their files.

Bartley warns out-of-staters. "The Massachusetts firearms statutes are tough to begin with. And people planning to hunt in Massachusetts, or exhibit weapons, or engage in target shooting should make sure they are observing the laws which have been on our books in their modern version since 1906."

The present statutes applying to non-residents were revised and toughened in 1957, with non-resident right to carry handguns further defined.

In 1965 non-resident rights to carry handguns were further modified to allow reciprocity. "We've had basically the same set of law regarding out-of-staters carrying, use or display of firearms for at least a decade now," he said.

For additional information, contact the Winchester Police Department of the Department of Public Safety.

A brochure containing details of the new gun law is available free by writing Gun Law, Box 8888, Boston, 02114.

Arthur Hewis Improves After Heart Attack

Town Meeting Member Arthur J. Hewis Jr. is in Winchester Hospital's intensive care unit recovering from a heart attack.

The longtime TMM was stricken at his home last Monday afternoon and taken by police ambulance to Winchester Hospital.

Clara M. Hewis, Mr. Hewis's daughter, said her father is still in serious condition but shows an improvement.

On Tuesday he was sitting in a chair, off intravenous feeding.

Ms. Hewis said on Tuesday that compared to a week ago her father shows "almost a marked improvement."

Owners Of Air Rifles, BB Guns Need FID Cards

B-B guns and air rifles are considered weapons under the new gun control law.

Lt. Andrew Crawford of the Winchester Police Department stresses the importance of townspeople, particularly parents of youths with such firearms, to realize this fact.

To possess a B-B gun or air rifle, a firearms identification card is required. To transport an air rifle or B-B gun, a license to carry is required.

Crawford notes some people seem to misunderstand the law and believe it means they must register their guns. This is not so. In effect, the owner is registering himself by obtaining the firearms identification card or the license to carry.

During the past week, 22 new cards were issued by Winchester Police Dept. Some of these were by persons who obtained cards five years ago when they were first issued.

Formerly the card lasted for five years, says Crawford. New cards are good for life unless revoked for some violation or good reason.

Crawford says no one has complained to him about the new law.

League Annual Luncheon April 4; Berg Speaker

The Winchester League of Women Voters will hold its annual spring legislative luncheon in Hadley Hall of the Church of the Epiphany next Friday, April 4.

Guest speaker will be Peter C. Berg, executive director of Citizens for Economy in Government, Inc. His topic, "Dollars and Sense in Government," will cover the role of lay citizenry in influencing legislative action on state spending policy, particularly in light of the new open budget hearing law, CH. 84A of 1974.

Citizens for Economy in Government is a group funded by major businesses in Massachusetts directed by a policy committee that includes business interests as well as groups such as the League of Women Voters and Common Cause.

State League of Women Voters' president Florence Rubin is a member of the policy committee.

Berg, 29, is a former aide to House minority leader Francis Hatch and is president of the Ripon Society. He grew up in Arlington, presently resides with his family in Winchester.

The luncheon will be held at 12:30, April 4 in Hadley Hall. For reservations contact Mrs. Richard Freeman, 14 Franklin rd. Babysitting will be handled by Mrs. Robert Keefe, 24 New Meadows rd. Arrangements may be made by March 29.

Wine Tasting Will Benefit Italian Home

Several Winchester residents are making plans for a wine tasting festival to raise funds for the Italian Home for Children, Center Street, Jamaica Plain.

The festival, to be held at the home on April 5 in the evening, will provide a wide variety of vintages along with an ethnic buffet.

Celia Gravellese is ticket chairman. Peg Zammarchi is assistant chairman.

Also from Winchester getting ready for the festival are Mrs. Antonia Tambone and Mario Cirioli.

For ticket information, contact Ms. Gravellese at 20 Ledyard rd. or Eve Daley, 20 Saltonstall rd., West Medford.

Bloodmobile

The Red Cross bloodmobile will visit the Sons of Italy Hall, Swanton street, Saturday, March 29, from noon to 5 p.m.

Sponsored by the Sons of Italy order, members will staff the operation except for nurses and bloodmobile attendants.

To make an appointment, call the Red Cross office, 39 Church st. on Friday.

If this is bought for donation to the historical society or the library, cut the price in half.

"The Right School Can Make The Difference Of A Lifetime"

Experienced Educator Offers Counseling to Parents Interested in Private School for Their Children

David L. R. Edgar, former headmaster for eleven years of The Fenn School in Concord, has opened an office at 110 Great Road in Bedford for the counseling of parents who are interested, for what ever reasons, in finding the right private school for their child.

"There is a wide range of reasons for parents to consider an independent school. As good as the public schools are in the area, they cannot be all things to all people - no more than private schools can. Finding the right school can be vital in determining a young person's attitude toward learning and his or her later academic achievement."

Mr. Edgar's recommendations are based on analysis of school reports, interviews, test results, and the desires and needs of the child. Special attention is given to students who are underachieving, have reading-learning disabilities or who need an extra year before college.

In the course of his twenty-five years experience in private school education, Mr. Edgar has visited over 250 schools in New England and across the country and has been responsible for the successful placement of many hundreds of students at both the elementary and secondary level.

Mr. Edgar can be reached by phone at 275-1070 or 369-8831.
